Your request was forwarded to this office to conduct a search for records from custodians Maggie Wynne, Judith Haron and Dr. David Teuscher.

For this first interim response, the HHS Office of the Secretary has processed 796 pages of potentially responsive records captured in the agency's search of Judith Haron's records and 155 pages of potentially responsive records captured in the agency's search of Maggie Wynne's records. After a careful review of these pages, I have determined to release 75 pages to you in their entirety, and I am further releasing 44 pages in part, with portions redacted, pursuant to Exemptions (b)(5) and/or (b)(6) of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and/or (b)(6)). I have also determined to withhold 698 pages in their entirety, pursuant to Exemption (b)(5) of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(5)). Additionally, I determined that seven (7) pages were non-responsive to your request. Finally, I have determined that 121 pages should be sent for consultation to other government agencies to review their equities and return to this office for final response to you.

Lastly, I have determined to refer two (2) pages to the Department of Justice, one (1) page to the Department of State, and three (3) pages to ACF for those offices to respond directly to you. Contact information for those offices is provided below:

FOIA exemption (b)(5) protects inter-agency or intra-agency memoranda or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. This exemption protects documents that would be covered by any privilege an agency could assert in a civil proceeding. These privileges include, among others, the deliberative process privilege, the attorney-client privilege, and the attorney work-product privilege.

FOIA exemption (b)(6) permits a Federal agency to withhold information and records about individuals in "personnel and medical files and similar files, the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." The definition of "similar files" has historically been broadly interpreted to include a wide variety of files, and the United States Supreme Court has held that Congress intended the term "similar files" to be interpreted broadly, rather than narrowly. I have analyzed these records and find they meet the threshold requirement of this exemption. Additionally, I have reviewed and weighed the public interest in disclosure of this information against the privacy interest in nondisclosure, and found that the privacy interest outweighs the public's interest in disclosure.

We will continue to review the remaining records as efficiently and expeditiously as possible, consistent with our available resources and the Order of the Court. Should you have questions or concerns regarding the Department's response and\or the processing of your request, any such issues should be communicated to your legal counsel and Department of Justice Attorney representing the Department in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Michael S. Marquis
Director

Attachments: Agenda for 2017 OGC ACF Practice Group Training (final).pdf; Bus100.pdf

Greetings –

Our conference in Austin is quickly approaching, so here are some final details. The final agenda is attached. The conference venue is the Trinity Room at the Hilton Garden Inn, downtown located at 500 N Interstate 35, Austin, Texas, 78701. Please take the time to read through this entire email and let me know if you have any questions.

TRANSPORTATION

- As always, please try to share cabs or ubers/lyfts from the airport when possible, or if your flight schedule allows there is a bus route that will take you from the airport and stops about 0.3 miles from the Hilton Garden Inn and costs $1.25 one way. The schedule is attached (from https://www.capmetro.org/). The closest bus stop is #2 on the map (4th and Trinity) and the Hilton Garden Inn is shown on the inset on p.1.

BREAKFAST and COFFEE

- There is complimentary coffee available at the Hilton Garden Inn in the morning in both the lobby and the 18th Over Austin Restaurant and Lounge. The hotel serves breakfast on the 18th floor for $13.95.
- Mid-day there is a Starbucks machine in the pantry along with other drinks, snacks, sandwiches, etc. Also for people staying in guestrooms there is a Keurig in each room.
- For people who may want to leave the hotel and walk around a little Easy Tiger Bakery and Beer Garden is adjacent to the Waller Creek Boardwalk just steps away.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

- The joint session with the AAHHSA conference starts at 8:30am at the Omni Hotel in downtown Austin, 700 San Jacinto Blvd, Austin, TX 78701. You do not need to be registered for the AAHHSA conference to attend this session. The session will be in the __Austin Room__
- Please allow at least 15 minutes to walk from the Hilton Garden Inn to the Omni Hotel.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- You likely won't have your folders/printed agendas until we return to the Hilton Garden Inn for our 10:30 session, so please make a note of the times and location or print a copy of the agenda and this email to bring along.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

- There will be an optional happy hour on Wednesday at the Easy Tiger Beer Garden adjacent to the hotel. Additionally, we plan to reserve a table or two at Coopers Pit BBQ for dinner on Wednesday for those that want to join. And if they haven't flown south yet, we may try to incorporate some bat viewing at the Congress Avenue bridge.
- Please let Jeff Polich know if you think you'd be interested in BBQ for dinner so he can get a rough estimate on numbers. Jeffrey.Polich@hhs.gov

CONFERENCE MATERIALS

- You will have folders with the agenda and a limited amount of printed material. All other materials have been uploaded to the S drive in the folder titled "ACF-OGC conference materials"

MISCELANEOUS

- Dress code is business casual. At this point the weather forecast is calling for highs for 78 and lows of 57.

Subject: HOTEL INFO: 2017 OGC-ACF Practice Group Meeting - Oct. 11 & 12 Austin, TX

Greetings,

You are receiving the email because you are scheduled to attend the 2017 OGC-ACF Conference in Austin, Texas from October 11-12, 2017. We'll be meeting all-day Wednesday and Thursday at the Hilton Garden Inn, downtown Austin.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I do not have all attendee names from regions 6, 9, or 10 so if the Chiefs in those regions could let me know which attorneys you are sending by next week, that would be appreciated.

Planning a conference so early in the fiscal year has presented some challenges, but as of now we are an approved conference and you can book your hotel. The conference venue is the Hilton Garden Inn, downtown Austin. We have a block of rooms there at the government rate and you can book your room using the link below.

*Note that if the government shuts down or there is any other unanticipated disruption to funding the conference will be rescheduled.

Hotel Reservations

- Book your hotel room ASAP as the our group rate expires on Sept 15, 2017
- We will circulate travel and budget information along with a CAN within the next few days so you can start booking flights.
- If you can no longer attend the conference and no one else from your region is able to use the spot, please let me know asap so we can open the spot to someone else .

Link to book hotel room: http://hiltongardeninn.hilton.com/en/gi/groups/personalized/A/AUSGIGI-DHHS-20171010/index.jhtml?WT.mc_id=POG

AAHHSA Conference

Some of you may also be attending the American Association of Health and Human Services Attorneys ("AAHHSA") annual national training taking place from October 7-11, 2017 at the Omni Austin Downtown, which is a 10 minute walk from the OGC conference. We are working with the immediate office on funding for the registration fees and will be communicating with you shortly if this is approved. You can find the AAHHSA conference agenda here. Please let me know if you are interested in registering for this conference.

We will not be printing training materials for attendees. The materials will be available for download on the OGC Intranet. We will send you a link prior to the conference.

We will continue to provide updated information as the meeting date nears and are looking forward to seeing you in October!

Greetings,

You are receiving the email because you are scheduled to attend the 2017 OGC-ACF Conference in Austin, Texas from October 11-12, 2017. We'll be meeting all-day Wednesday and Thursday at the Hilton Garden Inn, downtown Austin.

I do not have all attendee names from regions 6, 9, or 10 so if the Chiefs in those regions could let me know which attorneys you are sending by next week, that would be appreciated.

Planning a conference so early in the fiscal year has presented some challenges, but as of now we are an approved conference and you can book your hotel. The conference venue is the Hilton Garden Inn, downtown Austin. We have a block of rooms there at the government rate and you can book your room using the link below.

*Note that if the government shuts down or there is any other unanticipated disruption to funding the conference will be rescheduled.

Hotel Reservations

- Book your hotel room ASAP as the our group rate expires on Sept 15, 2017
- We will circulate travel and budget information along with a CAN within the next few days so you can start booking flights.
- If you can no longer attend the conference and no one else from your region is able to use the spot, please let me know asap so we can open the spot to someone else .

Link to book hotel room: http://hiltongardeninn.hilton.com/en/gi/groups/personalized/A/AUSGIGI-DHHS-20171010/index.jhtml?WT.mc_id=POG

AAHHSA Conference

Some of you may also be attending the American Association of Health and Human Services Attorneys ("AAHHSA") annual national training taking place from October 7-11, 2017 at the Omni Austin Downtown, which is a 10 minute walk from the OGC conference. We are working with the immediate office on funding for the registration fees and will be communicating with you shortly if this is approved. You can find the AAHHSA conference agenda here. Please let me know if you are interested in registering for this conference.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We will not be printing training materials for attendees. The materials will be available for download on the OGC Intranet. We will send you a link prior to the conference.

We will continue to provide updated information as the meeting date nears and are looking forward to seeing you in October!

Hi Minnie and Liz,

Can either of you convert the attachments in the following e-mails into PDFs for me? (You do not have to convert the e-mails themselves, just the attachments in them). Probably the easiest way to do it is to print out and scan.

If you have questions, you can give me a call at 267-408-8240, or if I do not pick up, I will ask Marie to help.

If you can get it done by 11:30 AM, I would greatly appreciate it.

Judy,

I have you down for 1 hour on Thursday morning for ORR related material. I originally thought this would be a mini-bond hearing training, but depending on how things are going in ORR there may be other things you'd like to discuss. I'd note that this is in addition to the CFAD panel on Wednesday morning. Given that, would you be able to give me a sentence or two on the "objective" of your session? I'm attaching the latest draft agenda so you can get a sense of what other objective statements look like.

Thank you!

Subject: Reply by 1PM, 9/19: proposed response to OMB re: HR 70 (FACA Amendments of 2017)

OMB has asked our views on H.R. 70, the "Federal Advisory Committee Act Amendments of 2017". This same bill has been introduced in the previous two Congresses; the Department has had substantial objections to various provisions in the bill, and we have conveyed them to OMB on more than one occasion. The greatest impact of the bill would be on NIH, but the bill would cause problems for every component that works with advisory committees. I'm attaching what I propose to send to OMB in response to its current request. This is identical to what we sent last year, aside from correcting a couple of typos and updating the page and line references.

Please clear or recommend specific changes by 1:00 pm Tuesday, 9/19. I'm attaching a copy of the bill for your convenience.

Pam,

Here is the most recent version of the agenda. We're still pulling together a few things and may shift the times around a bit, but most of the substance is there.

Also – there was some confusion as to when we could book travel. An email was circulated throughout OGC saying that 9/18 is the first day to book any FY18 travel, but I thought that we would be able to book sooner than that. Can you clarify?

Thanks,

If there is sufficient interest I think it fits in with our over-arching CO/RO relationship building motivation. Particularly if we can orient the educational presentation towards the history of our programs, I think it will be worthwhile.

If cost is an issue, I am willing to subsidize it.

Pam,

There is a lot of enthusiasm from the planning committee for the LBJ library visit during the second day of our conference. Below is a brief justification for the visit. We hope it's something we can include as an extended lunch break on the Thursday. It is relevant to our ACF work and we'll still have time in agenda to cover all of the substantive material that we planned to cover.

Our visit to the LBJ Library would focus on federal efforts established and enhanced during the Johnson Administration's Great Society / War on Poverty initiative. Several of the programs we serve, including Head Start and the Community Services Block Grant, can be traced directly to the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which was enacted by President Johnson. Several others, including TANF, were greatly enhanced during the Johnson Administration. Mallory Lineberger, Assistant Education Specialist at the LBJ Presidential Library, has offered to spend 30 minutes with us, showing us documents, telephone conversations, and other items from their archives and museum collections that talk about the creation of Head Start and the War on Poverty as a whole. We could then spend another 30 minutes examining the library on our own. We feel this would be very enriching and educational experience for those of us who work on ACF programs by providing us with the contextual background and history of the programs we serve. It would also serve as an interesting and stimulating social event and team-building experience for the group.

The cost of the visit would be $7 per person, and it would take up approximately 2 hours with transportation to and from the library and time for a quick lunch.

Let me know if you think this is something we can include in our agenda.

Thanks,

Megan

Judy,

I'm attaching a draft agenda, as you'll see we're still fleshing out some sessions. I have you down for the first session on Thursday. No rush, but when you get a chance can you send me a sentence or two for the "objective" part of your session on the ORR bond hearings. Also, if you think 1.5 hours is too much time, we have some flexibility that day and can move things around. Let me know.

Harvey Aid Tops Post-Recess TO-Do List: What To Watch This Week
By James Rowley | September 5, 2017 8:48AM ET

Rushing more disaster aid to the flood-ravaged Gulf Coast is Job No. 1 for lawmakers returning from their August recess as Congress begins a legislative flurry aimed at avoiding a government shutdown and a default on U.S. debt.

Besides considering President Donald Trump's request for a down payment to help Texas and Louisiana begin to clear the devastation caused by Hurricane Harvey, the House is to consider a package of eight spending bills for fiscal 2018, which starts Oct. 1.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Republican leaders intend to graft the new package onto the “minibus” of four bills (H.R. 3219) that the House passed in July to create a full 12-bill appropriations omnibus, according to a Republican leadership aide.

That measure has no chance of overcoming a Democratic filibuster in the Senate, so the House’s spending debate is a merely prelude for action later this month on a continuing resolution to avert a government shutdown at month’s end and finance federal agency operations until sometime in early December, the aide said.

Passage of a CR would postpone until late fall the partisan fights over Trump’s demand to spend $1.6 billion to start building a wall along U.S.-Mexico border and Democrats’ insistence on parity for discretionary spending increases between defense and other domestic programs.
The hurricane-recovery package will include $7.4 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency and $450 million for the Small Business Administration, Budget Director Mick Mulvaney wrote in a letter to House Speaker Paul Ryan. The request would fund relief through Sept. 30.
Trump has invited congressional leaders to the White House tomorrow to confer on the Harvey aid package and other pressing issues as Congress returns from the August recess.

DYNAMIC TO WATCH: With just 12 days when both the House and Senate are in session this month, Congress needs to move quickly top meet the Sept. 30 deadline to extending government funding and the Treasury’s authority to continue borrowing money. Failure to agree on legislation risks the double whammy of a government shutdown and a default on debt owed by the Treasury.

The most conservative House Republicans want to condition raising the debt ceiling on spending offsets, so House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) and other leaders must decide now to sequence and package the various pieces of must-pass legislation.

NDAA: Senate Armed Services Chairman John McCain (R-Ariz.), who plans to return to Washington this week after undergoing treatment for brain cancer, will manage the defense authorization bill in floor debate that Republican leadership aides say is set to start tomorrow. Look for wrangling over Trump’s order banning transgender people from serving in the U.S. military, the president’s strategy for sending more troops to Afghanistan, and how to deal with North Korea’s nuclear provocations.

IMMIGRATION: Trump’s tossing the ball back into Congress’s court on the status of undocumented young immigrants who were brought to the U.S. as children. The formal announcement’s coming today on the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, or DACA, program that allowed youths to avoid deportation.

OBAMACARE: Governors and state insurance commissioners are scheduled to testify at Senate hearings on how to stabilize the operation of Obamacare health-insurance exchanges now that Republicans have abandoned their efforts to repeal the Affordable Care Act. A bipartisan group of governors led by Republican John Kasich of Ohio, has asked Congress to approve cost-sharing payments to insurers to curb the rise in premiums on the individual market.

GOP Faces Pileup of Urgent Tasks Topped by Debt Limit Extension
By Anna Edgerton | September 5, 2017 4:00AM ET

Republicans return to Washington Tuesday with less than a month to avoid a government shutdown and avert a default on the nation’s debt, tasks that are being overshadowed by the quickly mounting costs of the response to Hurricane Harvey.

Lawmakers need to pass a measure by Sept. 30 to fund the government, as well as one raising the debt limit before the end of the month. They also need to reauthorize programs like flood insurance and air traffic control and provide money for flood victims in Texas before they can turn to their top objective for the year -- a major tax overhaul.

There isn’t much time. The House is scheduled to be in session for only 12 legislative days this month and the Senate for 17 -- giving the majority party little margin for error on measures they will need to negotiate with Democrats.

There is already widespread bipartisan agreement on the need to fund disaster relief programs for Harvey. The White House has asked for nearly $8 billion in emergency aid, which the House is expected to vote on this week. Officials also signaled that President Donald Trump won’t press his demands to fund a wall on the U.S.-Mexico border this month, a measure opposed by Democrats.

But other controversial executive actions on topics such as immigration could still disrupt bipartisan agreements.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

How Republicans resolve these issues could influence the outcome of next year's congressional elections. If little is accomplished or the government is forced to shut down, Democrats will argue that the GOP can't get anything done, despite controlling all branches of government. If Republicans can get through the month without too much drama, they can turn more quickly to their promised tax overhaul.

House Speaker Paul Ryan of Wisconsin and Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky have difficult tasks ahead as they contend with warring factions in their own party and a president who won't hesitate to criticize them. They'll also have to negotiate with Democrats who strongly oppose their biggest priorities.

"It's hard enough when you're working all together," said Muftiah McCartin, a former staff director of the House Rules Committee who now co-chairs government affairs at the law firm Covington & Burling LLP. "They are grownups in the room trying to hold it all together," she said of Ryan and McConnell.
Republican and Democratic congressional leaders will meet with Trump at the White House Wednesday to discuss this month's agenda.

Their first order of business will be an emergency funding measure for Harvey. The White House requested $7.4 billion for the Federal Emergency Management Agency's operations and $450 million for the Small Business Administration. The request is intended to cover funding demands through the end of the fiscal year on Sept. 30. The House has already drafted a measure and is expected to send it to the Senate this week.

The White House has suggested that lawmakers attach a debt ceiling measure to the Harvey bill, but the request stopped short of explicitly asking for that. Instead, White House budget director Mick Mulvaney suggested that relief operations could be disrupted if the debt limit isn't addressed quickly.
"If the debt ceiling is not raised, it may not be possible to outlay the requested supplemental appropriations or funds for other critical government operations," he wrote Friday night in a letter to Ryan.

It's unclear whether Republican lawmakers will go along with the idea of pairing the two measures. The Senate could add a debt ceiling provision to the Harvey bill after the House passes it, but House conservatives have demanded spending cuts or other cost-cutting changes in return for raising the debt limit.
Representative Mark Walker of North Carolina, who heads the conservative Republican Study Committee, on Monday said his stance hasn't changed.

"As we have stated for months, the debt ceiling should be paired with significant fiscal and structural reforms," Walker said in a statement. "If we resort to just kicking the can down the road on the debt, it only shows that Republicans do not take the problem of our $20 trillion debt seriously."

Republicans also need to pass a stopgap spending measure, which will likely extend current funding levels for a few months. Trump had threatened a shutdown fight over his border wall this month, but White House aides have signaled to Congress that he plans to delay that battle until lawmakers debate a fuller spending measure later in the year.

In some ways, the most urgent challenge will be preventing the government from defaulting on its obligations. Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin told Congress that it's "critical" to raise the debt ceiling by Sept. 29.

Conservatives in the past have opposed measures to allow the government to borrow more and may object if the debt limit is combined with other legislation. This week, they'll present Ryan with options that could win more GOP votes, including a bill to prioritize debt payments over other government expenses should the debt limit be breached.

"When it comes to raising the debt ceiling, it's my hope as a conservative that that would be packaged with significant spending reforms and other reforms that would address a $20 trillion national debt," said Jim Banks, an Indiana Republican. "Unfortunately, I haven't heard enough of a serious discussion -- neither from the administration nor from Republicans -- about how we'll do that."

Even staunch conservatives, such as David Schweikert and Trent Franks, both from Arizona and members of the far-right Freedom Caucus, have demonstrated a willingness to work within the constraints of the moment.

"I understand the reality and I'm not going to be intractable on recognizing leadership's realities," Franks said of this month's urgent bills.

If a debt limit provision isn't added to the Harvey bill, GOP leader could add it to the stopgap spending bill, which is also likely to contain necessary extensions for other expiring programs like federal flood insurance and the Federal Aviation Administration.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

John Yarmuth of Kentucky, the highest ranking Democrat on the House Budget Committee, said Harvey's devastation has sapped both parties' appetite for a showdown over must-pass bills like the debt limit.

"There's a good chance that Harvey makes all that a little easier," Yarmuth said. "There's a reasonable chance that there's not going to be nearly as much angst in September as we would have thought a month ago."

Yarmuth said appropriating money for cost-sharing subsidies for Obamacare, which Democrats considered demanding, will probably be left out of the discussion.

Democrats could still disrupt this month's legislative agenda if Trump phases out a program that provides some protection from deportation for undocumented immigrants brought to the U.S. as children. Trump is planning to terminate the Obama-era program, but delay the end for several months to give Congress time to act, an administration official said.

Another potential complication for September is the unresolved future of the Affordable Care Act after a Republican plan to repeal and replace the law failed in the Senate. If GOP leaders want to try again, they'll need to act this month as a legislative tactic they've used to try to win passage in the Senate will expire on Sept. 30. After that, Republicans would need to seek Democratic support.

And the clock is ticking on a Republican plan to overhaul the U.S. tax code. They'll take their first concrete step with a budget resolution that will allow them to get the overhaul through the Senate with a 51-vote majority.

Although the budget doesn't technically need a floor vote this month, every week that goes by makes it harder to meet the goal of tax code changes by the end of the year. GOP lawmakers warn that failing to pass tax legislation or other Republican priorities could cost the party its congressional majority.
"It's the party. It's the Republican brand," Representative Dave Brat of Virginia. "If the Republican party can't pass health care, can't pass tax reform, can't be fiscally responsible what are we?"

Child care centers scarce in Kentucky
A new study released by the Center for American Progress shows many Kentuckians live in areas where licensed child care facilities are scarce or nonexistent. Researchers refer to these areas as childcare deserts and concluded that more than 50 percent of people in the Bluegrass live in these areas. Managers at daycare facilities believe the problem could be a result of state laws mandating the ratios of infants to caregivers.

Refugee Resettlement

Refugee vetting does the job (featuring ACF)

Refugees are among the most vulnerable people on the planet. Yet Gov. Henry McMaster has asked that South Carolina not be required to accept refugees from several of the world's most troubled nations — those involved in President Donald Trump's stringent travel ban imposed earlier this year and still tied up in courts. To date, not a single fatal attack in the United States appears to have been committed by a refugee from the Middle East. In short, Mr. McMaster and Mr. Trump's fears are misplaced. The system seems to be working well. If anything, a little more compassion is in order.

Former officials of the State Department and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service have written to Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, urging that two White House-ordered reports on refugee resettlement costs be balanced by also tallying the benefits refugees bring to the United States. Four current and former officials said they believe the Trump administration wants to help make a case to restrict refugee flows by creating a skewed analysis.

Recent study suggests sex trafficking in the Northland is an issue

The University of Minnesota has released a survey aimed to deepen the understanding of sex purchasing in Minnesota. The study analyzed data provided by criminal justice and social workers from Minnesota and surrounding states. The study suggested that a lot of purchasers will pay more, and travel further, for a victim under the age of 18. It also found a lot of those minors are forced into this industry, which is why a law, implemented in 2014 prohibits minors from being charged with prostitution.

AUSTIN, Texas — The American Civil Liberties Union is suing the the HHS office responsible for the care of undocumented minors to release an undocumented 10-year girl with cerebral palsy, who was detained by immigration officials after gallbladder surgery last week.

The suit against the Office of Refugee Resettlement, filed in U.S. District Court in the Western District of Texas, comes a week after the ACLU won a separate suit against the agency to allow an undocumented pregnant teen in a federally-funded shelter to get an abortion.

According to new suit, Rosa Maria Hernandez, who moved to Texas with her parents from Mexico when she was three months old, was detained at a checkpoint on her way to a children's hospital in Corpus Christi from her home in Laredo.

Agents followed her to the hospital. When Hernandez was released after surgery, she was detained and placed in a federally-funded shelter for undocumented minors in San Antonio, against the advice of her doctors.

The girl, who has the cognitive development of a six-year-old, is currently being processed for deportation, even though her grandfather is a legal permanent resident, according to the filing.

In addition to Scott Lloyd, head of the ORR, the suit also lists as defendants HHS acting Secretary Eric Hargan, acting DHS Secretary Elaine Duke, border patrol agents in Texas and executives at the San Antonio shelter where the girl is being detained.

DHS has been stepping up enforcement actions at sensitive locations such as hospitals, health clinics and doctors' offices. Yesterday the American Academy of Pediatrics and its Texas chapter wrote a letter asking DHS to halt the practice.

ACLU asks for review in case of undocumented teen seeking abortion (featuring ACF)
The ACLU is asking a federal appeals court for help in clearing the way for an undocumented teen in detention in Texas to end her pregnancy. The group filed an emergency petition Sunday night in the matter of 17-year-old "Jane Doe," who is 15-and-a-half weeks pregnant and wants an abortion. "Every additional week the government delays her abortion increases the risks associated with the procedure," it stated.

Lawyers for an undocumented 17-year-old girl in a federally funded shelter in Texas are asking the full bench of a federal appeals court in Washington to permit her to have an abortion immediately despite resistance from the Trump administration. Attorneys with the American Civil Liberties Union moved Sunday night to escalate the legal fight to the full D.C. Circuit after a three-judge panel issued a 2-1 decision Friday trying to forestall a definitive ruling in the case. That panel gave authorities until the end of the month to try to find the teen an adult sponsor, who could then help her get an abortion if she still desires one.

Department of Justice Attorney Catherine Dorsey said they do have the right because women in prison have no way other way to obtain one. Abortion case raises questions of what constitutional right undocumented immigrants are entitled to (featuring ACF)
The US Court of Appeals for the DC Circuit issued an order Friday further delaying an undocumented teenager's request to obtain an abortion The case involves a pregnant 17-year-old, identified as "Jane Doe" in court documents, who is currently 15 weeks pregnant and has so far been barred from release to terminate her pregnancy. While the shelter itself has no qualms with allowing the procedure, according to court documents, Trump administration officials have declined to give shelter officials the necessary permission to release Doe for the appointment.

Appeals court ruling delays abortion for immigrant in Texas (featuring ACF)
A federal appeals court gave the Trump administration until Oct. 31 to find a suitable relative or sponsor to take custody of a teenage immigrant — removing her from federal custody and allowing her access to an abortion she has been fighting for three weeks to get. The government's interest in promoting childbirth over abortion allows federal officials to avoid any actions that would allow a 17-year-old immigrant, in federal custody in Texas after crossing the Mexico border illegally, to have an abortion, Trump administration lawyers told a federal appeals court Friday.

The 90-minute hearing for Garza v. Hargan, as the case is known, was in every which way a judicial spectacle unlike any in recent D.C. Circuit history. The session, which is worth listening to in full, was a microcosm of all the constitutional clashes one might expect the Trump administration to jump into: immigration law and the personhood of undocumented immigrants; the plight of unaccompanied minors; the future of Roe v. Wade; federalism and states' rights; moral opposition, as a matter of federal policy, to a woman's exercise of her constitutional rights.

The ACLU's selective compassion
Under the Trump administration, the federal government no longer wants to be complicit in abortions performed on under-age teens who enter the country illegally. Jane Doe is a 17-year-old undocumented immigrant detained in Texas who is 15 weeks pregnant and is seeking an abortion. And again, it was clear the government's lawyers saw nothing strange about in effect arguing it had the right to imprison a woman to stop her from exercising a constitutional right that even incarcerated criminals have access to. The three-judge Court of Appeals panel hearing this case is clearly split, with one judge appearing to accept the government's argument and another clearly wanting to uphold Chutkan's ruling. The third judge adds a real twist to this case. Judge Brett Kavanaugh, a conservative George W. Roe v. the DC Circuit (featuring ACF)
At this moment, the Trump administration is exerting direct control over the reproductive capacities of a 17-year-old girl in Texas, holding her in federal custody and refusing to let her obtain an abortion. A state judge has granted her the right to terminate her pregnancy; the administration does not care. The entire Garza affair has been darkly enlightening. In the past few weeks, we have learned that this administration does not believe undocumented minors have a genuine right to terminate an unwanted pregnancy. An advocate for a 17-year-old Central American girl who entered this country illegally said that by delaying an abortion for the girl, federal agencies and an appellate court have forced her to obtain a more invasive, lengthier and expensive procedure, if she can get an abortion at all. Courtney Cahill, a professor at Florida State University College of Law, described the Garza majority's decision as a compromise ruling. Two judges on the panel seem reluctant to cast what is happening in the girl's case as an undue burden and did not address the argument that HHS's refusal to hand her over so she can have an abortion is an undue burden, said Cahill, who focuses on matters where family law and constitutional law intersect. The idea of what complicity is and what facilitating is being stretched, she said. "I've never seen the government make this argument in the abortion context," Cahill said.

-You have worked at H.H.S. for more than a decade, under the Bush and Obama Administrations, in a range of different positions.

-One of those positions was the director of its anti-trafficking program.

-You once worked at the Knights of Columbus.

-You helped lead the transition team at H.H.S. in the late fall of 2016.

-You were close to Tom Price.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

-According to flight manifests, you were also some of the private chartered planes that Price took while head of HHS.

-During the presidential transition, appointees from the previous administration—which included all of the heads of H.H.S. offices—weren't invited to meetings.

-Only the career bureaucrats were invited, which many former members of the office described as unusual.

-Former colleagues described you as strongly pro-life.

-As the director of the trafficking program at O.R.R., you oversaw a team of social workers who assessed the eligibility of victims to get temporary health benefits while their legal cases were being adjudicated.

-According to former colleagues, you often did not trust the stories of these individuals when they were represented by lawyers because you thought lawyers were coaching them on how to get the benefits.

-According to former colleagues, any time an individual's story changed, you assumed she was lying.

-According to former colleagues, you frequently looked for contradictions in the accounts of victims requesting benefits.

-When your office rejected a victim's request, an appeal generally followed, which caused a large backlog of cases that O.R.R. leadership had to clear.

-In 2011, the Obama Administration created new criteria for O.R.R. grants: if an aid organization refused to offer complete medical care to the minors in its custody at a shelter, it would receive a lower score on its grant application to obtain funds from O.R.R.

-A confidential government document outlining the new grant criteria was shared with Republican Congressman Darrel Issa.

-Several H.H.S. staffers claim that you were responsible for sharing that memo with Issa.

-You left H.H.S. in 2016 when you were passed over for a promotion.

-You rejoined the agency in January, 2017.

-In the early months of the new year, staffers at O.R.R. reported to you.

-In March, a memo circulated at O.R.R. with the subject line "custodial decisions to preserve the health of a pregnant UAC."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

-Subsequent emails circulating at ORR indicated that shelters “should not conduct procedures, or take any steps that facilitate future procedures such as scheduling appointments, transportation, or other arrangements."

-One former HHS official with knowledge of the office maintains that you were responsible for these policies before Scott Lloyd took over.

Subject: unaccompanied alien children

Spokesperson: ACF

QUERY:
I'm working on a follow-up to the Jane Doe story and had a few specific questions for ACF related to emails the ACLU of Northern California included in one of its federal court filings. A lot of these emails were excerpted by the Center for Investigative Reporting and written here: https://www.revealnews.org/blog/court-filing-trump-appointee-blocks-pregnant-teen-migrant-from-getting-abortion/

The questions I had were:

1. How many children in HHS' custody are pregnant?

2. Is it ORR policy to forbid (or discourage) unaccompanied children in its custody from seeking a judicial bypass of abortion restrictions? (Noting email from Scott Lloyd: "She should not be meeting with an attorney regarding her termination or otherwise pursuing judicial bypass at this point."

3. Is it ORR policy to require unaccompanied children in its custody to obtain parental consent and specifically a notarized declaration of consent from the parents, even if the parents might be in a foreign country? (Noting email at top of Document 84-8: "After the options counseling, if the UC still desires the abortion, and it is still within the window for a legal abortion,
    a. the UC must obtain parental consent, which will necessitate options counseling with them, plus signed, notarized declaration of consent.")

4. Related to those questions, has ORR codified guidance in a March 30 email from Scott Lloyd (Document 84-4: "Grantees should not be supporting abortion services pre or post-release; only pregnancy services and life-affirming options counseling.")

5. In a March 22 email, a writer whose name is blacked out questions whether ORR's directive not to allow unaccompanied children to get a judicial bypass is legally sound. The response to that email is entirely blacked out. What did ORR instruct that writer and others who may have questioned the policy? (March 22 email in Document 84-3: "Isn't that contrary to state law? My understanding is that the judicial bypass was created specifically so that the young lady does not need approval from her guardian (in our case the Director of ORR) to move forward with a term of pregnancy.")

6. Has Director Lloyd spoken directly to any individual children seeking an abortion? (Noting email in Document 84-6 from Jonathan White: "Were you able to speak with the pregnant girl at the SWK site (KAMM)?" And Scott Lloyd response "Yes—they were going to a CPC site today and we're going to discharge according to my understanding.")

Proposed Response: (NOTE: data for Q1. is not data collected nor readily available and ORR declines to address questions 2-6 about internal correspondence.)

The Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) at HHS' Administration for Children and Families has no additional information to add at this time.

NEW: Listeria: Multistate outbreak of Listeriosis Linked to Soft Raw Milk Cheese
Response: CDC is collaborating with several states and FDA to investigate a multistate outbreak of Listeria infections. Six people were infected with the outbreak strain of Listeria from four states since September 1, 2016. All six people were hospitalized, including two deaths (CT, VT). Epidemiologic and laboratory evidence indicate that soft raw milk cheese made by Vulto Creamery of Walton, New York, is the likely source of this outbreak. Listeriosis is a serious, life-threatening illness, primarily affecting pregnant women and their newborns, adults older than 65, and people with immune systems weakened by cancer other serious conditions. Symptoms can range from fever, headache and muscle aches to miscarriages and premature delivery in pregnant women.

UPDATE: Epi-Aid 2017-015—Seoul virus: Undetermined source and distribution of Seoul virus infected rats, IL 2017
Response: On January 27, 2017, CDC deployed two EIS Officers and two CDC veterinarians, to assist the Illinois Department of Health with the investigation into the source and distribution of rats infected with Seoul virus. Since January, CDC has been working with health officials in 15 states to investigate this outbreak which has infected 17 people in 7 states, primarily in home producers for rats intended for household pets and snake food. While Seoul virus infection is generally not severe, some people may develop a severe form of infection known as hemorrhagic fever with renal syndrome (HFRS), and an estimated 1-2% of people may die after being infected.

   - "ORR director"
   - "abortion"
   - "ru-486"
   - "CPC"
   - "ultrasound"
   - "rape"

[1] The request also sought emails to, from and carbon copying Maggie Wynne and Dr. David Teuscher. However, ACF advised Equity Forward that these individuals work for at the department level and the Office of the Secretary Division of FOI/Privacy has jurisdiction over those records.

Your request was sent to the Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) and the Office of the Chief Information Officer for a search for responsive records. The Office of the Chief Information Officer performed the search and provided 159,000 pages of responsive records.

Following extensive negotiations between the parties, it was agreed that ACF would begin its production by disclosing emails without attachments, after which Equity Forward would choose the attachments it wished to receive. Equity Forward stated that the first records it would like to see are emails sent by Scott Lloyd, Jim De La Cruz and Curi Kim.

Accordingly, please find enclosed 577 pages of responsive records. Approximately 170 additional pages will be forwarded to other components within HHS and to entities outside of the Agency.

Some of the information on the disclosed pages has been withheld under the FOIA exemptions (b)(5) and (b)(6). The exemption (b)(5) protects inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The exemption protects agency deliberations, both internal and with agency contractors and consultants, attorney-client privileged records and attorney work product. In this case, the withheld information includes predecisional discussions within the agency and between agency staff and contractors about management of the program and individual children, sensitive communications between agency staff seeking legal advice and counsel on policy and other matters and documentation of attorney thoughts and work in anticipation of litigation.

The FOIA exemption (b)(6) permits the withholding of records which, if released, would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. In this case, the withheld information consists of the names, identity and/or other private information of private individuals and the work cell phones of federal employees. Public disclosure of this information would constitute an invasion of privacy of those individuals whose identifying information was disclosed. In withholding the information, the individual's privacy interest was balanced against any public interest in disclosure. In each instance where information was withheld, it was determined that the individual's privacy interests outweighed any public interest in disclosure of the withheld information.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Disclosure of the withheld information would invade the privacy of the subject individuals but would reveal nothing about the operations or activities of the government.

Sincerely yours,

Celeste Smith
Acting FOIA Officer
Administration for Children and Families

Subject: Follow up on our conversation of this afternoon/requirements for UC at BCFS San Antonio requesting abortion procedure

Kevin,

Pursuant to our conversation today, please have BCFS provide to the Acting Director of ORR Ken Tota (Kenneth.Tota@acf.hhs.gov) with an informational document regarding the request by the UC at BCFS San Antonio abortion procedure which specifies:

- The request made by the UC
- A full copy of the Judicial Bypass, if any
- Communication regarding whether BCFS requests Federal funding for the procedure
- Disclosure of all steps BCFS and any third parties took to facilitate acquisition of the judicial bypass
- Information on the procedural history of the Judicial Bypass, including if there were prior requests (this information may follow the initial information if not yet available)
- The name and A# of the requesting child

ORR will also review case notes and medical information on the child in the UAC Portal.

We will request additional information as determined necessary.

(b)(5)

Information related to this UC request should be routed directly to the Director of ORR. Communications with the ORR Medical Team should be solely focused on medical information rather than legal or policy questions or issues of authorization.

If there are questions or concerns, please let me know.

Subject: Follow up on our conversation of this afternoon/requirements for UC at BCFS San Antonio requesting abortion procedure

Kevin,

Pursuant to our conversation today, please have BCFS provide to the Acting Director of ORR Ken Tota (Kenneth.Tota@acf.hhs.gov) with an informational document regarding the request by the UC at BCFS San Antonio abortion procedure which specifies:

- The request made by the UC
- A full copy of the Judicial Bypass, if any
- Communication regarding whether BCFS requests Federal funding for the procedure
- Disclosure of all steps BCFS and any third parties took to facilitate acquisition of the judicial bypass
- Information on the procedural history of the Judicial Bypass, including if there were prior requests (this information may follow the initial information if not yet available)
- The name and A# of the requesting child

ORR will also review case notes and medical information on the child in the UAC Portal.

We will request additional information as determined necessary.

(b)(5);(b)(6)

Information related to this UC request should be routed directly to the Director of ORR. Communications with the ORR Medical Team should be solely focused on medical information rather than legal or policy questions or issues of authorization.

If there are questions or concerns, please let me know.

Kevin,

Pursuant to our conversation today, please have BCFS provide to the Acting Director of ORR Ken Tota (Kenneth.Tota@acf.hhs.gov) with an informational document regarding the request by the UC at BCFS San Antonio abortion procedure which specifies:

- The request made by the UC

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A full copy of the Judicial Bypass, if any
- Communication regarding whether BCFS requests Federal funding for the procedure
- Disclosure of all steps BCFS and any third parties took to facilitate acquisition of the judicial bypass
- Information on the procedural history of the Judicial Bypass, including if there were prior requests (this information may follow the initial information if not yet available)
- The name and A# of the requesting child

ORR will also review case notes and medical information on the child in the UAC Portal.

We will request additional information as determined necessary.

(b)(5)

Information related to this UC request should be routed directly to the Director of ORR. Communications with the ORR Medical Team should be solely focused on medical information rather than legal or policy questions or issues of authorization.

If there are questions or concerns, please let me know.

Hi Jonathan,

I hope all is well. I'm an Austin-based health care reporter for POLITICO and am working on a story this weekend about the "Jane Doe" case in Brownsville – regarding the unaccompanied minor that is trying to get an abortion.

Wondering if you have a few minutes to chat with me?

Thanks,

Attached please find the ORR UC Program Bed Cascades Memo for 7 March 2017. Note that this week, we have begun running three different scenarios, only one of which requires adding beds to the national shelter capacity, and two of which require deactivation of beds and/or delaying beds scheduled to be added, in order to maintain the 85% occupancy capacity target. Note that there is now an activation table and a deactivation table reflecting these bed capacity change requirements. As a reminder, these tables do not represent a specific bed capacity plan, but only outline the requirements for ORR to maintain closet to the 85% target threshold.

This Bed Cascades memo is Sensitive But Unclassified/For Official Use Only.

If there are questions, please don't hesitate to reach out to me.

Dear Pedro and Jonathan,

Attached is a court order concerning the abortion request by a specific UAC in Texas. In compliance with the court's order, please inform (b)(6) and the shelter that the shelter should release the UAC to her state-appointed guardian or attorney ad litem tomorrow (October 19), for a pre-abortion counseling appointment and travel to and from that appointment (she should be returned to the shelter after that appointment), and Friday or Saturday (October 20 or 21) for the abortion procedure (she should be returned to the shelter after that appointment when her medical condition allows it). Please also instruct them they should not:

- interfere with or obstruct the UAC's access to abortion counseling or an abortion;

- require the UAC to reveal her abortion decision to anyone, nor should ORR staff or the shelter reveal it to anyone themselves; or

- retaliate against the UAC based on her decision to have an abortion.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Likewise, ORR shall not retaliate or threaten to retaliate against the contractor that operates the shelter where the UAC currently resides for any actions it has taken or may take in facilitating the UAC's ability to access abortion counseling and an abortion.

Good Morning,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Thank you for the information regarding the ORR medical services requiring heightened ORR involvement memo. Kidshaven would like to ensure we are following all requirements for medical services requiring ORR written approval. Would you please provide a more definite list of services which require this action? For example: physical therapy, dental extractions, surgical procedures, abortions, extensive lab work, general anesthesia, local anesthesia, etc.

A more definitive list would provide great assistance in ensuring we are being compliant with the requirement.

Thank you for your assistance and attention to this request.

Have a great day!

Team:

Here is where we are with regard to the very difficult and complex case of the girl at Southwest Key Casa Blanca. The HHS Policy Team in the Immediate Office of the Secretary has throughout been providing direction and authorization for all actions taken by ORR. The latest communication we have from them is that while ORR is not consenting to continuing the medical procedure, in the current case and these specific circumstances, we are confirming that the facility does not need ORR's authorization to allow the minor to continue with the medical procedure.

Please see below Ken's email to Southwest Key, and note the language of the instruction:

"Neither ORR nor you may provide consent to the minor continuing with this medical procedure, nor does ORR provide such consent. However, in the current case and these specific circumstances, including (but not limited to) the appearance of a legitimately granted judicial bypass application under state law, this email represents ORR's written confirmation that your facility does not need ORR's authorization to allow the minor, by refraining from impeding her, to continue with the medical procedure if she wishes to do so absent ORR's consent."

Therefore, as the minor has clearly communicated her wish to continue the medical procedure, she is able to do so now without written authorization from ORR.

Everyone on the medical and Field teams has demonstrated the highest level of professionalism and dedication in an extremely difficult situation, and I am grateful to all of you.

Best,
Jonathan

Type:	Note

Ken,

I just got off the phone with Michael Bartholomew. The girl whom we discussed with Maggie and Scott today appears to have already had the procedure performed today at 9AM AZ time. Our medical team learned this when the SIR on the procedure came over late today. It appears that the program scheduled her appointment when the Judge issued his order without waiting for approval for Federal funds from ORR. Michael and the FFS have communicated back with the program to confirm that no authorization was provided; it appears to be a miscommunication or misunderstanding on the part of the program, who had believed only that the Judge's order was required. The medical team and FFS are working to find out more about what happened.

If you need to discuss, give me a call at 202.(b)(6) I can be reached any time tonight if you would like.

Hello Mr. Pogledich,

As requested I am connecting you to ORR's General Counsel, Judith Haron and ORR's Policy Division Director, Anna Marie Bena.

Judy and Anna Marie please see Mr. Pogledich's message below mine and the case of DB V. Cardall.

For a response I am providing you with a brief update about (b)(6) (b)(6) was granted asylum in January 2017. Since that time ORR has worked with several parties in California CPS to transition (b)(6) from Federal custody to State custody. Mr. Pogledich understands ORR's position that asylum status affects ORR's jurisdiction in regards to the care and custody of (b)(6)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ORR has been working with YOLO County Secure and State Central Office Staff by arranging for (b)(6) to have a psychological. (Now complete.) ORR's understanding from State Central Office Staff is that a psychological is needed because the State needs this information to determine where (b)(6) can be safely placed once he leaves ORR's care. (There are no known available options other than transition into State care.) Because ORR's position is that ORR no longer has jurisdiction over (b)(6) I assured him that a response to his question will come in short time.

Thank you for your attention to this case.

Subject: County/ORR Roles and Responsibilities

Jim,

As we discussed briefly this afternoon, I want to ensure I understand the scope of the County's roles and responsibilities (and those of ORR) with respect to the 15-year old currently housed at our Juvenile Detention Center. In that context, the basic legal question is whether ORR has a legal obligation to place the child with a suitable custodian subsequent to a change in immigration status (such as a grant of asylum). I believe D.B. v. Cardall, 826 F.3d 721 (2016) (4th Cir) speaks to this issue and affirms that ORR has such an obligation. Confirmation by counsel to ORR would be helpful.

Consistent with this general understanding of ORR's legal obligations, I am told that our Probation Department staff have been collaborating with ORR and others that are working to find a suitable placement for the child. I believe this is appropriate and consistent with the County's contractual responsibilities to ORR. If anything more or different is required of the County, please let me know.

Thanks,

Phil

Subject: Update on SWK case

Team:

Here is where we are with regard to the very difficult and complex case of the girl at Southwest Key Casa Blanca. The HHS Policy Team in the Immediate Office of the Secretary has throughout been providing direction and authorization for all actions taken by ORR. The latest communication we have from them is that while ORR is not consenting to continuing the medical procedure, in the current case and these specific circumstances, we are confirming that the facility does not need ORR's authorization to allow the minor to continue with the medical procedure.

Please see below Ken's email to Southwest Key, and note the language of the instruction:

"Neither ORR nor you may provide consent to the minor continuing with this medical procedure, nor does ORR provide such consent. However, in the current case and these specific circumstances, including (but not limited to) the appearance of a legitimately granted judicial bypass application under state law, this email represents ORR's written confirmation that your facility does not need ORR's authorization to allow the minor, by refraining from impeding her, to continue with the medical procedure if she wishes to do so absent ORR's consent."

Therefore, as the minor has clearly communicated her wish to continue the medical procedure, she is able to do so now without written authorization from ORR.

Everyone on the medical and Field teams has demonstrated the highest level of professionalism and dedication in an extremely difficult situation, and I am grateful to all of you.

Best,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Subject: (b)(6) and mothers conversation

Good evening,

Below is detailed information of conversation with UC and mother. Please call me at 210-849-7741 for any questions or clarification's.

UC Visit: Case Manager (b)(6) meet with minor to discuss conversation minor had with mother on the evening of 03/11/2017 in reference to needed consent for termination of pregnancy. Minor stated that her conversation with her mother started well. Minor stated she greeted her mother and asked how she was and how her siblings where. Minor reported that her mother asked how she was, and minor stated she told her mother that she was calm and taking her placement day by day. Minor then informed her mother that she needed a letter of consent from her. Minor stated that she explained to her mother that she needed a letter of authorization of consent because she requested termination of pregnancy in the shelter.

Mother stated according to minor, "que no se iba a prestart para eso", meaning she is not going to lend herself to that. Mother stated to minor that it is against her religion to give consent to her daughter or to anyone to terminate a pregnancy no matter what the situation is. Minor informed CM that she did not disclose the reason why she wanted termination of pregnancy because her mother recently had a hysterectomy and was still recovering. Minor stated that she does not want to get her mother sick, and currently mother believes the baby is from her home country boyfriend. Minor stated that during her conversation with her mother, her mother disclosed to minor that she had an abortion when she was young, and still suffers the choice she made to this day. Minor stated that her mother dreamed her daughter paralyzed from the waist down in a shelter. Mother also stated to minor that she had informed her boyfriend, (b)(6) that the baby is his and that she is going to attempt to come to the US to help her daughter with her child. Minor stated that her mother reassured that her boyfriend (b)(6) would help in caring for any expenses.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

As of today 03/12/2017, minor reported to CM that she does not want to proceed with termination of pregnancy due to feeling remorseful. Minor stated that she is taking the amount of time it took for the Government to approve her decision as a sign from God. Minor reported that she has thought about the future with her child and stated that she is unsure what will happen but will leave it in God's hands. She stated if her pregnancy is not meant to be, she would probably have a miscarriage. Minor also reported that she hopes her mother comes to the US to help her and infant. Minor stated that she is at peace with her choice and wanted to notify ORR to dismiss her request. CM stated to minor next step needed is to follow is to notify chain of command. Minor had no other questions or concerns. Observations: Minor was calm. Stated to be content.

Mother conversation: Case Manager (b)(6) called minor's mother, (b)(6) (b)(6) on 03/12/2017 in reference to conversation mother had with minor/daughter (b)(6) CM asked mother what her conversation with her daughter entailed. Minor's mother stated that her daughter called her to ask her to give authorization of termination of pregnancy. Sponsor stated to CM that she is not going to authorize termination of pregnancy due to religious beliefs and because of personal experiences. Mother stated to CM that she is not going to consent to termination of a life. Minors' mother stated that she had a similar experience when she was 22 or 23 in where she had an abortion. Minors' mother stated she suffered emotional, physical, and legal consequences. Minor's mother stated that to this day, she still regrets it and repents daily for her sin. Minors mother stated that she asked God for her forgiveness and due to that, she could not go against God in authorizing her daughter's request. Mother stated that she explained to her daughter that she would not give consent. CM stated to mother that she would notify her leads on her statement and respectfully accept her refusal. Mother has no other questions or concerns pertaining to medical procedure at this time.

Thank You ,

(b)(6)

Hi Jonathan,

As I mentioned to you during our 1 on 1 last week, DHUC has been working on providing recommendations regarding Zika Virus testing among pregnant UAC to leadership due to recent changes by CDC.

Attached is DHUC's 2 page brief for your review and consideration.

Please review, comment and provide any edits you might want.

If we can put this on the agenda for this week's 1 on 1 meeting, we can discuss next steps.

All – slight evolution of the plan for the briefing document. Please see the attached.

The 3-pager format is easier to translate to a powerpoint (as needed) rather than the reverse, plus I think there are things you can steal from that more closely align to this format (transition book, https://www.acf.hhs.gov/fact-sheets, etc…). Generally designed into three themes: page 1/overview; page 2/internally facing; page 3/externally facing.

Val &Michelle – I've included you given the two pieces we'll need from OA and OLAB for each document - org chart and budget table.

Once you've got the content in place, please send the drafts to me and we'll coordinate getting the charts and tables in place.

Thanks,
Ben

As discussed, please see the attached draft/notional plan for orienting incoming IOAS leadership. Please take a look at both the schedule and the elements for program briefings. Feel free to send back comments/questions/thoughts. I'll be working toward locking this up by COB tomorrow to allow you time to develop your materials.

Court of Appeals Docket #: 17-5236 Docketed: 10/18/2017

Appeal From: United States District Court for the District of Columbia

Docket Text:

PER CURIAM ORDER [1700058] filed ORDERED that the district court's temporary restraining order filed on October 18, 2017, be administratively stayed pending further order of this court to the extent that the order requires appellants to transport J.D. or allow J.D. to be transported by either her guardian or attorney ad litem to obtain an abortion procedure on October 20, 2017, and/or October 21, 2017. The portion of the order requiring appellants to transport J.D. or allow J.D. to be transported by either her guardian or attorney ad litem on October 19, 2017, to obtain the counseling required by state law remains in effect, as do paragraphs 3, 4, and 5 and the costs and contempt provisions of the order. The purpose of this administrative stay is to give the court sufficient opportunity to consider the emergency motion for stay and should not be construed in any way as a ruling on the merits of that motion. See D.C. Circuit Handbook of Practice and Internal Procedures 33 (2017). It is FURTHER ORDERED, on the court's own motion, that appellee file a response to the emergency motion for stay by 2:00 p.m. today, October 19, 2017. Any reply is due by 8:00 p.m. today, October

See the question below. It would be very important to get clarification to programs. Some programs seem to be increasingly concerned about the non-abortion implications of the policy. I got a telephone inquiry from BCFS as well about what this meant for authorization for routine procedures which are not related to reproductive health at all.

Good Morning,

Thank you for the information regarding the ORR medical services requiring heightened ORR involvement memo. Kidshaven would like to ensure we are following all requirements for medical services requiring ORR written approval. Would you please provide a more definite list of services which require this action? For example: physical therapy, dental extractions, surgical procedures, abortions, extensive lab work, general anesthesia, local anesthesia, etc.

A more definitive list would provide great assistance in ensuring we are being compliant with the requirement.

Thank you for your assistance and attention to this request.

Have a great day!

Can you clarify which case you would like guidance on and attach the correct email from the (b)(6) attorney if that is the case you are referring to?

There are two cases we know of on appeal. One for (b)(6) I believe and the other (b)(6) (b)(6) is the one with a recommended denial.

Hello Ken and Laura,

This message is about a pending parent denial that was elevated to OAS in February. Please see the string of emails from the covering FFS (b)(5) child to her mother.
I attached an email from the mother's attorney that was also elevated last February.

This is possibility that someone for the OAS has reached out to the mother and or attorney but we in DUCOs have no visibility of that. Let me know if you have any questions.

Good afternoon Jim,

Updating you on this case and my current analysis. I received the email below from the case manager and the BI email sent by the Young Center. In reviewing this information as well as Amanda's last denial update, I advised the program of the following:

1. Contact the mother and assess her current status for reunification.

2. Send the mother a new FRP, as much of her information has changed.

3. Inquire about any community supports or natural supports in the home.

4. Provide local Department of Social Services resources to the mother for additional assistance, as needed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

From my understanding there are no safety concerns identified, however proceeding with these steps will address any concerns. The mother now appears engaged and willing to complete the process, which I advised to proceed. The daughter has increased her comments wanting to reunify.

The UC is sheltered in BCFS San Antonio, one of the shelters operated by the large grantee BCFS. No action has been taken yet. I am advised that on Friday (3 March) the UC had a hearing related to Judicial Bypass but I do not know what the outcome of that hearing was or if the hearing actually took place. The medical team understands that this is a case that we expect to come forward as a request for authorization and federal funding, I would anticipate early this week.

To prevent any unauthorized actions, on Friday the medical team provided the Medical Director at BCFS explicit direction not to proceed with any actions without written authorization by ORR, and Medical Director acknowledged direction. On Friday I also communicated this direction to the CEO of BCFS, who also confirmed receipt of directions and transmitted them to all his operations and medical management. This was prior to the more official and general instruction to grantees that went out late Friday night from the Director of ORR.

I don't know much about the case yet but we will learn more as this one comes through the official submission and review.

Michael,

Yes, until we have additional guidance in the form of a new policy and procedure, we are requiring programs to submit SIR for positive pregnancy tests. Additionally, they should submit SIRs and notify us immediately of any termination request or request for information related to termination options from any UC—before taking any other steps such as appointments.

Good morning,

I am requesting clarification on the ORR FSS Guidance regarding Follow Up Pregnant UC.- date 3/9/17 statement in advance of taking additional action

When a pregnant UC is transferred to our agency we always discuss care options (i.e continuation or termination of the pregnancy) as a POC during the IME. The CM/ CL's are involved in this process. It is not always possible to have that decision expressed by the minor at the IME and it might come 24 hours later. If a minor is found to be pregnant (unexpectedly) during the IME , we follow the same process. I looked in the ORR Medical Module and I did not see any guidance on Pregnant UC in ORR care . We have been entering into the portal as a working diagnosis .

I am not sure if a SIR is being done for pregnancy? . I know that SIR is done if the UC reports sexual abuse or assault.

Are you now requesting the ORR FFS be made aware of the UC decision by email communication ?

We received a Wellness Wednesday regarding "Heightened Medical procedures " date 3/6/17 in which it included termination of pregnancy requiring written authorization from ORR medical team .

Dear ORR Care Providers:

I am writing to reinforce the importance of ORR policies and procedures related to Heightened Medical Procedures, including “significant medical or surgical procedures, abortions, and services that may threaten the life of a UAC.”

Per the policy, “Grantees are prohibited from taking any actions in these cases without direction and approval from ORR.” Approval for such procedures would be provided in the form of a signed authorization from the Director of ORR. To restate and reinforce the existing policy, grantees may not perform Heightened Medical Procedures without written authorization from the ORR Director, except in emergency medical situations (as described in Emergency Medical Services, 3.05). Grantees should not conduct procedures, or take any steps that facilitate future procedures such as scheduling appointments, transportation, or other arrangements without signed written authorization from the ORR Director. Note that the requirement for written authorization by the ORR Director applies whether the procedure will be paid for with Federal funds or by other means.

Please ensure close adherence and understanding of the policy. Approval for such procedures can only be authorized by the ORR Director in writing. Failure to adhere to this policy will be a significant issue of non-compliance.

The policy on Heightened Medical Procedures is attached. If there are questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact ORR for clarification.

Please advise .

Good morning,

I was asked to follow up with you all to ensure you received the below language and attachment.

As you are aware ORR is reviewing case process for pregnant UC. This includes when a UC is found to be pregnant and what to do BEFORE the care provider proceeds to explore with the UC what her options are. That guidance is:

- If the care provider discovers that they have a pregnant UC in their facility they should immediately submit an SIR as they normally would. (You the FFS and the ORR Medical Team should be copied.)

- The care provider should contact you the FFS directly with any questions or requests in writing. Requests should include clarification and instruction, in advance, about how to proceed with offering the girl guidance for her birth options or medical procedures.

- It is important to know that ORR's Acting Director, Ken Tota, should be informed of the case by your FFS Supervisor as soon as cases are identified and as care providers request guidance.

- You the FFS will need to follow up with your supervisor, and medical staff (to be identified by Dr. Bartholomew) before the care provider takes next steps in the girl's case. Until instructions are provided to the shelters they should not proceed with next steps in the case.

- If the UC has an emergency medical concern then the care provider should immediately seek emergency medical care and immediately notify you, their FFS, FFS Supervisor, or on call ORR staff during non-business hours.

Unaccompanied Alien Children

Court

to review ruling allowing abortion for immigrant teen (featuring ACF)

An appeals court on Thursday temporarily stayed a judge's ruling that would have allowed a pregnant 17-year-old being held in a Texas facility for unaccompanied immigrant children to obtain an abortion. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia issued a short ruling that still allowed the teenager to be taken to a counseling meeting with the doctor who would perform the abortion. If the appeals court lifts the stay during a hearing Friday morning, the teen might still be able to have the procedure

Federal

(featuring ACF)

A federal appeals court on Thursday halted a lower court judge's order one day earlier that would have allowed a pregnant undocumented teenager in U.S. custody to have an abortion in Texas. The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled the 17-year-old, which is only identified as Jane Doe, can receive abortion counseling and a sonogram -- required first steps for an abortion in Texas.

The Justice Department on Thursday appealed a D.C. district judge's ruling ordering a government-operated detention facility in Texas to let a pregnant, undocumented teen get the abortion she's been seeking. If the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals doesn't act on the appeal, it's likely that the Central American teen, called "Jane Doe" in court papers, will undergo abortion counseling Thursday. Under Texas law, a woman must undergo such counseling 24 hours before receiving the procedure.

This is not the first case — and I expect, will not be the last case — where an anti-abortion advocate from Washington is making very personal decisions for a pregnant immigrant who's thousands of miles away. As a family lawyer, I am familiar with coercion and abuse. The fact that the federal government proactively denied this Jane Doe access to the medical care that has been approved by the state district judge is abuse. It appears as though the Trump administration intends to detain all Jane Does until they submit to their religious opinions or agree to be deported to the violent countries they have fled.

With a strong economy,
Tennessee welfare reform is good for state

By reinstituting work requirements, approximately 58,000 able-bodied adults without dependents who are not currently meeting the work requirement but still receive assistance

If California is such a prosperous state as liberals claim, why does it have the highest poverty rate in the nation? According to the Census Bureau, the poverty rate

Trafficking

A 3-month-old girl was among 84 children rescued from sex traffickers

More than 80 children, including a 3-month-old girl, were rescued in a nationwide crackdown on child sex trafficking, federal authorities said. As part of "Operation Cross Country XI," the FBI arrested 120 alleged traffickers and saved 84 children who were involved in child sex trafficking operations, the agency said in a news release Wednesday.

A 3-month-old girl, the youngest of the victims, was rescued in Denver last Friday, along with a 5-year-old girl, the FBI said. Their suspected trafficker, authorities say, was a friend of the family who had offered an undercover officer sex with the girls for $600. The average age of the rescued victims was 15 years old.

We need to transfer management of her care to the local medical authorities, since we cannot do it remotely. Proceed as you have outlined. I would encourage the SWK team to advise the Clinic of the change in date/time of administration of her medicine. We should not wait for policy approval to make sure that a physician with access to the patient is actually managing her care. I will advise policy decision makers and if they want to give a changed direction, we will react to that, but please do clearly communicate to the SWK Medical personnel that they are in charge and should do whatever they think medically appropriate for her care.

Shaanan,

I am not sure I see what the need is for her evaluation this AM in the ED at another medical facility? I know the ED physicians on Saturday recommended follow-up on Monday but I think that was in reference to determine next steps and how to proceed given the notion that the procedure was stopping.

If she is stable, I am not sure she needs an evaluation unless she is needing emergent services etc.

It appears that the clinic is not currently worried about their patient given that they are still maintaining a March 17 appt for the child.

Thoughts?

Can you reach out to the facility and get an update?

At 0732 this morning I called Women's Reproductive Services and scheduled a follow-up as instructed by (b)(6) and minor will be seen at the soonest available date which is Friday, March 17, 2017 at 3:30 pm.

Nurse stated medications administered and discharge instructions/notes for Friday's visit (3/3/17) can be requested for a fee of $25 and we would need to have the minor present to sign off request. Minor will be transported to clinic tomorrow morning and we will request notes to be uploaded on UAC Portal right after.

I am requesting permission to transport minor to the local ER at North Central Baptist to have a sonogram performed and be evaluated by MD this morning. Please reply at your earliest convenience.

I am just reiterating a message now that today was conveyed by the ORR Medical Team to Scott Olerman.

Per ORR policy on "Heightened Medical Procedures," no appointments should be scheduled or procedures performed without written authorization from the Director of ORR. This is not limited to procedures funded with Federal funding but applies to any procedure on any UC. I understand that Mr. Olerman confirmed receipt of this message but just wanted to share with you for your visibility.

Let me know any questions or concerns. I would appreciate your ensuring that at all BCFS locations, there are no procedures performed without the written authorization of the ORR Director.

ORR will be following up with official guidance related to our Heightened Medical Procedures policy, but I understand that there is a UC in BCFS San Antonio who may be requesting termination of pregnancy. I am just reiterating a message now that today was conveyed by the ORR Medical Team to Scott Olerman.

Per ORR policy on "Heightened Medical Procedures," no appointments should be scheduled or procedures performed without written authorization from the Director of ORR. This is not limited to procedures funded with Federal funding but applies to any procedure on any UC. I understand that Mr. Olerman confirmed receipt of this message but just wanted to share with you for your visibility.

Let me know any questions or concerns. I would appreciate your ensuring that at all BCFS locations, there are no procedures performed without the written authorization of the ORR Director.

I would defer to the OB/GYN physicians to aid us in this decision. Is the DNC still the safest option at this point in this child's care? Did they say?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I also wanted to let you all know about the kiddos responses today during our round table discussion. The boys and girls left an incredible impression on Mr. Lloyd! This was his introduction to ORR and we kicked ace!!!

The kids all spoke candidly, and from the heart. They said how good they get treated at the facility, and that the staff, and services are second to none! The UAC all said that your staff make them feel as if they were their biological children, the boy from EC actually said the treatment was better here than at home!

Please keep up good work!

Monday March 13, 2017

Scott Lloyd and Jose G. met with San Antonio Federal Field Staff Ruben Pelayo, Omar Corrales, Griselda Acuna, and CFS Diana M. Berrios, Jaime Maldonado, and Mayra Lopes Nieto at ORR National Call center. Mr. Lloyd introduced himself and held a discussion concerning his new role in ORR. Mr. Lloyd stated that he will be the new ORR Director and wanted to learn as much as he could while he was in town for the site visit. He was very candid and inquired about topics from the field such as the Termination Process, transfers, and overall program related questions.

Met at BCFS Campus with BCFS Staff, Asennet Segura, Sonya Thompson, Scott Ollerman, and program staff. Mr. Lloyd led a very robust conversation about his soon to be role as the new ORR Director and asked questions concerning Termination policies, guidance, and follow through from the program level and from ORR. The program proceeded to answer his questions concerning the local Termination Case of SD. We reviewed the updates and UC has decided to continue with the pregnancy and not terminate. Program Case Manager states that the change was due to a conversation with her mother and her mother's experience with an abortion at a young age in the home country.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mom told her Daughter that she lives with guilt, and that an abortion is not the right decision because she will be bothered by her actions forever. Mom did not consent to proceed with abortion. UC decided against the procedure stating it was against their religion.

The program also provided an update concerning her reunification, and the plan is still for her to go to her Aunt in Louisiana. UC will be approved with PRS which will be done by BCFS PRS staff. UC may be released as early as next week if all the reunification packet is completed.

Tour and meeting with San Antonio Catholic Charities Vice President Gladis Gonzalez, Shelter staff, and local FFs.

Mr. Lloyd also held a round table discussion with 6 UAC. Mr. Lloyd's intention and goal of meeting was to ask the children about their journeys, life in the home country, and the journey to the U.S. The kids were very talkative and felt very comfortable talking to him and shared their experiences. It was a very productive discussion with the kids as per Mr. Lloyd. The kids did a great job and spoke genuinely about their care and custody. All of the kids said they feel safe and respected at the facility.

Monday March 13, 2017

Tour and UAC meeting at Seton Home Casa de Milagros for pregnant and parenting UAC.

The other was an uncomfortable bed issue which is also an easy fix. BCFS Regional director will address.

ORR will be following up with official guidance related to our Heightened Medical Procedures policy, but I understand that there is a UC in BCFS San Antonio who may be requesting termination of pregnancy. I am just reiterating a message now that today was conveyed by the ORR Medical Team to Scott Olerman.

Per ORR policy on "Heightened Medical Procedures," no appointments should be scheduled or procedures performed without written authorization from the Director of ORR. This is not limited to procedures funded with Federal funding but applies to any procedure on any UC. I understand that Mr. Olerman confirmed receipt of this message but just wanted to share with you for your visibility.

Let me know any questions or concerns. I would appreciate your ensuring that at all BCFS locations,

Query: I'm working on the story regarding (b)(6) He is the 18 year old who is now (b)(6) MD and was previously picked up by border patrol in Texas and detained by ORR for 12 days on August 14th 2016. It's our understanding from (b)(6) lawyers that he was reunited with his family in Maryland after being released, taking a flight to Baltimore from Texas. ICE has told us that ORR took part in reuniting (b)(6) with his family in Maryland. I was hoping for some more information on how this played out. Did ORR arrange the flight to Baltimore? Scott Lloyd and Jose G. met with San Antonio Federal Field Staff Ruben Pelayo, Omar Corrales, Griselda Acuna, and CFS Diana M. Berrios, Jaime Maldonado,

Mr. Lloyd stated that he will be the new ORR Director and wanted to learn as much as he could while he was in town for the site visit. He was very candid and inquired about topics from the field such as the Termination Process, transfers, and overall program related questions.

Mom told her Daughter that she lives with guilt, and that an abortion is not the right decision because she will be bothered by her actions forever. Mom did not consent to proceed with abortion. UC decided against the procedure stating it was against their religion.

It was a very productive discussion with the kids as per Mr. Lloyd. The kids did a great job and spoke genuinely about their care and custody. A positive pregnancy test should result in a SIR. Urine pregnancy test is a required element of the Initial Medical Examination (IME) for all female UC who have attained menarche. But, as you know, SIR adherence is not necessarily 100%.

I think this is likely our most important tool to track follow-up but that is something I am working with the Medical and the FFS teams to figure out.

Do we get an SIR notice for every pregnancy?

Would we also get an SIR if identified at Intake?

A federal appeals court has overturned a judge's ruling that would have allowed an undocumented pregnant teen to get an abortion. The unaccompanied minor is currently being held at an immigration detention center near Brownsville. A judge issued an emergency order on Wednesday, requiring Doe to be transported from her shelter to an abortion clinic. An appeals court has temporarily blocked a federal judge's order to allow an unauthorized teen immediate access to have an abortion, one day after the decision. U.S. District Judge Tanya Chutkan ruled Wednesday that "Jane Doe," a 17-year-old unaccompanied immigrant in Texas, must be allowed to have an abortion without delay. The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled that Doe can still receive abortion counseling and a sonogram, which are required

Trump administration officials must allow a pregnant 17-year-old to leave an immigration shelter in Texas to have an abortion, a federal judge ruled Wednesday in the first legal rebuff for the administration's ban on abortions

Justice Department appeals decision ordering government to let undocumented teen get an abortion
(featuring ACF)

On Wednesday afternoon, a federal judge ordered the Trump administration to let an undocumented teenager being held in a federally funded Texas shelter terminate her pregnancy. By Wednesday evening, the Department of Justice had appealed the ruling to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, urging the court to block the abortion. The DOJ argued that the government's "interest in promoting fetal life and childbirth over abortion" justified its refusal to allow the minor to go to an abortion clinic. A panel of judges from the D.C. Circuit will hear arguments in the case on Friday morning.

A federal appeals court has temporarily stayed a judge's ruling to allow an undocumented teenage immigrant held in a federally-funded facility to receive an abortion. On Thursday, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia issued a ruling saying that the order "should not be construed in any way as a ruling on the merits" of a Trump administration attempt to overturn a federal judge order to allow the teen to get her abortion. "The purpose of this administrative stay is to give the court sufficient opportunity to consider the emergency motion for stay," the ruling reads in

The Trump administration's power over a pregnant girl

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

(featuring ACF)

Repaying his loyal supporters on the religious right, Donald Trump has given federal appointments to a number of anti-abortion activists. They've been working quietly to dismantle access to reproductive health care while the country is distracted by the president's pyrotechnic outrages. For almost a month, some of these Trump appointees have been waging a crusade to force the young woman, whose future in this country is extremely uncertain, to carry her pregnancy to term. Their standoff shows us the real-world consequences of this administration's radical disregard for women's autonomy.

The US government can't hold undocumented pregnant teens hostage when they want an abortion
(featuring ACF)

It is unconscionable that the federal government would so flagrantly undermine the rights of a person in its custody. The girl, known in court papers simply as Jane Doe, may not be here legally, but, while she is here, she has a constitutional right — like every other pregnant girl or woman in the United States — to a legal abortion. Even U.S. District Judge Tanya Chutkan, who ruled Wednesday that Doe could get the abortion, shook her head in disbelief when a U.S. Department of Justice lawyer at the hearing would not concede that Doe has constitutional rights. Among other constitutional principles, due process and equal protection — which underlie the right to an abortion — apply to everyone in the United States, regardless of where they came from.

Jane's story is shocking. The abuse of power, invasion of privacy and coordinated, federally-funded campaign to shame, bully, and deny care to this young woman is yet another outrage from an administration bent on taking away women rights. And the details of her case only deepen the horror. At every turn, Jane is doing all she can to protect her health and safety, and those efforts are being sabotaged by agents of the Trump administration. And Jane's is not an isolated case. ORR is now blocking all unaccompanied minors in its custody from receiving abortion care, and shelters are being directed not to let minors seek judicial bypasses or even allow them to meet with attorneys — a flagrant violation of state law and their constitutional rights.

This week, the Department of Justice is arguing in court that undocumented, unaccompanied minors have no right to abortions—and that undocumented immigrants may have no constitutional rights at all. This argument does not only contravene Supreme Court precedent. It also draws upon an inhuman notion of constitutional liberty most notoriously espoused in Dred Scott v. Sandford. The Justice Department's radical new theory arose out of a disturbing case in Texas that revolves around a 17-year-old referred to as Jane Doe in court filings.

Safe as in "the medication regimen for the medical abortion procedure will be safe for her up until the twelfth week of gestation"? Just want to make sure I understood your email.

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.
The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

What would you like for me to do next?

Michael has finished speaking with the hospital. They are able to assess the status of the pregnancy via ultrasound. They are not set up to take any actions to complete the evacuation of contents if the ultrasound determines there is no fetal life, but Michael conveyed that ORR could arrange to transfer her elsewhere to take those steps if the abortion is already complete.

So the hospital can receive the UC for ultrasound and exam.

Scott Lloyd and Jose G. met with San Antonio Federal Field Staff Ruben Pelayo, Omar Corrales, Griselda Acuna, and CFS Diana M. Berrios, Jaime Maldonado, and Mayra Lopes Nieto at ORR National Call center. Mr. Lloyd introduced himself and held a discussion concerning his new role in ORR. Mr. Lloyd stated that he will be the new ORR Director and wanted to learn as much as he could while he was in town for the site visit. He was very candid and inquired about topics from the field such as the Termination Process, transfers, and overall program related questions.

Met at BCFS Campus with BCFS Staff, Asennet Segura, Sonya Thompson, Scott Ollerman, and program staff. Mr. Lloyd led a very robust conversation about his soon to be role as the new ORR Director and asked questions concerning Termination policies, guidance, and follow through from the program level and from ORR. The program proceeded to answer his questions concerning the local Termination Case of (b)(6) We reviewed the updates and UC has decided to continue with the pregnancy and not terminate. Program Case Manager states that the change was due to a conversation with her mother and her mother's experience with an abortion at a young age in the home country.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mom told her Daughter that she lives with guilt, and that an abortion is not the right decision because she will be bothered by her actions forever. Mom did not consent to proceed with abortion. UC decided against the procedure stating it was against their religion.

The program also provided an update concerning her reunification, (b)(5)

Tour and meeting with San Antonio Catholic Charities Vice President Gladis Gonzalez, Shelter staff, and local FFs.

Mr. Lloyd also held a round table discussion with 6 UAC. Mr. Lloyd's intention and goal of meeting was to ask the children about their journeys, life in the home country, and the journey to the U.S. The kids were very talkative and felt very comfortable talking to him and shared their experiences. It was a very productive discussion with the kids as per Mr. Lloyd. The kids did a great job and spoke genuinely about their care and custody. All of the kids said they feel safe and respected at the facility.

Tour and UAC meeting at Seton Home Casa de Milagros for pregnant and parenting UAC.

Met with Seton Home Team for tour of the facility. Mr. Lloyd toured the program and met with the current administration, (b)(6) at Seton

Met with UAC (b)(6) at the BCFS SAC. Griselda Acuna and Mr. Lloyd met alone with her for about an hour. Mr. Lloyd made some recommendations to me concerning (b)(6) stay at BCFS. This request was relayed to PD at BCFS by me and will be addressed immediately. The request was for more Honduran food, which is an easy fix because they have a Honduran cook. The other was an uncomfortable bed issue which is also an easy fix. BCFS Regional director will address.

Mr. Lloyd, FFS J. Gonzalez, and FFS R. Pelayo met with (b)(6) who is a medically fragile case due to kidney failure. She was in great spirits and was very happy about her care. (b)(6) provided Mr. Lloyd her incredible story of her journey to get to the USA and her troubles with her near death, due to her kidney failure. (b)(6) is very intelligent for a (b)(6) year old. She is a survivor, resilient and a champion for herself. She continues to do very well in custody and is currently awaiting a kidney transplant. She is greatly appreciative of the help we have given her and looks like any other (b)(6) year old. She is not sad and shows no signs of being ill.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Met with a group of six boys from BCFS shelter, Staff Secure, and Extended care. The boys answered questions about their journey and the difficult trek to get here. The boys described their desires, hopes, and dreams for their current situation and for the future. One of the boys had actually just received his high school diploma and said he would have never achieved his goals in Mexico. The UC was recruited at the age of 9 to work for the (b)(6) and now has his SIJ visa. ORR has changed his life and is so excited about his life. The young man will be enlisting in the armed service to become an engineer. UC's sister has been found, and he will be moving out of custody soon to go to his sister in California. Mr. Lloyd was very impressed with theUC's determination and equally moved by the others boys' life experiences. Overall, the meetings were very positive and educational for Mr. Lloyd.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Jonathan,
As expected, the documents provided by the shelter are not helpful.
After a lengthy discussion with Michael, since the termination has bene initiated and in essence has already been accomplished with the first pill, in the best interests of the child, it would be unwise to withhold giving the dose of Cytotec in the next 24-48hrs. We have been reassured by the OB-GYN that this method, the pill method, is acceptable versus a DNC with good outcomes and minimal complications. The minor and shelter staff (there will be a nurse available ATC) have been provided with the appropriate information as to how to properly administer the medication. The program should adhere to the specific recommendations and clinical management guidelines for any anticipated complications as described in detail both in person in the clinic today and in the handouts/discharge instructions. They are notify the clinic for any complications and if instructed to go to nearest Emergency Room.

The only remaining thing to do is notify the program staff of our medical guidance. I just wanted to make sure you are on board.
Will you notify the shelter or would you like me to do so?

Thank you. I appreciate all your help.

I think what will be most helpful is to know what the plan will be for the UC tomorrow.

It's fine to update me by email later.

Good Morning,

Thank you for the information regarding the ORR medical services requiring heightened ORR involvement memo. Kidshaven would like to ensure we are following all requirements for medical services requiring ORR written approval. Would you please provide a more definite list of services which require this action? For example: physical therapy, dental extractions, surgical procedures, abortions, extensive lab work, general anesthesia, local anesthesia, etc.

A more definitive list would provide great assistance in ensuring we are being compliant with the requirement.

Thank you for your assistance and attention to this request.

Have a great day!

There is no longer a DUCS Director. DUCS no longer exists. So, does that mean Jallyn, as DUCO Director (since DUCS has largely become DUCO), or you (as the senior medical official), or is it me (as now the senior official for the whole UC program)? Or should it just be the ORR Director? Totally confusing and unhelpful.

When this policy gets refreshed, which will have to happen shortly, we will have to determine the right POC. Development of the new policy and procedure is something I hope the appointed folks can provide leadership on.

Subject:	Follow up on our conversation of this afternoon/requirements for UC at BCFS San Antonio requesting abortion procedure
Date:	2017/03/06 15:31:00
Priority:	Normal
Type:	Note

Kevin,

Pursuant to our conversation today, please have BCFS provide to the Acting Director of ORR Ken Tota (Kenneth.Tota@acf.hhs.gov) with an informational document regarding the request by the UC at BCFS San Antonio abortion procedure which specifies:

- The request made by the UC
- A full copy of the Judicial Bypass, if any
- Communication regarding whether BCFS requests Federal funding for the procedure
- Disclosure of all steps BCFS and any third parties took to facilitate acquisition of the judicial bypass
- Information on the procedural history of the Judicial Bypass, including if there were prior requests (this information may follow the initial information if not yet available)
- The name and A# of the requesting child

ORR will also review case notes and medical information on the child in the UAC Portal.

We will request additional information as determined necessary.

(b)(5)

Information related to this UC request should be routed directly to the Director of ORR. Communications with the ORR Medical Team should be solely focused on medical information rather than legal or policy questions or issues of authorization.

Just one clarification: when Dr. (b)(6) stated that the minor will be safe if it is less than 12 weeks, could you clarify? Safe as in "the medication regimen for the medical abortion procedure will be safe for her up until the twelfth week of gestation"? Just want to make sure I understood your email.

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.
The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

What would you like for me to do next?

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

Michael has finished speaking with the hospital. They are able to assess the status of the pregnancy via ultrasound. They are not set up to take any actions to complete the evacuation of contents if the ultrasound determines there is no fetal life, but Michael conveyed that ORR could arrange to transfer her elsewhere to take those steps if the abortion is already complete.

So the hospital can receive the UC for ultrasound and exam.

Good Afternoon,

BCFS San Antonio has a UC in care who is seeking to terminate her pregnancy. Please see the attached SIR and the relevant addendums therein. FFS Erika Valdez and I are asking for guidance on the following:

1. How does the grantee obtain written authorization from the ORR Director? Should the PO / FFS initiate a memo and circulate it for signature through their supervisors?
2. Can / should the grantee initiate the process of Requesting Federal Funds for Pregnancy Termination prior to receiving authorization?

Please note that a judge approved the UC's Judicial Bypass application on 3/3/2017.

Thank you,

Thank you Erika. Please see the last addendum attached. The minor does not wish to inform her mother or sponsor of her wishes to terminate. We are currently working with the same sponsor but it is unknown how committed she is to go through with the reunification process.
Also, per our meeting, it was discussed that it had already been submitted to ORR for request of funds. Please let me know if I need re-send that request.

Thank you,

Yasmin,

Perfect! Please attach the SIR to include any updated medical information in reference to minor.

Please also confirm as to whether or not she informed her sponsor of her desire to terminate and ensure that this information is included in the SIR and/or addendum. It is to the best of my understanding, as we discussed in the meeting referencing this minor, that she informed her mother in home country, however, had not discussed her desire with her sponsor and would be confirmed by you all upon her arrival.

Please ensure to follow the SIR requirements:

CARE PROVIDER

1) IMMEDIATELY, BUT NO LATER THAN FOUR (4) HOURS after a UC requests to terminate her pregnancy, completes an SIR following procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 5.7.3 Significant Incidents and copies the Medical Team at DCSMedical@acf.hhs.gov on the SIR notification. The SIR must include the following information:

   - Current gestational age of the pregnancy
   - Any known complications identified by the medical professional

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Date of the request for termination of pregnancy and to whom the request was made
- The name and location of the clinic, hospital, or office where the pregnancy termination will occur
- Whether parental consent or notification was made, or whether a judicial bypass has been or will be sought, if required under state law (the disbursement of federal funds will be contingent on meeting the requirement of state law)
- Reason why federal funds are being requested, if applicable
- Nature of urgent request (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), if applicable
- Any other relevant information
- If any of this information is not available, the care provider will note in the SIR what information is pending and when the information is expected to be available. Missing information must be documented in an SIR Addendum immediately upon receipt.

NOTE: If the care provider is unable to coordinate pregnancy termination services or services are unavailable in the region, the care provider must immediately notify the FFS. In coordination with the FFS, the care provider must initiate a transfer to a care provider that is able to coordinate services and that is located in a region where services are available following transfer procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 1.2 Transfers within the ORR Care Provider Network.

2) Makes parental notification, seeks parental consent, or seeks a judicial bypass, as required under state law. Care provider should seek the assistance of the legal service provider or attorney of record during this process.

2) After submitting the SIR, responds to requests from ORR for information and updates as soon as possible, but within four (4) hours of the request.

3) Consults with the Medical Team to immediately schedule the appropriate consultations with medical providers and the pregnancy termination procedure. The pregnancy termination procedure must be scheduled to occur no sooner than 72 hours after submission of the SIR. This should happen concurrently with the process to request federal funds for the pregnancy termination including obtaining a Physician's Certification, if applicable (see below).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

4) Makes arrangements to transport the UC to the pregnancy termination procedure.

5) Submits SIR Addendums and adds documentation in the UC Portal Medical Module as appropriate.

Requesting Federal Funding for a Pregnancy Termination

Federal funds are available to pay for an abortion if:

- • The pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest; or
- • In the case where a woman suffers from a physical disorder, physical injury, or physical illness, including a life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would, as certified by a physician, place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed.

CARE PROVIDER

WITHIN 24 HOURS of determining the termination would qualify for federal funding, sends an email notification to the Medical Team, with a copy to the FFS and CFS, as follows:

☒ To:	Medical Team FFS and CFS
Cc:	"Request for Federal Funds for Pregnancy Termination"
Subject Line:	• UC's name and A # • Reason why federal funds are being requested: ○ An act of rape ○ An act of incest ○ Life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed • Any other relevant information

Subject: Heads up: positive pregnancy test in UC

Ken &Scott,

Just wanted to advise you that the DHUC medical team forwarded received a medical SIR on a positive urine pregnancy test for a 16yo UC (test results yesterday). The UC is at Southwest Key Las Palmas in Mesa, AZ.

A few key facts:

- Per UC report, she has not experienced sexual assault either in transit or in home country.
- The plan is to hold two family sessions for the purpose of notifying the client's mother of her pregnancy.
- There are no other requests or concerns indicated at the time.

The Medical SIR description is as follows:

On 03/20/2017 at the 12:49 p.m. Lead Medical disclosed to the assigned Clinician that the client result of the pregnancy test was positive.
Later on, the clinician assessed the client in order to explore mental health concern related to the data revealed in the Significant Incident Report by Medical Department. The client mentioned that she was sexuality active in COO. The client added that her previous sexual activities were consented by her. The client denied being a victim of sexual assault in Honduras or during her journey. The client also verbalized that she felt weird and nervous due to his pregnancy. The client mentioned that she was surprised to know that she was pregnant.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The client indicated that her last menstrual cycle was on February 22 and she was not mindful or suspicion of her pregnancy. During the interview, the client appears to be stable. The client was oriented to person, place, situation, and time. The client was alert, her eye contact was good, and her facial expression was reasonable. Her attitude and behavior during the session were appropriate and cooperative. She was very communicative and receptive. The client overall appearance was acceptable. The client exhibits an anxious affect. Her speech was normal rate and normal tonal variation; the voice was appropriate volume. The thought process was goal-directed. Her association was intact. She also denied suicide or homicide ideas. Her fund of knowledge is good, similarities are intact and intelligence level is estimated to be normal. There not any mental concern at this moment. Jennifer M. Matos-Ramos, PhD Clinician 03/20/2017 Two family session would be conducted with the purpose to inform client's pregnancy to her mother and discussed the safety plan with the sponsor. A safety plan will be completed in order to address the actual condition of the client regarding her pregnancy and well-being. The clinician will follow-up with the client in the individual session or as needed.

Please advise any next steps, if any, you would require.

I don't recall seeing a copy of the judicial bypass since the program was not seeking federal funds. It is possible that the program might have a copy.

Is that correct, Shaanan?

Just one clarification: when Dr. (b)(6) stated that the minor will be safe if it is less than 12 weeks, could you clarify? Safe as in "the medication regimen for the medical abortion procedure will be safe for her up until the twelfth week of gestation"? Just want to make sure I understood your email.

I also spoke with the minor and she wants to continue with terminating her pregnancy.

Please advise.

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.
The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

What would you like for me to do next?

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

Michael has finished speaking with the hospital. They are able to assess the status of the pregnancy via ultrasound. They are not set up to take any actions to complete the evacuation of contents if the ultrasound determines there is no fetal life, but Michael conveyed that ORR could arrange to transfer her elsewhere to take those steps if the abortion is already complete.

So the hospital can receive the UC for ultrasound and exam.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hi All,

As I anticipated we have received an inquiry from the Washington Post.

Media inquiry came in to ASPA from Washington Post (Maria Sacchetti) asking about UC; story ran today but did not mention these individuals as UC (Suspect in rape at Maryland school was stopped 7 months ago by Border Patrol); her deadline is TODAY.

As of yesterday, we were not able to locate these two names in the UC portal. Henry Sanchez has an additional name of Milian which was not identify earlier and Jose O. Montano has a birthdate of 11/18/1999 which is additional info we did not have on yesterday. Can we confirm that they were not UC in ORR custody?

Query:
I'm trying to find out what happened in the cases of Jose o. Montano 11/18/1999 of El Salvador and Henry E. Sanchez Milian, 18, of Guatemala, who have been accused in this case. ICE says they didn't release them. They're both charged as adults, and Henry, of course, is an adult. I'm trying to find out why HHS released them, how they got into your custody, (if they did) and what checks are in place to background them and their sponsors. Does HHS require the sponsor to take out a formal guardianship in court before handing them over? And does anyone monitor them?

Proposed Response:

ON BACKGROUND –

Children without parents or other legal guardians apprehended at U.S. borders by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) are transferred to the care and custody of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR). ORR is legally required to provide for the care and custody of all unaccompanied children referred to ORR until they are released to the appropriate sponsor, usually a relative, while their immigration cases are adjudicated.

Children referred to ORR receive a comprehensive assessment that includes evaluation of any known criminal history, prior acts of violence, or gang involvement. ORR also considers whether the child is a danger to self, danger to the community, or a risk of flight when making placement decisions. Each child is assigned placement in the most appropriate facility in the least restrictive setting in the child's best interest.

Children assessed to be a danger to themselves or others may receive a heightened level of staff supervision in more restrictive facilities with services designed to protect their safety, others and the community in which they are housed. Less than one half of one percent of children are placed in secure facilities (.3 percent in FY15 and .1% in FY16), and only a portion of that small percentage are placed due to gang involvement.

ORR also uses enhanced safety protocols when determining whether to release a child to a potential sponsor, and does not release children considered to be a threat to the community. There is a robust pre-screening process for potential sponsors that requires background checks and, in some cases, mandatory home studies, before a child is released to the sponsor.

Potential sponsors for unaccompanied children are required to undergo background checks and complete a sponsor assessment process that identifies risk factors and other potential safety concerns. As a part of the release process, all potential sponsors must undergo a criminal public records check and a sex offender registry check. ORR also conducts background checks on adult household members and individuals identified in a potential sponsor's care plan. Additionally, a fingerprint background check is required if there is a documented risk to the safety of the minor, the minor is especially vulnerable, the case is referred for a home study, any other special concern is identified, or the sponsor is not the child's parent or legal guardian. The fingerprints are cross-checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) national criminal history and state repository records, which includes DHS arrest records. ORR also requires a home study before releasing any child to a non-relative sponsor who is seeking to sponsor multiple children, or has previously sponsored or sought to sponsor a child and is seeking to sponsor additional children. ORR requires a home study for children who are 12 years and under before releasing to a non-relative sponsor.

Unaccompanied children have been released in all 50 states and District of Columbia. We value transparency and publish data that is available to the public. Data about unaccompanied children is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/orr/about/ucs/facts-and-data. Data about unaccompanied children released to sponsors by state is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/orr/programs/ucs/state-by-state-uc-placed-sponsors. Data about unaccompanied children released to sponsors by county is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/orr/unaccompanied-children-released-to-sponsors-by-county; please note that data is only available for counties where 50 or more children have been released to sponsors.

Importance: High

Hi All,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

In case you have not heard two Rockville High students were charged with rape and assault on Thursday. (b)(6) one from Honduras and the other from Guatemala. Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student.

According to reports they both entered the U.S. during the summer surge of 2016.

I am anticipating we will get media inquiries on this developing story.

2 Rockville High students charged with rape after brutal bathroom assault

http://wtop.com/montgomery-county/2017/03/2-charged-rape-rockville-high-school-bathroom-assault/

WASHINGTON — Two Rockville High School students accused of brutally raping a 14-year-old classmate in a school bathroom will stay in jail after a Rockville district court judge ordered the two teens held without bond Friday afternoon.

> Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student. WTOP has a policy of not naming minors charged with crimes but Montano is being charged as an adult.
> The students were arrested Thursday.
> The victim told police she was walking in a school hallway on March 16 at about 9 a.m. when the two male students approached her, according to charging documents. Montano asked her twice to have sex, and after she refused, he forced her into a boys' bathroom and then into a stall, according to police.
> The student told police that Montano and Sanchez raped her multiple times, according to the court documents. She cried out in pain and repeatedly told the two students to stop, she told police.
> Forensic investigators said an inspection of the boys' bathroom later turned up suspected blood "that may be mixed with male fluid," the court documents stated.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Sanchez and Montano were arrested at school, police said, and have been held since Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement says they have a detainer on Sanchez, a citizen of Guatemala. The agency could not comment on Montano's case since he is a minor.

In a letter to parents, Montgomery County Public Schools said school officials notified police immediately after the student reported the assault to a staff member.

"Ensuring a safe, secure and welcoming learning environment for all of our students is our top priority," school officials said in the letter. "Our staff remains vigilant in the monitoring of our school each and every day. Please remind your child that if they believe they are a victim of an assault or see something inappropriate, they should immediately tell a staff member."

Just one clarification: when Dr. (b)(6) stated that the minor will be safe if it is less than 12 weeks, could you clarify? Safe as in "the medication regimen for the medical abortion procedure will be safe for her up until the twelfth week of gestation"? Just want to make sure I understood your email.

Griselda,

I am advised to ask you:

"Could the FFS obtain information from the physician about whether, given these circumstances and the age of the fetus, continuing the medication abortion regimen would be unsafe and/or contraindicated for the minor?

If it might be possible to continue the pregnancy, the FFS should discuss with the minor whether she wishes to proceed with the abortion or continue the pregnancy. If the medical staff conclude that continuing the medication abortion regimen would be unsafe and/or contraindicated, the minor should be advised of that so that she can provide informed consent with respect to the continuation of the medication abortion regimen.

We understand that these discussions will be done with all due regard for the minor's physical, mental, and emotional state."

Can you have this discussion?

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.

The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

What would you like for me to do next?

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

Michael has finished speaking with the hospital. They are able to assess the status of the pregnancy via ultrasound. They are not set up to take any actions to complete the evacuation of contents if the ultrasound determines there is no fetal life, but Michael conveyed that ORR could arrange to transfer her elsewhere to take those steps if the abortion is already complete.

So the hospital can receive the UC for ultrasound and exam.

Hi All,

As I anticipated we have received an inquiry from the Washington Post.

Media inquiry came in to ASPA from Washington Post (Maria Sacchetti) asking about UC; story ran today but did not mention these individuals as UC (Suspect in rape at Maryland school was stopped 7 months ago by Border Patrol); her deadline is TODAY.

As of yesterday, we were not able to locate these two names in the UC portal. Henry Sanchez has an additional name of Milian which was not identify earlier and Jose O. Montano has a birthdate of 11/18/1999 which is additional info we did not have on yesterday. Can we confirm that they were not UC in ORR custody?

Query:
I'm trying to find out what happened in the cases of Jose o. Montano 11/18/1999 of El Salvador and Henry E. Sanchez Milian, 18, of Guatemala, who have been accused in this case. ICE says they didn't release them. They're both charged as adults, and Henry, of course, is an adult. I'm trying to find out why HHS released them, how they got into your custody, (if they did) and what checks are in place to background them and their sponsors. Does HHS require the sponsor to take out a formal guardianship in court before handing them over? And does anyone monitor them?

Proposed Response:

(b)(5)

ON BACKGROUND –

Children without parents or other legal guardians apprehended at U.S. borders by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) are transferred to the care and custody of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR). ORR is legally required to provide for the care and custody of all unaccompanied children referred to ORR until they are released to the appropriate sponsor, usually a relative, while their immigration cases are adjudicated.

Children referred to ORR receive a comprehensive assessment that includes evaluation of any known criminal history, prior acts of violence, or gang involvement. ORR also considers whether the child is a danger to self, danger to the community, or a risk of flight when making placement decisions. Each child is assigned placement in the most appropriate facility in the least restrictive setting in the child's best interest.

Children assessed to be a danger to themselves or others may receive a heightened level of staff supervision in more restrictive facilities with services designed to protect their safety, others and the community in which they are housed. Less than one half of one percent of children are placed in secure facilities (.3 percent in FY15 and .1% in FY16), and only a portion of that small percentage are placed due to gang involvement.

ORR also uses enhanced safety protocols when determining whether to release a child to a potential sponsor, and does not release children considered to be a threat to the community. There is a robust pre-screening process for potential sponsors that requires background checks and, in some cases, mandatory home studies, before a child is released to the sponsor.

Potential sponsors for unaccompanied children are required to undergo background checks and complete a sponsor assessment process that identifies risk factors and other potential safety concerns. As a part of the release process, all potential sponsors must undergo a criminal public records check and a sex offender registry check. ORR also conducts background checks on adult household members and individuals identified in a potential sponsor's care plan. Additionally, a fingerprint background check is required if there is a documented risk to the safety of the minor, the minor is especially vulnerable, the case is referred for a home study, any other special concern is identified, or the sponsor is not the child's parent or legal guardian. The fingerprints are cross-checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) national criminal history and state repository records, which includes DHS arrest records. ORR also requires a home study before releasing any child to a non-relative sponsor who is seeking to sponsor multiple children, or has previously sponsored or sought to sponsor a child and is seeking to sponsor additional children. ORR requires a home study for children who are 12 years and under before releasing to a non-relative sponsor.

Unaccompanied children have been released in all 50 states and District of Columbia. We value transparency and publish data that is available to the public. Data about unaccompanied children is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/orr/about/ucs/facts-and-data. Data about unaccompanied children released to sponsors by state is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/orr/programs/ucs/state-by-state-uc-placed-sponsors. Data about unaccompanied children released to sponsors by county is available at www.acf.hhs.gov/orr/unaccompanied-children-released-to-sponsors-by-county; please note that data is only available for counties where 50 or more children have been released to sponsors.

Hi All,

In case you have not heard two Rockville High students were charged with rape and assault on Thursday. (b)(6) one from Honduras and the other from Guatemala. Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student.

According to reports they both entered the U.S. during the summer surge of 2016.

I am anticipating we will get media inquiries on this developing story.

http://wtop.com/montgomery-county/2017/03/2-charged-rape-rockville-high-school-bathroom-assault/

WASHINGTON — Two Rockville High School students accused of brutally raping a 14-year-old classmate in a school bathroom will stay in jail after a Rockville district court judge ordered the two teens held without bond Friday afternoon.

> Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student. WTOP has a policy of not naming minors charged with crimes but Montano is being charged as an adult.
> The students were arrested Thursday.
> The victim told police she was walking in a school hallway on March 16 at about 9 a.m. when the two male students approached her, according to charging documents. Montano asked her twice to have sex, and after she refused, he forced her into a boys' bathroom and then into a stall, according to police.

The student told police that Montano and Sanchez raped her multiple times, according to the court documents. She cried out in pain and repeatedly told the two students to stop, she told police.

Forensic investigators said an inspection of the boys' bathroom later turned up suspected blood "that may be mixed with male fluid," the court documents stated.

Sanchez and Montano were arrested at school, police said, and have been held since Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement says they have a detainer on Sanchez, a citizen of Guatemala. The agency could not comment on Montano's case since he is a minor.

In a letter to parents, Montgomery County Public Schools said school officials notified police immediately after the student reported the assault to a staff member.

"Ensuring a safe, secure and welcoming learning environment for all of our students is our top priority," school officials said in the letter. "Our staff remains vigilant in the monitoring of our school each and every day. Please remind your child that if they believe they are a victim of an assault or see something inappropriate, they should immediately tell a staff member."

ORR is legally required to provide for the care and custody of all unaccompanied children referred to ORR until they are released to the appropriate sponsor, usually a relative, while their immigration cases are adjudicated.

Children referred to ORR receive a comprehensive assessment that includes evaluation of any known criminal history, prior acts of violence, or gang involvement. ORR also considers whether the child is a danger to self, danger to the community, or a risk of flight when making placement decisions. Each child is assigned placement in the most appropriate facility in the least restrictive setting in the child's best interest.

Children assessed to be a danger to themselves or others may receive a heightened level of staff supervision in more restrictive facilities with services designed to protect their safety, others and the community in which they are housed. Less than one half of one percent of children are placed in secure facilities (.3 percent in FY15 and .1% in FY16), and only a portion of that small percentage are placed due to gang involvement.

ORR also uses enhanced safety protocols when determining whether to release a child to a potential sponsor, and does not release children considered to be a threat to the community. There is a robust pre-screening process for potential sponsors that requires background checks and, in some cases, mandatory home studies, before a child is released to the sponsor.

Potential sponsors for unaccompanied children are required to undergo background checks and complete a sponsor assessment process that identifies risk factors and other potential safety concerns. As a part of the release process, all potential sponsors must undergo a criminal public records check and a sex offender registry check. ORR also conducts background checks on adult household members and individuals identified in a potential sponsor's care plan. Additionally, a fingerprint background check is required if there is a documented risk to the safety of the minor, the minor is especially vulnerable, the case is referred for a home study, any other special concern is identified, or the sponsor is not the child's parent or legal guardian. The fingerprints are cross-checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) national criminal history and state repository records, which includes DHS arrest records. ORR also requires a home study before releasing any child to a non-relative sponsor who is seeking to sponsor multiple children, or has previously sponsored or sought to sponsor a child and is seeking to sponsor additional children. ORR requires a home study for children who are 12 years and under before releasing to a non-relative sponsor.

Hi All,

As I anticipated we have received an inquiry from the Washington Post.

Media inquiry came in to ASPA from Washington Post (Maria Sacchetti) asking about UC; story ran today but did not mention these individuals as UC (Suspect in rape at Maryland school was stopped 7 months ago by Border Patrol); her deadline is TODAY.

As of yesterday, we were not able to locate these two names in the UC portal. Henry Sanchez has an additional name of Milian which was not identify earlier and Jose O. Montano has a birthdate of 11/18/1999 which is additional info we did not have on yesterday. Can we confirm that they were not UC in ORR custody?

Query:
I'm trying to find out what happened in the cases of Jose o. Montano 11/18/1999 of El Salvador and Henry E. Sanchez Milian, 18, of Guatemala, who have been accused in this case. ICE says they didn't release them. They're both charged as adults, and Henry, of course, is an adult. I'm trying to find out why HHS released them, how they got into your custody, (if they did) and what checks are in place to background them and their sponsors. Does HHS require the sponsor to take out a formal guardianship in court before handing them over? And does anyone monitor them?

ON BACKGROUND –

Children without parents or other legal guardians apprehended at U.S. borders by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) are transferred to the care and custody of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR). Hi All,

In case you have not heard two Rockville High students were charged with rape and assault on Thursday. (b)(6) one from Honduras and the other from Guatemala. Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student.

According to reports they both entered the U.S. during the summer surge of 2016.

I am anticipating we will get media inquiries on this developing story.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

WASHINGTON — Two Rockville High School students accused of brutally raping a 14-year-old classmate in a school bathroom will stay in jail after a Rockville district court judge ordered the two teens held without bond Friday afternoon.

Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student. WTOP has a policy of not naming minors charged with crimes but Montano is being charged as an adult.

The students were arrested Thursday.

The victim told police she was walking in a school hallway on March 16 at about 9 a.m. when the two male students approached her, according to charging documents. Montano asked her twice to have sex, and after she refused, he forced her into a boys' bathroom and then into a stall, according to police.

The student told police that Montano and Sanchez raped her multiple times, according to the court documents. She cried out in pain and repeatedly told the two students to stop, she told police.

Forensic investigators said an inspection of the boys' bathroom later turned up suspected blood "that may be mixed with male fluid," the court documents stated.

Sanchez and Montano were arrested at school, police said, and have been held since Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement says they have a detainer on Sanchez, a citizen of Guatemala. The agency could not comment on Montano's case since he is a minor.

In a letter to parents, Montgomery County Public Schools said school officials notified police immediately after the student reported the assault to a staff member.

"Ensuring a safe, secure and welcoming learning environment for all of our students is our top priority," school officials said in the letter. "Our staff remains vigilant in the monitoring of our school each and every day. Please remind your child that if they believe they are a victim of an assault or see something inappropriate, they should immediately tell a staff member."

Dear Ms. Carter:

This is a third interim response of the Administration for Children and Families to your December 12, 2017, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request for correspondence from certain named Administration for Children and Families (ACF) employees which included certain specified terms, for the months of March, May, September and October 2017. Specifically, you sought the following items:

1. Correspondence to, from or carbon copied to[1]:

   Jonathan White
   Curi Kim
   Judith Haron
   Anna Marie Bena
   Scott Logan
   Tricia Swartz (Associate Deputy, ORR)

   - "CPC"
   - "ultrasound"
   - "rape"
   - "nonconsensual"
   - "Gestational"
   - "judicial bypass"

[1] The request also sought emails to, from and carbon copying Maggie Wynne and Dr. David Teuscher. However, ACF advised Equity Forward that these individuals work for at the department level and the Office of the Secretary Division of FOI/Privacy has jurisdiction over those records.

Your request was sent to the Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) and the Office of the Chief Information Officer for a search for responsive records. The Office of the Chief Information Officer performed the search and provided 159,000 pages of responsive records.

Following extensive negotiations between the parties, it was agreed that ACF would begin its production by disclosing emails without attachments, after which Equity Forward would choose the attachments it wished to receive. Equity Forward stated that the first records it would like to see are emails sent by Scott Lloyd, Jim De La Cruz and Curi Kim.

Accordingly, please find enclosed 669 pages of responsive records. Approximately 81 additional pages are being sent for consultations to other components within HHS and to entities outside of the Agency and will be returned to ACF for final release determination.

Some of the information on the disclosed pages has been withheld under the FOIA exemptions (b)(5) and (b)(6). The exemption (b)(5) protects inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The exemption protects agency deliberations, both internal and with agency contractors and consultants, attorney-client privileged records and attorney work product. The FOIA exemption (b)(6) permits the withholding of records which, if released, would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Sincerely yours,

Celeste Smith

Email from (b)(6)

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

I am here with the minor in one of the ER rooms and Dr. (b)(6) asked the minor if she is in pain. The minor said her stomach pain was very little.

Dr. (b)(6) stated that they are going to perform an ultrasound and the results will be reviewed by the on call obstetrician.

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.

The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

Email from Geraldo Rivera.

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

Dr. (b)(6) just informed me that as per the ultrasound results, the fetus has a heart beat and is 9 weeks and 1 day.
The medication did not cause spontaneous abortion. The risk is pretty small and there are no signs of miscarriage. (b)(6) may be cramping and vital signs are fine. We are waiting for doctor's documents for release.

Hi Jose-

Thanks for taking my call-

As I stated on the call, the attorney ad litem for the client (b)(6) has a court order for release of information (court # and Case #) from the client's file.

We have advised the attorney Deana Whitley to contact Griselda Ocuna the local federal field specialist who is the local ORR representative and can guide the process and advise the program.

Ms. Whitley did say she has the court order in hand and wants to personally deliver in order to move forward.

(b)(5)

3.4.8 Medical Clearance Prior to Release or Transfer

Unaccompanied children who have serious physical or mental health issues or have had exposure to a communicable disease may not be transferred or moved until they have been medically cleared by a physician or ORR is consulted. Pregnant unaccompanied children should be medically cleared for travel by plane if required by the air carrier (generally, after 36 weeks of pregnancy) or if they delivered within the past 7 days. Children with medical needs must have follow-up services or other arrangements in place prior to their discharge.

Unaccompanied children who need to remain on prescription medication must receive a minimum of a 30 day supply of medication, or the remainder of their medication if on a time-limited course, prior to transfer or release. The unaccompanied child and the accepting care provider (in the case of a transfer) or a sponsor (in the case of release) must be instructed in the proper administration of medications. Care providers may not release unaccompanied children with any narcotic medications. As part of release planning, if an unaccompanied child is on any chronic psychotropic medications, the care provider must address the unaccompanied child's situation, including likelihood of maintaining medications upon release from ORR custody, with the prescribing psychiatrist to determine if medications should be continued or if a period of weaning off the medication is required before release.

Children who are infectious with communicable diseases of public health concern, which have potential to cause outbreaks, will not be released from ORR care until they are non-infectious. However, if an infectious child must be moved internally within a facility, to another facility, or to the hospital, care providers and others having interaction with the child must follow Standard Precautions, depending on the mode of disease transmission (e.g., surgical mask should be worn by children with diseases spread by the respiratory route). The care provider must provide the medical, dental, and mental health records to the unaccompanied child upon release or to the accepting care provider in the event of a transfer.

Subject: Wellness Wednesday: Delayed Releases

FYI: The following email was sent to all programs, as well.

Dear Colleagues,

Today's Wellness Wednesday covers delayed releases for health reasons.

Q: Can a child's release from an ORR care provider program be delayed for a health reason?

A: Yes, an unaccompanied child's release to a sponsor may be delayed for health care under certain circumstances.

Q: Who should be notified if a child's release might be delayed because of a health reason?

A: The care provider or program should notify the Division of Health for Unaccompanied Children (DHUC) at DCSMedical@acf.hhs.gov and the program's FFS when the child is ready for release, but it is felt that the Release Request form cannot be submitted for review because of a health need. Examples of healthcare needs include waiting for a specialty or follow-up visit, obtaining medical clearance for travel, and pending lab results.

Q: Who makes the final determination that release should be delayed for a health reason?

A: DHUC will determine whether a child's release should be delayed for medical, dental, or psychiatric reasons on a case-by-case basis by assessing multiple factors.

Q: What factors are considered by DHUC for delayed release of a child?

A: The primary factors are urgency of the condition and threat to public health.

- Urgency of the condition: The need for an early intervention to relieve distress or to prevent progression of illnesses or conditions that if left untended could reasonably be expected to threaten the child's life or livelihood before he or she reaches adulthood.

- Threat to public health: A child who has a condition that threatens public health will be held in custody until the problem is resolved. In the typical instance, this refers to a contagious disease that requires treatment or isolation until it is noncontagious.

Secondary factors taken into consideration include, but are not limited to, the child's relation to the sponsor, access to specialty care and health insurance in the sponsor's community, continuity of care for completion of treatment that has already started, the extent of delay, and pre-existing conditions. Referral to a specialist alone may not be an approved reason for delay. The underlying problem and the constellation of findings will factor into the decision.

Q: What does DHUC require to make a decision on delaying release?

A: DHUC will need to review the Portal records; please ensure everything, including medical reports and laboratory results, is recorded correctly in the Portal. In addition, DHUC may request additional examinations or consultations for the child on a case-by-case basis.

Q: What are some examples of requests for delayed release that will not be approved?

A: In the following examples, release should not be delayed:

1) Child has a history of a seizure disorder in home country, may or may not be taking medication, has been seizure free for the last year, and is now waiting to see a neurologist.

2) Child sustained extremity injury during the journey from country of origin, was seen by orthopedics, and was told to follow up in 6 weeks.

3) Child reported suicidal ideations and was seen in ER for mental health evaluation. In the assessment, the risk is determined to be minimal. The child is discharged back to program and told to follow up with psychiatrist, but no appointment is available for 6 weeks.

4) Child has developed coughing and congestion, has no fever, and is well-appearing.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

5) Child has been diagnosed with strep throat, has been on antibiotics for 24hrs and is afebrile.

Q: What steps should be taken to ensure that further care for children is received after release, when needed?

A: DHUC can facilitate continuity of care in the sponsor's community when necessary.

Q: After DHUC approves a delayed release, how should I document the delayed release in the Portal?

A: Complete the field, "Release of child from the program delayed because of this diagnosis" on the Case Wrap-Up panel for each selected diagnosis. Select Yes if the child's release was delayed because of the final/discharge diagnosis selected in this Case Wrap-Up panel (an automated notification will be sent to DHUC); select No if not. If the child's release was delayed because of another final/discharge diagnosis, the user should select Yes on the Case Wrap-Up panel associated with that diagnosis. For example, if a child is diagnosed with gastroenteritis and varicella and release is delayed because of the varicella, select No for this question in the gastroenteritis Case Wrap-Up panel and Yes in the varicella Case Wrap-Up panel.

NOTE: Only select Yes if the Release Request Form is ready to be submitted at the time the child was diagnosed with the condition.

2 Rockville High students charged with rape after brutal bathroom assault

http://wtop.com/montgomery-county/2017/03/2-charged-rape-rockville-high-school-bathroom-assault/

WASHINGTON — Two Rockville High School students accused of brutally raping a 14-year-old classmate in a school bathroom will stay in jail after a Rockville district court judge ordered the two teens held without bond Friday afternoon.

Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student. WTOP has a policy of not naming minors charged with crimes but Montano is being charged as an adult.

The students were arrested Thursday.

The victim told police she was walking in a school hallway on March 16 at about 9 a.m. when the two male students approached her, according to charging documents. Montano asked her twice to have sex, and after she refused, he forced her into a boys' bathroom and then into a stall, according to police.

The student told police that Montano and Sanchez raped her multiple times, according to the court documents. She cried out in pain and repeatedly told the two students to stop, she told police.

Forensic investigators said an inspection of the boys' bathroom later turned up suspected blood "that may be mixed with male fluid," the court documents stated.

Sanchez and Montano were arrested at school, police said, and have been held since Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement says they have a detainer on Sanchez, a citizen of Guatemala. The agency could not comment on Montano's case since he is a minor.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

In a letter to parents, Montgomery County Public Schools said school officials notified police immediately after the student reported the assault to a staff member.

“Ensuring a safe, secure and welcoming learning environment for all of our students is our top priority,” school officials said in the letter. “Our staff remains vigilant in the monitoring of our school each and every day. Please remind your child that if they believe they are a victim of an assault or see something inappropriate, they should immediately tell a staff member.”

Ken and I talked last night about written authorization as well. I leave it to you and Ken to figure out how to obtain the right language.

Here are our other next steps:

- We need the Judicial Bypass, which (b)(6) at SWK has committed to Ken to provide.
- We need concurrence as to safety from our medical team. I just got off the phone with them. We are working to get clarity on the intervention plan so that can be evaluated by the medical team. They are working to get more information and I have a next conversation with them at 12:30.

As long as the SIR and Health tab has all the relevant information, the FFS doesn't need to spend time writing a lengthy memo like they used to. If federal funds are to be used, medical officer will complete the simple template memo for OD.

Just including ACF folks on this email chain.

This got confusing since we weren't in the office and Janell isn't here anymore – she was handling all the termination requests – and because I don't think the Ops Guide for Family Planning has been finalized.

Now that we're back in the office, we're looking at the hard copies of the last several termination memos that were signed by OD; I see that we should be following the last version of the Ops Guide (see attached). I reached out to Shannon (not to be confused with Shaanan) about the status of the Family Planning Ops Guide and she said it's with Policy (so none of us has a final version). It seems that even though the Family Planning Ops Guide is not official and apparently not widely circulated (since it's not cleared), Janell was coordinating with FFSs to handle each termination memo as they occurred.

I have cut and pasted the relevant section from the unofficial Ops Guide (I accepted track changed because otherwise it's too messy to read) below. Again, see attachment if you want to review the track changes version – FFS memo is no longer required per edits/comment. For the hard copy packet that Bob will sign off on, note that we did use most of the language in the FFS memo – we just re-purposed the document as "clinical summary" (changing it from memo format) as supporting documentation.

CARE PROVIDER

1) IMMEDIATELY, BUT NO LATER THAN FOUR (4) HOURS after a UC requests to terminate her pregnancy, completes an SIR following procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 5.7.3 Significant Incidents and copies the Medical Team at DCSMedical@acf.hhs.gov on the SIR notification. The SIR must include the following information:

   - Current gestational age of the pregnancy
   - Any known complications identified by the medical professional
   - Date of the request for termination of pregnancy and to whom the request was made
   - The name and location of the clinic, hospital, or office where the pregnancy termination will occur
   - Whether parental consent or notification was made, or whether a judicial bypass has been or will be sought, if required under state law (the disbursement of federal funds will be contingent on meeting the requirement of state law)
   - Reason why federal funds are being requested, if applicable
   - Nature of urgent request (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), if applicable
   - Any other relevant information[SH1]
   - If any of this information is not available, the care provider will note in the SIR what information is pending and when the information is expected to be available. Missing information must be documented in an SIR Addendum immediately upon receipt.

   NOTE: If the care provider is unable to coordinate pregnancy termination services or services are unavailable in the region, the care provider must immediately notify the FFS. In coordination with the FFS, the care provider must initiate a transfer to a care provider that is able to coordinate services and that is located in a region where services are available following transfer procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 1.2 Transfers within the ORR Care Provider Network.

2) Makes parental notification, seeks parental consent, or seeks a judicial bypass, as required under state law. Care provider should seek the assistance of the legal service provider or attorney of record during this process.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2) After submitting the SIR, responds to requests from ORR for information and updates as soon as possible, but within four (4) hours of the request.

3) Consults with the Medical Team to immediately schedule the appropriate consultations with medical providers and the pregnancy termination procedure. The pregnancy termination procedure must be scheduled to occur no sooner than 72 hours after submission of the SIR. This should happen concurrently with the process to request federal funds for the pregnancy termination including obtaining a Physician's Certification, if applicable (see below).

4) Makes arrangements to transport the UC to the pregnancy termination procedure.

5) Submits SIR Addendums and adds documentation in the UC Portal Medical Module as appropriate.

Requesting Federal Funding for a Pregnancy Termination

Federal funds are available to pay for an abortion if:

- • The pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest; or
- • In the case where a woman suffers from a physical disorder, physical injury, or physical illness, including a life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would, as certified by a physician, place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed.

CARE PROVIDER

WITHIN 24 HOURS of determining the termination would qualify for federal funding, sends an email notification to the Medical Team, with a copy to the FFS and CFS, as follows:

To:	Medical Team
Cc:	FFS and CFS
Subject Line:	"Request for Federal Funds for Pregnancy Termination"

Body:	• UC's name and A #
	• Reason why federal funds are being requested:
	  ○ An act of rape
	  ○ An act of incest
	  ○ Life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed
	• Any other relevant information

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Attachments:	• SIR • SIR Addendums • Signed Understanding Your Options handout • Clinical notes (if requesting federal funds for an act of rape or incest) • Physician's Certification (if requesting federal funds for a life-endangering physical condition)

URGENT REQUESTS FOR A FEDERALLY-FUNDED PREGNANCY TERMINATION

If the request is urgent (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), the care provider must send the above notification IMMEDIATELY upon determining the termination would qualify for federal funding. ORR will expedite the approval process for pregnancy termination using federal funds for urgent requests.

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 24 HOURS of receiving the care provider's email notification, reviews the attached supporting documentation, , completes the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, and routes the memo and supporting documentation to the DCS Director for approval.

DCS DIRECTOR

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the memo and supporting documentation, reviews and signs the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo and routes the signed memo to the Medical Team and copies the FFS and CFS.

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the signed Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, notifies the care provider of the DCS Director's decision.

Good morning and Happy Thanksgiving -
Just to close the loop of communication for this morning. I just spoke with Teresa Brooks, the on-call supervisor for the FFS team who is covering for the holiday to see where we stand with this case and timeline for the memo's. Given the fact that the minor is being transferred Friday to Chicago and any procedure would not be until Monday, this has become urgent and not emergent for today's business and the skeleton staff. The Medical Team (me) and FFS staff (Teresa) will be working on drafting our respective memo's for the Termination over the next 24hrs with it being the first item of business Friday AM to get the needed signatures from headquarters.

I hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday - if there are any problems or urgent medical issues, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Thank you for asking us about how to document in the Portal; this is a tricky one.

One problem is that the previous shelter didn't document her healthcare visits exploring termination in the right place to begin with.

<image004.jpg>

As you can see, the 11/14 visits should have been entered as "Update Visits" to the IME because the condition of pregnancy was first identified during the IME and thus is not a new diagnosis. (When the data is pulled from the Portal, it'll just look like she somehow was pregnant twice.)

Anyway, in your case, to document correctly, please add an Update Visit under the IME. Under the Outcome of the Evaluation section, select "A complication or secondary condition was diagnosed" and a list of diagnoses will appear; click on the Genito-urinary/Reproductive category and select "Elective abortion" for the first Update Visit. For the second and third Update Visits, select "Condition or symptoms related to initial complaint." We don't want to select "Elective abortion" as a diagnosis for the second and third visits as then it will look like she had three abortions when we pull the data from the Portal.

Hope this makes sense.

Let you know if you have any questions!

Monica, attached is the Parental Notification waiver letter. As discussed, please have the SWK case managers obtain a signature from the mother and then scan it back to me before Monday.

I also have a few questions about documentation:

1. How should we document the procedure in the Medical section of the Portal? Anything specific that we should include?

2. Should we email about the DCS Medical Team about the procedure?

3. Do we need to complete an SIR as well?

Hi Monica,

Yes, we can accept this minor at CHAP on Friday. Please have the SWK team contact Esmeralda regarding the travel information for this transfer.

I have contacted Family Planning Associates, which is able to terminate pregnancies up to 23.3 weeks. The procedure involves 3-6 hour appointments for 3 consecutive days and we are able to make appointments staring on Monday, 11/28/16. Please note that if Family Planning Associates determines that she is beyond 23 weeks, then we will continue pre-natal care at CHAP and counsel her on other options, including adoption.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need any additional information.

Subject: Transfer of UC with Medical Urgency: (b)(6)
Importance: High

Hello Diane,

Thank you for accepting the above UC into the CHAP program. As discussed, please find attached the SIRs for the above UC who has requested to terminate her pregnancy due to being raped. We are looking to transfer her by Friday, November 25th. Program has received approval for UC to terminate the pregnancy from FFS Supervisor Jim De La Cruz and ORR Medical Team.

Below is a synopsis from the medical team at SWK:

1)I called OB's office for further clarification and confirmation since there is a discrepancy on number of weeks gestation. She was 19 weeks gestation on 11/14/16. Reason for discrepancy: The minor disclosed during IME on 11/11/16 to shelter medical provider that her LMP had been 10/28/16, but per OB's office staff and OB's Progress Notes, minor stated LMP had been 7/03/2016. She also had an ultrasound done the day of visit 11/14/16, which was also used to estimate fetus' gestational age of 19 weeks on 11/14/16. Full Progress Notes were faxed to us today confirming his information.

2) Per her OB/GYN, she informed me today that she does not counsel either way (for/against) when a client discloses they wish to terminate pregnancy, nor do they refer them elsewhere. The client will have to do this on their own. In our minor's case, I will find a different place to refer minor to ASAP so that risks of procedure and options are discussed with the minor. I will also consult with Clinical Dept. on this.

3) Mother has been notified and is supportive.

4)Minor is aware of options and risks.

In terms of Family Reunification-this is a CAT1-with mother in Iowa.

Program is currently working on the transfer packet.

Thank you,

Monica Gonzalez, MPA

Thank you so much for the update (b)(6) I will talk to (b)(6) to update him as well. This sounds so weird to me, filing under another name… but this is something for attorneys to decide, I believe.

Unfortunately I don't see us with much time in our hands and maybe the work now would be towards supporting this youth into a disclose to (b)(6) If she cannot have a termination here, her only chance would be to be released sooner than later to have (b)(6) and child advocate helping her outside of ORR. Easy said than done, I know. And I know, (b)(6) is probably having to move at this point and he is young… and support from this uncle seems a little off at this time.

We will discuss more of course. I will let you know if (b)(6) says anything different.

Thanks again (b)(6) You are handling this like a pro!

We just received word from the lawyers at court that the judge denied the request for a re-file. The lawyers had suggested filing under a different name, address, or county court.
They also suggested that the child advocate at the young center check to see if they could file with the Federal Court.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We are checking in with the young center to see if this is possible. The client still does not want to leave without the abortion. She has told me that she doesn't feel comfortable leaving still being pregnant. I should have an answer tomorrow from the young center, and also the results from the psychological evaluation.

I spoke with the HS provider today as well, and she has concerns about additional household members, and the uncle is refusing to provide information. Therefore the (b)(6) is looking for another apartment for him and the client. During the interview with the HS provider, the provider stated that the client needs to disclose the information to her (b)(6) about her current situation, and it would be very important for her case.

Any other updates I'll keep you posted, let me know if you have questions or if something isn't clear.

Thank you,

Good Afternoon,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I just spoke with the attorney Anne Williams. She has filed for a new trial for (b)(6) last Monday 2/6/2017. She stated that the judge has had it on his desk for a week, but still has not given a new court hearing yet. The judge officially has 60 days to accept for a new trial, however Anne Williams stated that the judge is aware of the urgency of the situation. The client only has up until the 16th week with Planned Parenthood(this week), and may even be reunified before the 60 days.
The attorney will be speaking with the judge today to let them know that we need to have an answer by this Wednesday on whether the judge will set a new court date or not.

Meanwhile, the child advocate will be meeting with (b)(6) this Wednesday morning. The Home study is in process and is expected to be closed on 2/20/2017 with the report. The psychological evaluation will be finished tomorrow.

I have been looking into other clinics that can also do the procedure:

Acaia Women's Center – Surgical abortion up to 17 weeks in the facility.

Desert Star Familly Planning – Surgical abortion up to 23 weeks of pregnancy

Thank you,

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons
2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Good Morning Shaanan,

The law confirms the gestational age in Arizona below:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Prohibiting Abortions Past 20 Weeks of Pregnancy (A.R.S. § 36-2159) – Prohibits abortions past 20 weeks gestation, except in the case of a medical emergency.†

The sponsor for this minor is in Florida, and the status of reunification is pending the medical condition of the client. All other documentation has been provided by the sponsor for reunification.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Thank you,

Subject: Arizona Laws regarding abortion

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons
2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Good Morning Shaanan,

The law confirms the gestational age in Arizona below:
Prohibiting Abortions Past 20 Weeks of Pregnancy (A.R.S. § 36-2159) – Prohibits abortions past 20 weeks gestation, except in the case of a medical emergency.†

The sponsor for this minor is in Florida, and the status of reunification is pending the medical condition of the client. All other documentation has been provided by the sponsor for reunification.

Thank you,

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Thank you,

Subject: Arizona Laws regarding abortion

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.
•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons
2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

She wants to appeal the Judge's decision, I have emailed the lawyers assigned to her and have not heard back.

My concern is the timeliness of this issue

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons
2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Thank you,

Since the judge denied the judicial bypass, did the minor speak with her parents about her pregnancy over the weekend? Did the parents consent?

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.
•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.
•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons
2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.
•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.
•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1)
The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons

The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide;
2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)

I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy

3)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady

4)
The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion

an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1)
The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons

The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide;
2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)

I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy

3)
I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady

4)
The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Parental Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2152) – Requires parental consent for minors seeking abortions but allows for judicial bypass. Requires the parental consent to be obtained on a form to ensure that parents are informed of all of the medical

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

risks of abortion before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

•Fiduciaries (Arizona Code of Jud.
Admin. § 7-202) – Fiduciaries may not consent to abortion for a ward without a court order.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1)
The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons

The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide;
2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)

I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy

3)
I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady

4)
The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1)
The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide;
2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)

I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy

3)
I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady

4)
The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age.
Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

risks of abortion before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

•Fiduciaries (Arizona Code of Jud. Admin. § 7-202) – Fiduciaries may not consent to abortion for a ward without a court order.

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Subject: Arizona Laws regarding abortion

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

risks of abortion before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Hello Team

From my experience working with this UC, I am NOT feeling that she has developmental delays

She was nervous in court and felt intimidated, this may the reason for her lack or articulation with the judge

Also, keep in mind she has only a 3rd grade education

I am feeling that it is these two reasons that she is struggling to articulate, not a development delay

I am not a psychologist so I wouldn't object to psychological testing to make the determination

Subject: Termination of Pregnancy request

Good afternoon,

We will be cancelling the conference call for this afternoon. After a conversation with Jim De La Cruz as to the best way forward with this case we have decided the following:

1) The judge called into question this minor's capacity for medical decision making and the field staff and shelter staff have noted that she is "delayed". As I have done in prior complex cases that involve a serious medical procedure, we are requesting that this minor undergo formal evaluation by a psychologist to assess her mental capacity in the next few days. If it is determined that she is significantly delayed and with cognitive impairment, that will raise the issue whether or not we can override her legal right to confidentiality in not disclosing to her parents and getting parental consent for termination about her pregnancy as it will put her life in danger for various reasons

2) The sponsor needs to have an expedited in depth home study for a number of reasons – 1) the possibility that his younger sister has a developmental delay and she will require more support than he might be able to provide; 2) the possibility that he would have to care for her if we were to release her being pregnant if she agrees to disclose her pregnancy to him; 3) to ensure the minor's safety with the (b)(6)
   I have cc'd Gail Houppert who directs the Home studies and PRS to ensure that this home study is expedited given the time sensitivity with this young lady advancing in her pregnancy
3) I am requesting that the FFS identify a possible OB practice in the sponsor's community in advance in the event that we come to the conclusion that we will discharge this young lady
4) The shelter staff and case management staff should continue to work with the minor to help understand her situation and the importance of disclosing her medical condition to her parents or (b)(6)

   I would like to raise one additional curveball, that if she is discharged to her (b)(6) and was willing to disclose her pregnancy to her (b)(6) but not her parents, that in some states (I don't know the laws in Florida) that still would not suffice for consent.

I think it is important that we set a firm deadline for ourselves to have these tasks accomplished given the fact that she is 13 weeks pregnant and state laws limit procedures passed a certain gestational age. Please respond with updates to the FFS Wilfred Calero on all of these matters by 2/10. The Medical Team will be happy to consult once we have a more complete picture of the situation.

Thank you for your time and help on this case.

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

To be clear – if I told you that the minor was medically stable for discharge, then she could be discharged to her sponsor?
Who is the sponsor and where do they reside?

Good Morning Shaanan,

The law confirms the gestational age in Arizona below:
Prohibiting Abortions Past 20 Weeks of Pregnancy (A.R.S. § 36-2159) – Prohibits abortions past 20 weeks gestation, except in the case of a medical emergency.†

The sponsor for this minor is in Florida, and the status of reunification is pending the medical condition of the client. All other documentation has been provided by the sponsor for reunification.

Thank you,

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

She wants to appeal the Judge's decision, I have emailed the lawyers assigned to her and have not heard back.

My concern is the timeliness of this issue

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

•Fiduciaries (Arizona Code of Jud. Admin. § 7-202) – Fiduciaries may not consent to abortion for a ward without a court order.

I think what she wants is notice so that everyone is on same page and so that if CC is opposed we dont go throught the back and forth of program submitting CC putting in a recommendation that is opposed and then me getting involved and reversing it.

What she wants is communication we all agree then we all move forward without the mess. The real problem is that (b)(6) communication seems like program needs her permission which is not the case. Message is correct but her delivery is poor. Ill talk to her.

I have to ask, because as far as I know, the case coordinators do not need to be doing this, the program can submit their own independent recommendation regardless of what the CC believes. So not sure why she's asking for the CM to staff this case with her when obviously the program has made their recommendation.?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I think what she wants is notice so that everyone is on same page and so that if CC is opposed we dont go throught the back and forth of program submitting CC putting in a recommendation that is opposed and then me getting involved and reversing it.

What she wants is communication we all agree then we all move forward without the mess. The real problem is that (b)(6) communication seems like program needs her permission which is not the case. Message is correct but her delivery is poor. Ill talk to her.

Good morning Will,

I have to ask, because as far as I know, the case coordinators do not need to be doing this, the program can submit their own independent recommendation regardless of what the CC believes. So not sure why she's asking for the CM to staff this case with her when obviously the program has made their recommendation.?

Good Afternoon Shaanan,

The sponsor is (b)(6) (b)(6) If the minor was indeed medically stable for discharge, we could of course discharge the minor to the sponsor. However, the sponsor would still be unaware of the client being pregnant from being sexually assaulted, and wanting an abortion. Therefore, the sponsor would not be prepared for the release of the minor, and possible withdrawal from being a sponsor. Further assessment is still needed at this time to ensure a safe release of the minor.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Good Morning!

As previously staffed with our leadership, it was determined that the notarized letter from the parents would not be sufficient for the termination to take place. The client may be open to speaking with her mother if we were able to obtain permission to proceed with the notarized letter of consent from the mother in home country.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

However, as I am under the assumption that we would only be able to proceed with the termination once we appealed to the court to obtain the judicial bypass because the mother would not be able to attend the abortion procedure.

As the clinician has stated below, that the client does not feel comfortable informing her family, and would like to appeal. Please let me know if there are any questions.

Subject: Arizona Laws regarding abortion

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Wilfred,

Apparently what has happened in the past with the other SWK program in Arizona where an FFS signed for consent was not the right process. In the State of Arizona, a judicial bypass needs to be attained for this minor to have a termination without the consent of her parents. You should have a local legal aid group who can help facilitate this process.

Thank you.

Also, if this minor will be terminating her pregnancy, there is no need to perform Zika Testing.

Just confirming that Wilfred is on board with the plan to be present at the clinic to sign consent since the minor requires consent in the State of Arizona and she does not want to disclose to her family.

As soon as I get the US, I will have the ORR director review the request and when I have an answer, will let you know.

Good afternoon,

CM (b)(6) attended an informational session at Planned Parenthood today with minor (b)(6) (b)(6) (b)(6) A# (b)(6) regarding termination of pregnancy.

During this visit, it was noted that the current gestational age is 13 weeks and 3 days.

Being that the gestational age exceeds 9 weeks, minor will have to receive a surgical abortion.

The cost for the termination will be $725.

The program will cover these costs on the day of the procedure.

There also may be an additional fee of $95 if the client had an RH- blood type.

At this time, ORR Medical is going by the last statement provided by the client, that the pregnancy was a result of rape.

With that being said, the procedure would be eligible for federal funding.

Dr. Meyerstein with ORR Medical called me earlier today.

He informed me that he was working on a memo that would be signed by the ORR director.

This memo would be signed and sent back stating that federal funding.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I have been in contact with the LMCs from other facilities that were more familiar with this process.

I was informed that the FFS was the one who signed the parental consent (as legal guardian).

Once the parental consent is signed, it needs to be notarized.

FFS would then have to be present at Planned Parenthood the day of the procedure.

The surgical termination does not require any follow up visits.

An informational form was provided stating the risks of the procedure.

Detailed instructions were also provided for the day of the procedure.

I spoke with (b)(6) Vice President with Patient Services.

He informed me that the following items will need to be provided the day of the procedure:

1. SWK Demographic sheet

2. ORR placement and medical authorization forms

3. Required parental consent

    a. Signed and notarized

4. Payment

Per my conversation with (b)(6) the minor still expressed desire to terminate the pregnancy.

At the time of visit, an appointment was set for the procedure.

Appointment is set for Friday 1/27/2017 at 7:30 AM.

Can you please send me the US results? I don't see any US that was performed today…
Also, if this minor will be terminating her pregnancy, there is no need to perform Zika Testing.
Just confirming that Wilfred is on board with the plan to be present at the clinic to sign consent since the minor requires consent in the State of Arizona and she does not want to disclose to her family.
As soon as I get the US, I will have the ORR director review the request and when I have an answer, will let you know.
Thank you.

Subject: Minor seeking TOP

Good afternoon,

CM (b)(6) attended an informational session at Planned Parenthood today with minor (b)(6) (b)(6) (b)(6) A# (b)(6) regarding termination of pregnancy.

During this visit, it was noted that the current gestational age is 13 weeks and 3 days.

Being that the gestational age exceeds 9 weeks, minor will have to receive a surgical abortion.

The cost for the termination will be $725.

The program will cover these costs on the day of the procedure.

There also may be an additional fee of $95 if the client had an RH- blood type.

At this time, ORR Medical is going by the last statement provided by the client, that the pregnancy was a result of rape.

With that being said, the procedure would be eligible for federal funding.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dr. Meyerstein with ORR Medical called me earlier today.

He informed me that he was working on a memo that would be signed by the ORR director.

This memo would be signed and sent back stating that federal funding.

I have been in contact with the LMCs from other facilities that were more familiar with this process.

I was informed that the FFS was the one who signed the parental consent (as legal guardian).

Once the parental consent is signed, it needs to be notarized.

FFS would then have to be present at Planned Parenthood the day of the procedure.

The surgical termination does not require any follow up visits.

An informational form was provided stating the risks of the procedure.

Detailed instructions were also provided for the day of the procedure.

I spoke with (b)(6) Vice President with Patient Services.

He informed me that the following items will need to be provided the day of the procedure:

1. SWK Demographic sheet

2. ORR placement and medical authorization forms

3. Required parental consent

a. Signed and notarized

4. Payment

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Per my conversation with (b)(6) the minor still expressed desire to terminate the pregnancy.

At the time of visit, an appointment was set for the procedure.

Appointment is set for Friday 1/27/2017 at 7:30 AM.

If you have any additional questions, don't hesitate to contact me.

Thank you,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hi Will,

The client (b)(6) was sexually assaulted in COO. Please see attached SIR for more information and the client is now requesting an abortion. The following is the plan provided by two different clinics, and the Arizona laws for abortion. CM and CL are requesting authorization to have the procedure of abortion for this client.

Clinic Planned Parenthood:

An initial appointment would be made for the above client. She would receive an ultra sound to confirm the exact age of the fetus, and a counseling session to advise the client on additional options regarding abortion, adoption, foster care, etc. The abortion can happen up until the 16th week of the pregnancy at this clinic, however, the older the fetus the more expensive the procedure will cost. The initial appointment will cost $80. The client will be seen within 24 hours for the actual abortion. As the cost ranges based on how far along the fetus is at the time of the abortion, CM was unable to determine the actual cost. However, the client can apply for additional funds to have this cost reduced. After disclosing for the second appointment that her parents would be unable to attend, that we as legal guardians could attend with client, they stated that we would need to provide documentation of proof that we are legal guardians.

Clinic Desert Star Family Planning:

An initial appointment would include the ultrasound, counseling session and cost $50. The second visit would cost $510.00 and would be within 24 hours that the procedure would take place. This clinic stated that the client could take two pills if she was not already 11 weeks. They can proceed up until 23 weeks and the cost would remain the same of a total of $560.00. The clinic works with NNAF for additional funds for low to no income patients, however NNAF have an automated message (1/6/2017) stating that they are out of funds until February 1st.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Arizona law requires that women under 18 years old seeking an abortion must either have the notarized written permission of one of their parents/legal guardian or permission from a Superior Court Judge.

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Parental Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2152) – Requires parental consent for minors seeking abortions but allows for judicial bypass. Requires the parental consent to be obtained on a form to ensure that parents are informed of all of the medical risks of abortion before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

Subject: Kokopelli: Abortion request for (b)(6) A# (b)(6)

Hi Will,

The client (b)(6) was sexually assaulted in COO. Please see attached SIR for more information and the client is now requesting an abortion. The following is the plan provided by two different clinics, and the Arizona laws for abortion. CM and CL are requesting authorization to have the procedure of abortion for this client.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Clinic Planned Parenthood:

An initial appointment would be made for the above client. She would receive an ultra sound to confirm the exact age of the fetus, and a counseling session to advise the client on additional options regarding abortion, adoption, foster care, etc. The abortion can happen up until the 16th week of the pregnancy at this clinic, however, the older the fetus the more expensive the procedure will cost. The initial appointment will cost $80. The client will be seen within 24 hours for the actual abortion. As the cost ranges based on how far along the fetus is at the time of the abortion, CM was unable to determine the actual cost. However, the client can apply for additional funds to have this cost reduced. After disclosing for the second appointment that her parents would be unable to attend, that we as legal guardians could attend with client, they stated that we would need to provide documentation of proof that we are legal guardians.

Clinic Desert Star Family Planning:

An initial appointment would include the ultrasound, counseling session and cost $50. The second visit would cost $510.00 and would be within 24 hours that the procedure would take place. This clinic stated that the client could take two pills if she was not already 11 weeks. They can proceed up until 23 weeks and the cost would remain the same of a total of $560.00. The clinic works with NNAF for additional funds for low to no income patients, however NNAF have an automated message (1/6/2017) stating that they are out of funds until February 1st.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

•Parental Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2152) – Requires parental consent for minors seeking abortions but allows for judicial bypass. Requires the parental consent to be obtained on a form to ensure that parents are informed of all of the medical risks of abortion before giving consent. Requires parental consent to be notarized. Allows parents to sue (1) an abortion provider who performs an abortion on their minor daughter without parental consent or (2) any person who assists a minor in obtaining an abortion without parental consent.

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

•Fiduciaries (Arizona Code of Jud. Admin. § 7-202) – Fiduciaries may not consent to abortion for a ward without a court order.

The client (b)(6) was sexually assaulted in COO. Please see attached SIR for more information and the client is now requesting an abortion. The following is the plan provided by two different clinics, and the Arizona laws for abortion. CM and CL are requesting authorization to have the procedure of abortion for this client.

Clinic Planned Parenthood:
An initial appointment would be made for the above client. She would receive an ultra sound to confirm the exact age of the fetus, and a counseling session to advise the client on additional options regarding abortion, adoption, foster care, etc. The abortion can happen up until the 16th week of the pregnancy at this clinic, however, the older the fetus the more expensive the procedure will cost. The initial appointment will cost $80. The client will be seen within 24 hours for the actual abortion. As the cost ranges based on how far along the fetus is at the time of the abortion, CM was unable to determine the actual cost. However, the client can apply for additional funds to have this cost reduced. After disclosing for the second appointment that her parents would be unable to attend, that we as legal guardians could attend with client, they stated that we would need to provide documentation of proof that we are legal guardians.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Clinic Desert Star Family Planning:
An initial appointment would include the ultrasound, counseling session and cost $50. The second visit would cost $510.00 and would be within 24 hours that the procedure would take place. This clinic stated that the client could take two pills if she was not already 11 weeks. They can proceed up until 23 weeks and the cost would remain the same of a total of $560.00. The clinic works with NNAF for additional funds for low to no income patients, however NNAF have an automated message (1/6/2017) stating that they are out of funds until February 1st.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent
•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.
•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.
•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.
•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Ivonne,

This is the case I spoke to you about last week. Program is working with ORR HQ to coordinate a plan and provide the UC with requested medical termination of her pregnancy.

Was not sure if you wanted me to send to Jim directly or if you wanted to review and staff prior to the send up. The appointment for the procedure has not been scheduled as of yet.

An initial appointment would include the ultrasound, counseling session and cost $50. The second visit would cost $510.00 and would be within 24 hours that the procedure would take place. This clinic stated that the client could take two pills if she was not already 11 weeks. They can proceed up until 23 weeks and the cost would remain the same of a total of $560.00. The clinic works with NNAF for additional funds for low to no income patients, however NNAF have an automated message (1/6/2017) stating that they are out of funds until February 1st.

AZ Laws regarding Abortion:

Ensuring Adequate Consent

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

•Informed Consent (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Information must be provided 24 hours in advance to a woman seeking an abortion about the risks and alternatives of the procedure, the probable gestational age and physiological characteristics of the preborn child, and the services available from public and private agencies to assist during pregnancy and after birth. Requires that the information is provided at an in-person consultation with a doctor. Allows a woman to file a lawsuit against an abortion provider who fails to obtain informed consent. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about fetal development, the risks of abortion, and information about alternatives to abortion.

•Informed Consent for Lethal Condition (A.R.S. § 36-2158) – When a woman discovers that her child may have a life-threatening birth defect or other fetal condition, information must be provided 24 hours in advance about the support that is available to her, including perinatal hospice. Requires the Department of Health Services to create and maintain a website providing unbiased information about perinatal hospice and assistance available for children with special needs.

•Opportunity to View Ultrasound (A.R.S. § 36-2156) – Requires an ultrasound to be performed at least 24 hours before every abortion, and a woman seeking abortion must be offered the opportunity to view the ultrasound and hear the baby's heartbeat, if audible.

•Coercion Prohibited (A.R.S. § 36-2153) – Prohibits a person from intimidating or coercing another person into having an abortion and allows minors to obtain public assistance benefits if parents cut off financial support because the minor refuses to have an abortion. Requires that all abortion clinics conspicuously post signs that state it is unlawful for any person to intimidate or coerce another person into having an abortion.

•Foster Parents (A.R.S. § 8-514.05) – Foster parents may not consent to abortion for a foster child.

•Fiduciaries (Arizona Code of Jud.
Admin. § 7-202) – Fiduciaries may not consent to abortion for a ward without a court order.

2 Rockville High students charged with rape after brutal bathroom assault

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

http://wtop.com/montgomery-county/2017/03/2-charged-rape-rockville-high-school-bathroom-assault/

WASHINGTON — Two Rockville High School students accused of brutally raping a 14-year-old classmate in a school bathroom will stay in jail after a Rockville district court judge ordered the two teens held without bond Friday afternoon.

Henry Sanchez, 18, of the Aspen Hill neighborhood of Rockville, Maryland, and Jose Montano, 17, have been charged with first-degree rape and two counts of first-degree sexual offense in the violent assault of the female student. WTOP has a policy of not naming minors charged with crimes but Montano is being charged as an adult.

The students were arrested Thursday.

The victim told police she was walking in a school hallway on March 16 at about 9 a.m. when the two male students approached her, according to charging documents. Montano asked her twice to have sex, and after she refused, he forced her into a boys' bathroom and then into a stall, according to police.

The student told police that Montano and Sanchez raped her multiple times, according to the court documents. She cried out in pain and repeatedly told the two students to stop, she told police.

Forensic investigators said an inspection of the boys' bathroom later turned up suspected blood "that may be mixed with male fluid," the court documents stated.

Sanchez and Montano were arrested at school, police said, and have been held since Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement says they have a detainer on Sanchez, a citizen of Guatemala. The agency could not comment on Montano's case since he is a minor.

In a letter to parents, Montgomery County Public Schools said school officials notified police immediately after the student reported the assault to a staff member.

"Ensuring a safe, secure and welcoming learning environment for all of our students is our top priority," school officials said in the letter. "Our staff remains vigilant in the monitoring of our school each and every day. Please remind your child that if they believe they are a victim of an assault or see something inappropriate, they should immediately tell a staff member."

No, I don't think we need to include the DOD file—it was just already in the zip file and I wasn't sure how to delete it.
We don't have any real background on the case in question—that's just the context in which we were forwarded the email from Curi Kim to the FFS team—which I think is the best evidence we have that the draft policy was being followed by Medical Team and staff. The case it was provided in is one we don't know much about.

As long as the SIR and Health tab has all the relevant information, the FFS doesn't need to spend time writing a lengthy memo like they used to. If federal funds are to be used, medical officer will complete the simple template memo for OD.

Just including ACF folks on this email chain.

This got confusing since we weren't in the office and Janell isn't here anymore – she was handling all the termination requests – and because I don't think the Ops Guide for Family Planning has been finalized.

Now that we're back in the office, we're looking at the hard copies of the last several termination memos that were signed by OD; I see that we should be following the last version of the Ops Guide (see attached). I reached out to Shannon (not to be confused with Shaanan) about the status of the Family Planning Ops Guide and she said it's with Policy (so none of us has a final version). It seems that even though the Family Planning Ops Guide is not official and apparently not widely circulated (since it's not cleared), Janell was coordinating with FFSs to handle each termination memo as they occurred.

I have cut and pasted the relevant section from the unofficial Ops Guide (I accepted track changed because otherwise it's too messy to read) below. Again, see attachment if you want to review the track changes version – FFS memo is no longer required per edits/comment. For the hard copy packet that Bob will sign off on, note that we did use most of the language in the FFS memo – we just re-purposed the document as "clinical summary" (changing it from memo format) as supporting documentation.

CARE PROVIDER

1) IMMEDIATELY, BUT NO LATER THAN FOUR (4) HOURS after a UC requests to terminate her pregnancy, completes an SIR following procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 5.7.3 Significant Incidents and copies the Medical Team at DCSMedical@acf.hhs.gov on the SIR notification. The SIR must include the following information:
    - Current gestational age of the pregnancy
    - Any known complications identified by the medical professional
    - Date of the request for termination of pregnancy and to whom the request was made
    - The name and location of the clinic, hospital, or office where the pregnancy termination will occur
    - Whether parental consent or notification was made, or whether a judicial bypass has been or will be sought, if required under state law (the disbursement of federal funds will be contingent on meeting the requirement of state law)
    - Reason why federal funds are being requested, if applicable
    - Nature of urgent request (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), if applicable

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Any other relevant information[SH1]
- If any of this information is not available, the care provider will note in the SIR what information is pending and when the information is expected to be available. Missing information must be documented in an SIR Addendum immediately upon receipt.

NOTE: If the care provider is unable to coordinate pregnancy termination services or services are unavailable in the region, the care provider must immediately notify the FFS. In coordination with the FFS, the care provider must initiate a transfer to a care provider that is able to coordinate services and that is located in a region where services are available following transfer procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 1.2 Transfers within the ORR Care Provider Network.

2) Makes parental notification, seeks parental consent, or seeks a judicial bypass, as required under state law. Care provider should seek the assistance of the legal service provider or attorney of record during this process.

2) After submitting the SIR, responds to requests from ORR for information and updates as soon as possible, but within four (4) hours of the request.

3) Consults with the Medical Team to immediately schedule the appropriate consultations with medical providers and the pregnancy termination procedure. The pregnancy termination procedure must be scheduled to occur no sooner than 72 hours after submission of the SIR. This should happen concurrently with the process to request federal funds for the pregnancy termination including obtaining a Physician's Certification, if applicable (see below).

4) Makes arrangements to transport the UC to the pregnancy termination procedure.

5) Submits SIR Addendums and adds documentation in the UC Portal Medical Module as appropriate.

Requesting Federal Funding for a Pregnancy Termination

Federal funds are available to pay for an abortion if:

- • The pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest; or
- • In the case where a woman suffers from a physical disorder, physical injury, or physical illness, including a life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would, as certified by a physician, place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CARE PROVIDER

WITHIN 24 HOURS of determining the termination would qualify for federal funding, sends an email notification to the Medical Team, with a copy to the FFS and CFS, as follows:

To:	Medical Team
Cc:	FFS and CFS
Subject Line:	"Request for Federal Funds for Pregnancy Termination"

Body:	• UC's name and A #
	• Reason why federal funds are being requested:
	  ○ An act of rape
	  ○ An act of incest
	  ○ Life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed
	• Any other relevant information

Attachments:	• SIR • SIR Addendums • Signed Understanding Your Options handout • Clinical notes (if requesting federal funds for an act of rape or incest) • Physician's Certification (if requesting federal funds for a life-endangering physical condition)

URGENT REQUESTS FOR A FEDERALLY-FUNDED PREGNANCY TERMINATION

If the request is urgent (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), the care provider must send the above notification IMMEDIATELY upon determining the termination would qualify for federal funding. ORR will expedite the approval process for pregnancy termination using federal funds for urgent requests.

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 24 HOURS of receiving the care provider's email notification, reviews the attached supporting documentation, , completes the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, and routes the memo and supporting documentation to the DCS Director for approval.

DCS DIRECTOR

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the memo and supporting documentation, reviews and signs the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo and routes the signed memo to the Medical Team and copies the FFS and CFS.

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the signed Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, notifies the care provider of the DCS Director's decision.

Good morning and Happy Thanksgiving -

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Just to close the loop of communication for this morning. I just spoke with Teresa Brooks, the on-call supervisor for the FFS team who is covering for the holiday to see where we stand with this case and timeline for the memo's. Given the fact that the minor is being transferred Friday to Chicago and any procedure would not be until Monday, this has become urgent and not emergent for today's business and the skeleton staff. The Medical Team (me) and FFS staff (Teresa) will be working on drafting our respective memo's for the Termination over the next 24hrs with it being the first item of business Friday AM to get the needed signatures from headquarters.

I hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday - if there are any problems or urgent medical issues, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Following my call with Diane a few moments ago, as discussed, upon receipt of the ORR Director- signed approval memo from HQ, FFS will advise Heartland needed approval has been received and to proceed accordingly. As discussed, given gestational concerns, hopefully approval memo can be expedited, for Heartland to be able to proceed with the soonest available appointment secured for Monday 11/28.

Here is a screenshot of how the report looks:

As you can see, the 11/14 visits should have been entered as "Update Visits" to the IME because the condition of pregnancy was first identified during the IME and thus is not a new diagnosis. (When the data is pulled from the Portal, it'll just look like she somehow was pregnant twice.)

Anyway, in your case, to document correctly, please add an Update Visit under the IME. Under the Outcome of the Evaluation section, select "A complication or secondary condition was diagnosed" and a list of diagnoses will appear; click on the Genito-urinary/Reproductive category and select "Elective abortion" for the first Update Visit. For the second and third Update Visits, select "Condition or symptoms related to initial complaint." We don't want to select "Elective abortion" as a diagnosis for the second and third visits as then it will look like she had three abortions when we pull the data from the Portal.

Thank you, Shaaanan.

SWK is working on the flight arrangements to transfer her to CHAP on Friday, and we have made the appointments for the 3 days starting on Monday.

Monica, attached is the Parental Notification waiver letter. As discussed, please have the SWK case managers obtain a signature from the mother and then scan it back to me before Monday.

I also have a few questions about documentation:

1. How should we document the procedure in the Medical section of the Portal? Anything specific that we should include?

2. Should we email about the DCS Medical Team about the procedure?

3. Do we need to complete an SIR as well?

I called the healthcare provider that will be carrying out the proposed 3 day procedure - Family Planning Associates - just to clarify why the abortion would take 3 days and had the clinic clarify the day by day procedure. This seems appropriate after confirming with various Obstetric resources.

Thank you all for your efforts in facilitating this medical transfer.

Have a wonderful holiday.

Hi Monica,

Yes, we can accept this minor at CHAP on Friday. Please have the SWK team contact Esmeralda regarding the travel information for this transfer.

I have contacted Family Planning Associates, which is able to terminate pregnancies up to 23.3 weeks. The procedure involves 3-6 hour appointments for 3 consecutive days and we are able to make appointments staring on Monday, 11/28/16. Please note that if Family Planning Associates determines that she is beyond 23 weeks, then we will continue pre-natal care at CHAP and counsel her on other options, including adoption.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need any additional information.

Thanks,
Diane

Hello Diane,

Thank you for accepting the above UC into the CHAP program. As discussed, please find attached the SIRs for the above UC who has requested to terminate her pregnancy due to being raped. We are looking to transfer her by Friday, November 25th. Program has received approval for UC to terminate the pregnancy from FFS Supervisor Jim De La Cruz and ORR Medical Team.

Below is a synopsis from the medical team at SWK:

1)I called OB's office for further clarification and confirmation since there is a discrepancy on number of weeks gestation. She was 19 weeks gestation on 11/14/16. Reason for discrepancy: The minor disclosed during IME on 11/11/16 to shelter medical provider that her LMP had been 10/28/16, but per OB's office staff and OB's Progress Notes, minor stated LMP had been 7/03/2016. She also had an ultrasound done the day of visit 11/14/16, which was also used to estimate fetus' gestational age of 19 weeks on 11/14/16. Full Progress Notes were faxed to us today confirming his information.

2) Per her OB/GYN, she informed me today that she does not counsel either way (for/against) when a client discloses they wish to terminate pregnancy, nor do they refer them elsewhere. The client will have to do this on their own. In our minor's case, I will find a different place to refer minor to ASAP so that risks of procedure and options are discussed with the minor. I will also consult with Clinical Dept. on this.

3) Mother has been notified and is supportive.

4)Minor is aware of options and risks.

In terms of Family Reunification-this is a CAT1-with mother in Iowa.

Program is currently working on the transfer packet.

Thank you,

After the call with Amanda, Daphne, Scott, and me this morning about the FOAs, Amanda asked us to add a paragraph to the FOA#2 transmittal (b)(5) (b)(5) I have prepared a paragraph in the attached draft, at the start of the section #4.

With regard to 1135, the LTFC beds FOA, I am looking into that to see if we have a parallel situation. I will advise when I know more.

Subject: UC requesting pregnancy termination

Hello Dr. Bartholomew, I am writing in regards to female minor, (b)(6) she is the youth that arrived at Las Palmas Program 924 and was requesting to terminate her pregnancy. At this time minor has been taken to OB/GYN appointment where it is confirmed that she is 9 weeks 6 days pregnant. Case manager notified us that the only things pending to reunify minor was medical (xray, labs, ect). Upon requesting chest xray, PCP noted that youth's xray was abnormal. Although she is negative for TB condition, the following findings were documented.

Findings as reported by (b)(6) MD: There is a dextroconvex thoracolumbar scoliosis measuring approx 8 degrees, with apex at T12-L1, with suspicion butterfly vertebrae at T12 and possibly T11.

For this reason PCP is referring to neurologist for further evaluation. We have called to schedule an appointment for neurologist in which they are telling us that it will be about 3 weeks for an appointment and they need to verify they can see a pregnant minor. Taking into consideration her pregnancy and her decision to terminate, keeping her here will add weeks to her pregnancy to or about 12 weeks. I am asking for your guidance as to how to proceed from here.

Will minor be able to proceed with pregnancy termination? (She still refuses to tell mom in COO, sponsor is aware of pregnancy)

Is the neurologist visit necessary here or can that be followed up with upon reunification?

Thank you in advance.

Thank you,

Received. Do I understand correctly:

- The UC who previously requested pregnancy termination is determined to be 9 weeks gestational age stage (Correct)
- The minor is ready for reunification unless there is a medical hold on discharge (Correct)
- The medical team at the provider is asking to pause discharge for a neurologist test, which cannot be scheduled in under 3 weeks. (I am unclear about this statement, the provider evaluating the child recommend the child be referred to a neurologist for evaluation of the possible butterfly vertebrae. This evaluation can be performed post discharge from our program. The program is recommending discharge with neurology follow-up)
- You are recommending that the discharge occur and the neuro test be part of the post-discharge plan (Correct)

Jonathan,

Please see the email below.

If the butterfly vertebrae does exist, in the absence of any other symptoms or physical exam findings, it would be very unlikely for her to have the rare disorders that is sometimes associated with this. This likely represents a normal anatomic variant. First of all, if she had severe disease, there would likely be more findings on physical exam and she might be symptomatic such as bladder or bowel incontinence. But this doesn't seem to be the case.

I see no reason to delay release of this minor to her sponsor (aunt) in Florida. Post release services should be considered and a safety plan in place that will ensure an appointment with a neurologist.

As long as the SIR and Health tab has all the relevant information, the FFS doesn't need to spend time writing a lengthy memo like they used to. If federal funds are to be used, medical officer will complete the simple template memo for OD.

Just including ACF folks on this email chain.

This got confusing since we weren't in the office and Janell isn't here anymore – she was handling all the termination requests – and because I don't think the Ops Guide for Family Planning has been finalized.

Now that we're back in the office, we're looking at the hard copies of the last several termination memos that were signed by OD; I see that we should be following the last version of the Ops Guide (see attached). I reached out to Shannon (not to be confused with Shaanan) about the status of the Family Planning Ops Guide and she said it's with Policy (so none of us has a final version). It seems that even though the Family Planning Ops Guide is not official and apparently not widely circulated (since it's not cleared), Janell was coordinating with FFSs to handle each termination memo as they occurred.

I have cut and pasted the relevant section from the unofficial Ops Guide (I accepted track changed because otherwise it's too messy to read) below. Again, see attachment if you want to review the track changes version – FFS memo is no longer required per edits/comment. For the hard copy packet that Bob will sign off on, note that we did use most of the language in the FFS memo – we just re-purposed the document as "clinical summary" (changing it from memo format) as supporting documentation.

CARE PROVIDER

1) IMMEDIATELY, BUT NO LATER THAN FOUR (4) HOURS after a UC requests to terminate her pregnancy, completes an SIR following procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 5.7.3 Significant Incidents and copies the Medical Team at DCSMedical@acf.hhs.gov on the SIR notification. The SIR must include the following information:

   - Current gestational age of the pregnancy
   - Any known complications identified by the medical professional
   - Date of the request for termination of pregnancy and to whom the request was made
   - The name and location of the clinic, hospital, or office where the pregnancy termination will occur
   - Whether parental consent or notification was made, or whether a judicial bypass has been or will be sought, if required under state law (the disbursement of federal funds will be contingent on meeting the requirement of state law)
   - Reason why federal funds are being requested, if applicable
   - Nature of urgent request (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), if applicable
   - Any other relevant information[SH1]

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- If any of this information is not available, the care provider will note in the SIR what information is pending and when the information is expected to be available. Missing information must be documented in an SIR Addendum immediately upon receipt.

NOTE: If the care provider is unable to coordinate pregnancy termination services or services are unavailable in the region, the care provider must immediately notify the FFS. In coordination with the FFS, the care provider must initiate a transfer to a care provider that is able to coordinate services and that is located in a region where services are available following transfer procedures in ➔ ORR Ops Guide, Section 1.2 Transfers within the ORR Care Provider Network.

2) Makes parental notification, seeks parental consent, or seeks a judicial bypass, as required under state law. Care provider should seek the assistance of the legal service provider or attorney of record during this process.

2) After submitting the SIR, responds to requests from ORR for information and updates as soon as possible, but within four (4) hours of the request.

3) Consults with the Medical Team to immediately schedule the appropriate consultations with medical providers and the pregnancy termination procedure. The pregnancy termination procedure must be scheduled to occur no sooner than 72 hours after submission of the SIR. This should happen concurrently with the process to request federal funds for the pregnancy termination including obtaining a Physician's Certification, if applicable (see below).

4) Makes arrangements to transport the UC to the pregnancy termination procedure.

5) Submits SIR Addendums and adds documentation in the UC Portal Medical Module as appropriate.

Requesting Federal Funding for a Pregnancy Termination

Federal funds are available to pay for an abortion if:

- • The pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest; or
- • In the case where a woman suffers from a physical disorder, physical injury, or physical illness, including a life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would, as certified by a physician, place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CARE PROVIDER

WITHIN 24 HOURS of determining the termination would qualify for federal funding, sends an email notification to the Medical Team, with a copy to the FFS and CFS, as follows:

To:	Medical Team
Cc:	FFS and CFS
Subject Line:	"Request for Federal Funds for Pregnancy Termination"

Body:	• UC's name and A #
	• Reason why federal funds are being requested:
	  ○ An act of rape
	  ○ An act of incest
	  ○ Life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, that would place the woman in danger of death unless an abortion is performed
	• Any other relevant information

Attachments:	• SIR • SIR Addendums • Signed Understanding Your Options handout • Clinical notes (if requesting federal funds for an act of rape or incest) • Physician's Certification (if requesting federal funds for a life-endangering physical condition)

URGENT REQUESTS FOR A FEDERALLY-FUNDED PREGNANCY TERMINATION

If the request is urgent (e.g., the termination procedure needs to occur within 48 hours), the care provider must send the above notification IMMEDIATELY upon determining the termination would qualify for federal funding. ORR will expedite the approval process for pregnancy termination using federal funds for urgent requests.

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 24 HOURS of receiving the care provider's email notification, reviews the attached supporting documentation, , completes the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, and routes the memo and supporting documentation to the DCS Director for approval.

DCS DIRECTOR

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the memo and supporting documentation, reviews and signs the Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo and routes the signed memo to the Medical Team and copies the FFS and CFS.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

MEDICAL TEAM

WITHIN 12 HOURS of receiving the signed Use of Federal Funds to Terminate a Pregnancy Decision Memo, notifies the care provider of the DCS Director's decision.

Good morning and Happy Thanksgiving -
Just to close the loop of communication for this morning. I just spoke with Teresa Brooks, the on-call supervisor for the FFS team who is covering for the holiday to see where we stand with this case and timeline for the memo's. Given the fact that the minor is being transferred Friday to Chicago and any procedure would not be until Monday, this has become urgent and not emergent for today's business and the skeleton staff. The Medical Team (me) and FFS staff (Teresa) will be working on drafting our respective memo's for the Termination over the next 24hrs with it being the first item of business Friday AM to get the needed signatures from headquarters.

I hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday - if there are any problems or urgent medical issues, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Good evening,

Following my call with Diane a few moments ago, as discussed, upon receipt of the ORR Director- signed approval memo from HQ, FFS will advise Heartland needed approval has been received and to proceed accordingly. As discussed, given gestational concerns, hopefully approval memo can be expedited, for Heartland to be able to proceed with the soonest available appointment secured for Monday 11/28.

Thank you for asking us about how to document in the Portal; this is a tricky one.

One problem is that the previous shelter didn't document her healthcare visits exploring termination in the right place to begin with.

Here is a screenshot of how the report looks:

<image004.jpg>

As you can see, the 11/14 visits should have been entered as "Update Visits" to the IME because the condition of pregnancy was first identified during the IME and thus is not a new diagnosis. (When the data is pulled from the Portal, it'll just look like she somehow was pregnant twice.)

Anyway, in your case, to document correctly, please add an Update Visit under the IME. Under the Outcome of the Evaluation section, select "A complication or secondary condition was diagnosed" and a list of diagnoses will appear; click on the Genito-urinary/Reproductive category and select "Elective abortion" for the first Update Visit. For the second and third Update Visits, select "Condition or symptoms related to initial complaint." We don't want to select "Elective abortion" as a diagnosis for the second and third visits as then it will look like she had three abortions when we pull the data from the Portal.

<image003.png>

Hope this makes sense.

SWK is working on the flight arrangements to transfer her to CHAP on Friday, and we have made the appointments for the 3 days starting on Monday.

Monica, attached is the Parental Notification waiver letter. As discussed, please have the SWK case managers obtain a signature from the mother and then scan it back to me before Monday.

I also have a few questions about documentation:

1. How should we document the procedure in the Medical section of the Portal? Anything specific that we should include?

2. Should we email about the DCS Medical Team about the procedure?

3. Do we need to complete an SIR as well?

Thanks,

I called the healthcare provider that will be carrying out the proposed 3 day procedure - Family Planning Associates - just to clarify why the abortion would take 3 days and had the clinic clarify the day by day procedure. This seems appropriate after confirming with various Obstetric resources.

Hi Monica,

Yes, we can accept this minor at CHAP on Friday. Please have the SWK team contact Esmeralda regarding the travel information for this transfer.

I have contacted Family Planning Associates, which is able to terminate pregnancies up to 23.3 weeks. The procedure involves 3-6 hour appointments for 3 consecutive days and we are able to make appointments staring on Monday, 11/28/16. Please note that if Family Planning Associates determines that she is beyond 23 weeks, then we will continue pre-natal care at CHAP and counsel her on other options, including adoption.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need any additional information.

Diane

Hello Diane,

Thank you for accepting the above UC into the CHAP program. As discussed, please find attached the SIRs for the above UC who has requested to terminate her pregnancy due to being raped. We are looking to transfer her by Friday, November 25th. Program has received approval for UC to terminate the pregnancy from FFS Supervisor Jim De La Cruz and ORR Medical Team.

Below is a synopsis from the medical team at SWK:

1)I called OB's office for further clarification and confirmation since there is a discrepancy on number of weeks gestation. She was 19 weeks gestation on 11/14/16. Reason for discrepancy: The minor disclosed during IME on 11/11/16 to shelter medical provider that her LMP had been 10/28/16, but per OB's office staff and OB's Progress Notes, minor stated LMP had been 7/03/2016. She also had an ultrasound done the day of visit 11/14/16, which was also used to estimate fetus' gestational age of 19 weeks on 11/14/16. Full Progress Notes were faxed to us today confirming his information.

2) Per her OB/GYN, she informed me today that she does not counsel either way (for/against) when a client discloses they wish to terminate pregnancy, nor do they refer them elsewhere. The client will have to do this on their own. In our minor's case, I will find a different place to refer minor to ASAP so that risks of procedure and options are discussed with the minor. I will also consult with Clinical Dept. on this.

3) Mother has been notified and is supportive.

4)Minor is aware of options and risks.

In terms of Family Reunification-this is a CAT1-with mother in Iowa.

Program is currently working on the transfer packet.

Thank you,

Good afternoon, in response to your questions, We, at Las Palmas have staffed this case and here are the answers to your questions.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. Minor has received services provided at shelter with her clinician. The program is moving towards reunification and supporting the minor's plan of abortion once arriving to her destination in Florida, where she will receive abortion counseling services. Would you recommend otherwise?

2. Sponsor has been notified of pregnancy during a family session. Minor has disclosed that she would like to have an abortion. Minor has declined to inform mother in COO about the pregnancy. The safety plan developed for minor includes that she would notify and get consent from mother before moving forward with abortion once in Florida. Sponsor has expressed full support of any decision client makes towards her pregnancy.

3. Safety plan has been developed with information of resources for both prenatal care and abortion services. Medical will develop a safety plan for referral to neurologist once reunified with sponsor.

Your guidance is greatly appreciated. Thank you for your time.

Subject: UC requesting pregnancy termination

Hello Dr. Bartholomew, I am writing in regards to female minor, (b)(6) she is the youth that arrived at Las Palmas Program 924 and was requesting to terminate her pregnancy. At this time minor has been taken to OB/GYN appointment where it is confirmed that she is 9 weeks 6 days pregnant. Case manager notified us that the only things pending to reunify minor was medical (xray, labs, ect). Upon requesting chest xray, PCP noted that youth's xray was abnormal. Although she is negative for TB condition, the following findings were documented.

Findings as reported by Erica Yang MD: There is a dextroconvex thoracolumbar scoliosis measuring approx 8 degrees, with apex at T12-L1, with suspicion butterfly vertebrae at T12 and possibly T11.

For this reason PCP is referring to neurologist for further evaluation. We have called to schedule an appointment for neurologist in which they are telling us that it will be about 3 weeks for an appointment and they need to verify they can see a pregnant minor. Taking into consideration her pregnancy and her decision to terminate, keeping her here will add weeks to her pregnancy to or about 12 weeks. I am asking for your guidance as to how to proceed from here.

Will minor be able to proceed with pregnancy termination? (She still refuses to tell mom in COO, sponsor is aware of pregnancy)

Is the neurologist visit necessary here or can that be followed up with upon reunification?

Thank you in advance.

Good afternoon Dr. Bartholomew-

After we reaching out to the program we got clarification on the response to the questions you asked:

- Can we confirm that the minor has received options counseling for the pregnancy as discussed?

The minor was given a pregnancy counseling session today at 10:00am by Adelante Clinic (letter attached)

- Can we confirm that the sponsor and the minor's parents have been notified of the pregnancy?

Yes, her sponsor (aunt) was notified by phone of the minor's pregnancy during a family session by the minor in the presence of the her clinician.

- Can we please ensure that resources for pregnancy supports in Florida where the minor is headed are part of the discharge plan?

Yes, all pertinent information will be included in the discharge envelope.

Resources for pregnancy care:

We have contacted:

1. Medical Care For Women: Liburd Carmelle MD

They will go to the 3rd floor where they will sign in at OB/GYN reception area. Minor needs birth certificate and immunizations at time of sign in. Sponsor (aunt) will need an ID and verification of release form. Payment is done according to a sliding scale.

Resources for Neurologist

We have contacted:

Good Morning,

ORR received the response to the previous questions from the program. The responses need further clarity. It might be best if you all can reach back to the program and provide answers to the following questions again:

- • Can we confirm that the minor has received options counseling for the pregnancy as discussed?
- • Can we confirm that the sponsor and the minor's parents have been notified of the pregnancy?
- • Can we please ensure that resources for pregnancy supports in Florida where the minor is headed are part of the discharge plan?

Subject: HHS Priorities Data Call

Dear Colleagues,

Following up on our discussion this afternoon regarding Secretary Price's priorities, please see below the data points that we are collecting from each program. The deadline for this information is COB Monday, May 1, 2017. As a reminder, we welcome information on the following topics, with a focus on the first two:

1. Opioids and Substance Abuse
2. Mental Health
3. Childhood Obesity
4. Disaster and Emergency Response

The following questions should be used to guide your response:

- Which of your current programs touch these priorities?
- How many grants are currently funding activities and programs around these priorities?
- How much funding is currently being directed to those grants?
- Are there partners or national experts (faith-based/NGOs/etc) working in these areas who we should be aware of?
- Is there any state activity on this that we should be aware of?
- Has there been any significant activity (events, campaigns, etc) around these priorities in your program offices over the past year?

Do not worry about formatting, the Office of Communications will standardize and create one comprehensive document. Also remember, that we should think outside the box and stretch a little on how we can make connections with the Secretary's priorities. This is only a starting point for future and subsequent discussions, so there are no bad ideas or suggestions. I look forward to hearing from you in the coming weeks and months on how we can best link the tremendous work you do each and every day with the priorities of the department.

Good Morning,

I'd like to provide the following brief update,

Please be advised, that I made contact with UAC's (b)(6) Jose Luis (unverified at this moment as proof of relationship is pending). Minor's (b)(6) Jose Luis, reiterated he intends on providing a fax number for care provider to forward FRA. According to Jose Luis, he does not know his physical address, but understands that his mother reported he was in Atlanta, however, he wished to correct that information and reported he resides and works in "Crystal Springs" Mississippi. In addition, Jose Luis stated he has a DIP (Documento de Identificacion Personal) from his home country of Guatemala. According to minor's (b)(6) he resides alone, he denies any other household members at this point, however he states it is very difficult for him to contact care provider and be available to complete sponsor assessment because he works 6 days out of the week from 9am-8pm. He assured Program Director that he would text fax number and physical address this evening. I will follow up with minor's (b)(6) the evening of 10/21/17 to further discuss reunification process as due to time constraints minor's (b)(6) was not able to remain on phone call. Please note, on 10/18 assigned Case Manager received via email from minor's mother in home country a copy of minor's birth certificate and a copy of (b)(6) DIP (GU Identification card), minor's mother stated she would work diligently on obtaining her son's (minor's (b)(6) birth certificate. Case Manager will reach out to minor's mother today, 10/21 in order to follow-up with request for (b)(6) birth certificate so that formal proof of relationship may be established (all previously documents received to date have been uploaded to portal). According to assigned Case Manager R. Cummings, she has only been able to make contact with minor's (b)(6) on two brief occasions, the longest contact was established on 10/18 and lasted approximately 20 minutes at which time Case Manager discussed family reunification process, fingerprint requirements, and probably home study. According to assigned Case Manager, minor's (b)(6) reported he did not know his physical address and shared that he was apprehensive about fingerprints and home study, but nonetheless he agreed to partake and complete all reunification requirements.

Hi Teresa and Jessica,

Please find a summary of our call.

Let's see what the (b)(6) or the person(s) with whom the (b)(6) is staying will do to comply with ORR reunification procedures. We can proceed to learn what the (b)(6) says about sponsorship.
Please remember that neither ORR nor the program can tell anyone about the UAC's pregnancy status per the court order at this time—that part remains in force.

To do this we should ask the (b)(6) about what documents he has to show proof of address, ID, and relationship. We also need to know if he has any criminal charges and if the believes that others in the household will allow for public record checks or fingerprint check if necessary. Last, will he be willing to proceed to provide all these things on Tuesday? If he is lacking documents etc then on we can ask the Guatemalan consulate to assist on Tuesday. Tuesday is the target day to proceed if approval is provided from ORR Senior Management.

Last bullet. We are just finding out if the (b)(6) will sponsor in a tight time frame. WE CANNOT proceed with the FRP steps listed above until Senior Management is informed about what you find out and they give us a go.

can anyone at this agency explain credibly how an abortion for "Jane" be denied while so much other hypocrisy exists with Scott Lloyd and other supposed pro-life persons??

Scott Lloyd,

You're a "cabinet member" of a man who participates in child prostitution which funds abortions as well. That person is *rump who runs escort services a/k/a prostitution. Or did you think he was the ONLY casino owner in Vegas or New Jersey who didn't offer VIP (prostitution/sex escort) services or use escorts to "close deals"?
Does MeLayinYa *rump ring a bell?? This should remind you of her start or life accomplishment while actual First Ladies jumped rope or hopscotch as kids:
http://nypost.com/2016/08/01/melania-trumps-girl-on-girl-photos-from-racy-shoot-revealed/.
Pregnancies don't really fit into pornography or sex marketing/trafficking.

And then there's *rump's China sex escort services:
https://www.google.com/search?q=trump+china+sex+escort&oq=trump+chin&aqs=chrome.0.69i59j0j69i57j0l3.6513j0j8&sourceid=chrome&ie=UTF-8
-- Escort means the men (or women) are escorted right to bed for sexual services including from children.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I also personally know of a teen who was prostituted out of *rump Tower NYC. She was fired for poor and cheaper Euro girls whose travel visas could be controlled while paying the children less money with less risks. However, abortions were forced as pregnancies could be used to blackmail *rump's clients who relied upon discretion, including keeping sex acts with children a secret.

Unknown to this NYC teen after she was fired, she used the name of a phony corporation in *rump's name to apply for an NYC HPD apartment (employment history) after being tossed out of *rump Tower NYC where she engaged in sex acts for free room and board. That phony corporation caused red flags and led right to *rump, and the phony corporation is one of many falsities on *rump's tax returns and one of the many reasons *rump is refusing to publicly disclose his returns while claiming to be wealthy and calling others frauds, phonies, etc.

Gee... if this teen is wrong, only one way to confirm this: *rump's tax returns for the past 2-decades. Ironic that *rump can hide his tax returns after forcing nation to witness his birther rants which led to forcing President Barack Obama to disclose his birth certificate PUBLICLY because of pure ignorance, while *rump himself was engaging in child prostitution and other degrading acts with degrading persons such as Jeffrey Epstein.
www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-4164082/Pedophile-Jeffrey-Epstein-accused-new-sex-traffick-case.html

In case your selective pro-life memory kicks in again: Epstein was CONVICTED of soliciting minors for sex. One of which (or more than disclosed) was raped by *rump, and subsequently filed a lawsuit against *rump. I wonder how many of those children were forced to have abortions for "client discretion"???

But please address the following:

1. Poverty is #1 child killer worldwide. Shouldn't this be your focus instead of pretending to be pro-life? Poverty related deaths happen AFTER the fetus is carried to term, or even while the fetus is still developing. Where are your "pro-life cries for help" for those countless and avoidable deaths which increase daily?

2. What are you doing to stop wealthy women who use abortion as birth control? Nothing, I'm quite sure of that as several wealthy women directly associated with you, *rump and his cabinet, and GOP members use abortion as birth control. Are wealthy stopped from flying to other areas/states including countries to have abortion(s) or fired from their jobs? NOPE! in fact, you're still associated with privileged abortion persons and their wealthy doctors at political functions. Does Hope Hicks use birth control? She's unwed and has "male partners". Or is she on the Bristol Palin Abstinence-Pregnancy Out of Wedlock Plan?

3. Israel allows abortion ON DEMAND. Yet US funds Israel.

Can the pro-life hypocrisy stop and allow the child being held in refugee resettlement camp have her abortion? #JusticeForJane

I will supporting any woman who wants to have an abortion especially because of the above 3 issues, and GOP's "budget" policies which do not provide proper healthcare for poor unborn, BORN babies, returning war veterans, elderly and terminally ill.

If you want to play God, do as God does: STANDS BACK AND ALLOWS PERSONS TO MAKE THEIR OWN DEMOCRATIC CHOICES. And THEN do what the U.S. Constitution states: SEPARATE CHURCH AND STATE. Your personal religious beliefs are not to be enforced upon others. Religion is a personal choice and path to take or NOT to take.

If you think you're God or doing any Gods' work, you're miserably failing. Unless your God is a god of pure evil, ignorance and hypocrisy, in which case you're succeeding in representing that god well.

Mr. Tota,

We heard the recent news stories about the young undocumented woman requesting an abortion. We would like to offer to adopt the child she is carrying, if she is willing to carry the baby to full term. Would you be able to direct our offer to her and to those who could help facilitate the adoption process if she is interested in pursuing this with us?

We have been married three and a half years, and have a son who is almost one. We hope to have more children in the coming years and feel that adoption would be another beautiful way to grow our family. We would be happy to share more information about ourselves and to go through the formal process of preparing for an independent adoption if she would be willing to consider us.

We are grieved that this young woman feels trapped between incredibly difficult alternatives and we hope that adoption would be a chance for her to have a fresh start. Please let her know that we are praying for her in this challenging time.

Many thanks,

Señor Tota,

Escuchamos las noticias recientes sobre la joven indocumentada que solicita un aborto. Nos gustaría ofrecer adoptar al niño que lleva, si está dispuesta a llevar al bebé a término completo. ¿Podría comunicarle nuestra oferta a ella y a aquellos que podrían ayudar a facilitar el proceso de adopción si ella está interesada en continuar con esto?

Hemos estado casados por tres años y medio, y tenemos un hijo que de casi un año. Esperamos tener más hijos en los próximos años y sentimos que la adopción sería otra forma hermosa de hacer crecer nuestra familia. Estaríamos felices de compartir más información sobre nosotros y pasar por el proceso formal de preparación para una adopción independiente si estuviera dispuesta a considerarnos.

Nos duele que esta joven mujer se sienta atrapada entre alternativas increíblemente difíciles y esperamos que la adopción sea una oportunidad para que tenga un nuevo comienzo. Por favor, hágale saber que estamos rezando por ella en este desafiante momento.

Muchas gracias,

Mr. Scott Lloyd and Ms. Anna Maria Bena,

The "Jane Doe" being denied an abortion in this article is a minor, and therefore was raped, as she was not of legal age to give consent for sex. And yet, you are forcing the trauma of unwanted pregnancy and birth on her with absolutely no regard to how it will affect her: http://www.npr.org/sections/thetwo-way/2017/10/20/559152061/appeals-court-sets-terms-for-abortion-for-teen-immigrant

Anyone who uses their power to force birth on women and girls should have to face the same consequences. They should first be forced to endure 9 months of nausea, weight gain, and fatigue inducing medication, 8 hours of contraction mimicking electric shocks, a 7.75# rubber baby doll pushed in and out of their pelvic bodily orifices until their organs prolapse and literally herniate out of their bodies, be denied the physical therapy that may help repair the damages, suffer permanent scarring from their chests down to their thighs, be committed to paying $304,480 over the next 18 years to someone else's life, take forced career setbacks, and take depression inducing medication for a year following the assault on their bodies. This will cover many common issues women face as a result of pregnancy and childbirth. To be really fair, we should make some of them "birth" twin dolls, others pay double, triple, or even more to account for special needs, as well as forcing some of them to choose a person in terror life they love dearly and know that person will have to suffer tremendous pain, knowing that they are the cause of it, bc they want to destroy others' rights to protect themselves, and even sometimes, suffering unborn babies. Still not anything compared to real life, but it's a start.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

God does not want you to forcibly control others. You are not doing God's work. You are abusing your power. You are both in positions to affect positive change - look at the ramifications of your actions! If you continue to deny legal, safe abortions and force unwanted births, you are guaranteeing that many will suffer and die unnecessarily by seeking aboutions wherever they can, resulting in unsafe abortions.

I respect my life and my body too much to ever put the law above myself, and I am teaching my children to do the same.

Chris would know more. I understand Corps officers are deploying for ASPR recovery to work with ACF on assessments of human services and community systems. I think it's Allen's old assessment tool.

Just noting based on conversation with Michael that His House is authorized to shelter pregnant UAC, who may have flight restrictions depending upon health and gestational age. We should have Jill or DHUC check that. Just linking you two. CAPT Davis deson't have enough complexity for this transfer and I hate to see him bored.

Good morning
Jonathan and Jallyn,

Each year, the Acting Assistant Secretary provides assurance to the Secretary that ACF is in compliance with the requirements of the Federal Manager's Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA). Your certification that management controls in your program and administrative areas are adequately described and evaluated, is required for the Acting Assistant Secretary to provide this assurance.

I am attaching a copy of your Division's FY2016 submission as well as the Report's Introductory pages. Please make sure your Division is correctly listed on the introductory pages and that your update accurately reflects your division's activities in FY2017. Given that the UAC Program has gone through a restructuring since the FY 16 submission, please consider re-organizing the UAC section to reflect the current structure. In order for Budget to meet the FY17 FMFIA Report deadline we ask that you submit your update to me no later than Tuesday, September 19.

Thank you in advance for your input and please do not hesitate to let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: Action Required--Due Tues/Sept.19: Federal Manager's Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA)

Importance: High

Jonathan and Jallyn,

Each year, the Acting Assistant Secretary provides assurance to the Secretary that ACF is in compliance with the requirements of the Federal Manager's Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA). Your certification that management controls in your program and administrative areas are adequately described and evaluated, is required for the Acting Assistant Secretary to provide this assurance.

I am attaching a copy of your Division's FY2016 submission as well as the Report's Introductory pages. Please make sure your Division is correctly listed on the introductory pages and that your update accurately reflects your division's activities in FY2017. Given that the UAC Program has gone through a restructuring since the FY 16 submission, please consider re-organizing the UAC section to reflect the current structure. In order for Budget to meet the FY17 FMFIA Report deadline we ask that you submit your update to me no later than Tuesday, September 19.

Thank you in advance for your input and please do not hesitate to let me know if you have any questions.

Jonathan- I talked to Amanda. The minor has a local court case because of her SIJ. If we release the local court case will stay open to ensure the safety and well-being of the minor. I have some reservations because of the mom's history but I do believe that local court case mitigates my concerns (but I still have concerns).

I am a little confused on this case. The court report was from June but it says there is another hearing in August. The memo notes that the court recommended the minor to be released to her mother but I can't find that in the documentation. I would also like to understand how the minor is a temporary ward of a local court but in the legal custody ORR. I am assuming this is normal but have never come across this.

Can I reach out to Amanda to ask a few questions about the case? Or can you send her an email with a cc to me lettering her know OD has questions and I will be reaching out?

Your request was forwarded to this office to conduct a search for records from custodians Maggie Wynne, Judith Haron and Dr. David Teuscher.

For this second interim response, the HHS Office of the Secretary has processed 801 pages of potentially responsive records captured in the agency's search of Maggie Wynne's records. After a careful review of these pages, I have determined to release 319 pages to you in their entirety, and I am further releasing 147 pages in part, with portions redacted, pursuant to Exemptions (b)(5), (b)(6) of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and (b)(6)). I have also determined to withhold 84 pages in their entirety, pursuant to Exemption (b)(5) of the FOIA. Additionally, I determined that one (1) page was non-responsive to your request and that 122 pages were duplicative of pages referenced above. Finally, I have determined that 62 pages should be sent for consultation to other government agencies to review their equities and return to this office for final response to you.

Lastly, I have determined to refer two (2) pages to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), five (5) pages to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), three (3) pages to the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) and 56 pages to the Administration for Children and Families for those offices to respond directly to you. FOIA exemption (b)(5) protects inter-agency or intra-agency memoranda or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. This exemption protects documents that would be covered by any privilege an agency could assert in a civil proceeding. These privileges include, among others, the deliberative process privilege, the attorney-client privilege, and the attorney work-product privilege.

FOIA exemption (b)(6) permits a Federal agency to withhold information and records about individuals in "personnel and medical files and similar files, the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." The definition of "similar files" has historically been broadly interpreted to include a wide variety of files, and the United States Supreme Court has held that Congress intended the term "similar files" to be interpreted broadly, rather than narrowly. I have analyzed these records and find they meet the threshold requirement of this exemption. Additionally, I have reviewed and weighed the public interest in disclosure of this information against the privacy interest in nondisclosure, and found that the privacy interest outweighs the public's interest in disclosure.

We will continue to review the remaining records as efficiently and expeditiously as possible, consistent with our available resources and the Order of the Court. Should you have questions or concerns regarding the Department's response and\or the processing of your request, any such issues should be communicated to your legal counsel and Department of Justice Attorney representing the Department in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Michael S. Marquis

Exploring Cross-Domain Instability in Families with Children
Pamela Winston, Lincoln Groves, and Linda Mellgren (consultant) | Read it here

This brief examines different types of instability among children and their families, using nationally representative data on nearly 15,000 children to look at employment, income, health care coverage, moves, and changes in family and household composition. It found significant differences in the prevalence of instability for children by household education level:

- Instability was not confined to those in lower education households. Children across the household education spectrum experienced relatively high rates of instability during the study.
- A majority of children lived in households that experienced economic instability, with rates differing by household education.
- Children in less-educated households experienced instability more often than those in more-educated households, but trends did not strictly track with education.
- Those in households with "some college" were more similar to those in the two lowest-education groups ("less than high school" and "high school only") than those in the highest ("college plus").
- Children in the "some college" group were disproportionately represented at the highest levels in an index of cross-domain instability.

Multi-Site Family Study on Incarceration, Parenting and Partnering: Program Impacts Technical Report
RTI International | Erica Meade (Project Officer) | Read it here

This report presents findings on the impact of couples-based family strengthening services in four prison-based programs from the Multi-Site Family Study on Incarceration, Parenting and Partnering (MFS-IP) and discusses the implications for policy, programs, and future research. This evaluation attempted to isolate the impacts of relatively low-dosage couples programming. Key findings are:

- One program had sustained positive effects on multiple partnership and parenting relationship outcomes.
- The weak and non-significant findings in three of the four programs suggest that more robust and comprehensive interventions may be necessary to address the complex needs of low-income, justice-involved families.

A federal appeals court has cleared the way for a 17-year-old undocumented immigrant held in detention in Texas to receive an abortion.

The full bench of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned an earlier ruling from a three-judge panel of that court that gave the Trump administration more time to try to defuse the controversy by finding an adult who could take in the pregnant teen, who is currently in a federally funded shelter.

The D.C. Circuit's new ruling split the judges along partisan lines, 6-3, with the court's Republican appointees denouncing the decision.

Attachments: Berger_Fathers_ASPE2017_FINAL.pdf

Hello Maggie, Sarah-Lloyd, and Andrew,

The slide deck from today's ASPE-Institute for Poverty Research Learning Exchange: The Role of Men in Disadvantaged and Complex Families is attached. We're very happy to answer any questions or provide follow up.

As part of our National Center for Poverty Research cooperative agreement, we plan to hold these Learning Exchanges roughly quarterly.

- They provide an opportunity for HHS leadership and staff, as well as other federal partners, to learn from poverty researchers across the country about cutting-edge findings from applied research that have clear relevance for HHS programs and policies.
- During the Learning Exchange, poverty center affiliates will discuss research on a specific topic and engage in a dialogue with federal leaders and staff about implications for policy and practice.
- The goals are to increase the ability of research findings to inform government policy and programs in a timely manner.
- They are based on a model used by the WI Dept of Children and Families and the University of Wisconsin.

We are always grateful for any feedback or suggestions for topics!

Thanks,
Jennifer

I regret I forgot to attach the list of priority A-19s, which OMB also expects. These were first described in the information memo to the Secretary of August 19. I have noted the page numbers in the package I sent earlier today.

Historically, this package has been transmitted to Mr. Vaeth at OMB over e-mail by the ASPE, with a short introductory e-mail, but not a formal memo, and that is what I propose to do tomorrow afternoon. Please let me know if you have any comments or concerns.

Pretesting a Human Trafficking Screening Tool in the Child Welfare and Runaway and Homeless Youth Systems
Urban Institute | David Nielsen and Amanda Benton (Project Officers) | Read it here

This report summarizes a study to develop and pretest a Human Trafficking Screening Tool (HTST) with 600 youth involved in the runaway and homeless youth or child welfare systems. Findings include:

- Practitioners found the 19-item HTST to be easy to administer and reported that youth responded truthfully. Response rates were similar whether the tool was self- or practitioner-administered.
- Responses were related to known trafficking risk factors and outcomes, including running away from home, being kicked out of one's home, abusing prescription or over-the-counter drugs, trading sex for something of value on their own (i.e. without the presence of a third party exploiter), being arrested, and seeking help.
- According to administering practitioners' beliefs and observations, for approximately 6 in 10 youth, the HTST correctly predicted youth to be trafficking victims, as well as correctly predicting 8 in 10 times when youth were not victims.
- The short, six-item form of HTST performed equally well as the full version on all measures of validity, but took less than a minute to administer.
- Additional testing with youth under age 18 and child welfare-involved youth, as well as further validation work with a nationally representative sample, is recommended.

Multi-Site Family Study on Incarceration, Parenting, and Partnering: Earnings and Child Support Participation Among Reentering Fathers
RTI International | Erica Meade (Project Officer) | Read it here

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

This brief presents findings on pre- and post-incarceration wages and child support participation among men who were part of the Multi-Site Family Study on Incarceration, Parenting, and Partnering (MFS-IP). The analysis matched MFS-IP survey data with state administrative data to learn more about earnings and child support payments among justice-involved men. Key findings are:

- Most of the men and their partners were involved with the child support system, and the majority had at least one child support case for one or more of their children.
- Child support arrears often increased substantially during incarceration.
- Pre- and post-incarceration earnings were not sufficient to avoid poverty.

Briefs on Prolonged Youth Homelessness
Amanda Benton, Laura Chadwick, Kirby Chow, and Alex Coccia| Research by ICF Macro | Read them here

These three briefs discuss characteristics and experiences of young people who are homeless for prolonged periods of time, including the intersection with serious mental illness, and provide information on promising interventions for this population. Key findings include:

- Youth that experience lengthy episodes of homelessness have multiple risk factors, including involvement in the child welfare and criminal justice systems; histories of child maltreatment; substance use and mental health challenges; and higher rates of dropping out of school, unemployment, and informal work.
- Mental health disorders such as psychosis, for which symptoms often first appear during adolescence and early adulthood, are associated with increased risk for homelessness.
- Supportive housing for youth, social enterprise interventions, functional family therapy, and early interventions for mental health such as Coordinated Specialty Care programs hold promise for youth experiencing prolonged homelessness.

Maggie:

Thank you so much for meeting with us on the 17th. We so appreciated your taking the time to hear about the various programs funded through the Family Violence Prevention and Services office. As you could tell, we are very passionate about this work and are very grateful that HHS provides the support that makes this work possible.

We had provided you with some handouts during our visit. I am attaching electronic versions of those documents, in case you need to forward them or provide access to them for others in HHS.

I also wanted to take this opportunity to let you know how very pleased we were to see the stable funding levels for the FVPSA programs in the President's Budget. It is very encouraging to know that the Department and the Administration continue to support services and resources that will improve the safety of survivors of domestic and dating violence.

Please let us know if there is any way we can be of help to you or anyone else in the Department on the issues of domestic and dating violence. We are happy to provide additional information or connect you with other domestic violence or dating violence programs.

Thank you again!

Hi Maggie,

ACF is requesting that you sign off on the two Word documents (highlighted below) before they send their final response to the Department of State. I am told that the deadline was yesterday, and I just received the documents this afternoon while I was in meeting. I asked if they can request an extension since the U.S. report is being presented on May 16, and I will follow-up with you as soon as I hear back. Otherwise, do you think that this is something you could clear potentially by COB today?

Attached are:

1. The draft Hard Q&A for OPSC (Combined Comments from ORR and OTIP)
2. Combined Location of Comments from ORR and OTIP
3. The 2016 U.S. Periodic Report (Alternative)
4. The 2017 U.S. written replies to the OPSC List of Issues
5. The ECPAT 2016 shadow report
6. The Young Center 2016 shadow report

Justification for Expedited Review: The U.S. Mission in Geneva filed our written replies to the Committee on the Rights of the Child on the OPSC on March 14. The as-filed versions are attached for your records and will be posted at http://www.state.gov/j/drl/reports/treaties/index.htm in the coming days.

The U.S. is presenting a report to the Committee, which takes place in Geneva on May 16 (OPSC for three hours in the morning). The presentation is the third and final step in the reporting cycle, and entails a brief opening statement by the U.S. delegation followed by a Q&A session in which Committee members ask the delegation oral questions about U.S. implementation of the Protocols, and the delegation provides oral answers. Along with the report itself and the written replies, these Hard Q&As will be what U.S. delegation members use to prepare themselves for the questions Committee members may ask during the presentation.

Thanks,

Natasha

Good morning—

As you know, Secretary Price is scheduled to testify before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor-HHS on Wednesday, March 29 at 10:00am. The topic for this hearing is the Department's FY 2018 Budget request. We have two hearing related documents for your review:

1. Written testimony—attached please find draft written testimony. The written testimony is submitted for the record and more formal in nature. Once final, we will work with Patrick Brennan to adapt an oral version. Please review and send any comments to Kate Klimczak by 3pm today. ASFR will incorporate any edits and provide a draft copy for the Secretary's review this evening. Once the Secretary has reviewed, ASFR will clear through OMB.

2. Briefing papers—attached please find draft hearing prep papers on themes from the Budget Blueprint and issues of interest to specific LHHS members. Since the Secretary will be limited to discussing only the information released in the Blueprint, we have decided to focus only on those themes in his prep. Please review and send any comments to Kate Klimczak by 3pm today. ASFR will incorporate any comments and prepare a final briefing book for the Secretary this evening.

Please note: shortly I will be sending out calendar invitations for hearing prep sessions with the Secretary later this week and early next week.

Thank you! Please let us know if you have any questions.

Stakeholders

Christopher Jacobs, the Federalist – "Instead of passing legislation that some may vote for, but few truly support, House leadership would be wiser instead to focus on enacting a bill that members can both vote for and support. Repealing Obamacare, including the costly regulations emanating from Washington, would lower premiums, encouraging individuals to purchase coverage, and begin the process of restoring state sovereignty over health care and health insurance, an outcome for which conservatives could be proud."
3/14/2017

Juanita Duggan, National Federation of Independent Business – "Small business optimism has soared since November because small business owners anticipate a change in policies. Driving that optimism is the expectation that Congress will repeal Obamacare, which has been devastating to small businesses. The American Health Care Act would repeal the most punishing elements of Obamacare, including the massive tax increases and mandates that have increased costs, limited choices, and smothered job creation."
3/14/2017

Jason Pye, FreedomWorks – "None of this is to say that FreedomWorks agrees with the CBO's assessments, but the score and related impact will be used to hammer the AHCA, for which House Republican leaders are already having a difficult time getting conservative support because the bill doesn't go far enough to repeal ObamaCare and effectively repeals one entitlement to create another."
3/13/2017

> Jason Pye – "This is ObamaCare-lite. It creates a new entitlement through the refundable tax credits. It allows insurance companies to assess a 30 percent penalty on those who don't keep continuous coverage for 63 days, which is an individual mandate by another name."
> 3/7/2017

Doug Holz-Eakin, American Action Forum – "People are always criticizing the CBO. They are a nonpartisan entity that exists in a partisan environment. They do high-quality work. Are they right all the time? No, but it's certainly a serious effort."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3/13/2017

Doug Holz-Eakin - "The AHCA places trust in the decisions of individuals and families by making greater use of health savings accounts ... and respecting their ability to follow incentives to be continuously insured."

03/12/2017

Doug Holz-Eakin – "I think their basic overriding philosophy is to let the states decide a lot of things, which is sensible."

3/7/2017

Jim DeMint, Heritage Foundation – [In an interview with CBN News, Heritage Foundation President Jim DeMint says the whole thing was a rush job driven by fear.] "I think Republicans were afraid if they repealed it and didn't have an immediate fix in place."

3/13/2017

Jim DeMint— "The bill that the House and the Senate passed in 2015 should be passed again so that the debate immediately shifts from repeal to how do we improve our healthcare system. I don't believe the current bill could pass the House or the Senate."

3/9/2017

John Kasich, Governor, Ohio – "Look, the bill needs [to be] fixed. The current system doesn't work. That's why it's possible to get Democrats involved … it's not like we love Obamacare. It means don't throw the baby out with the bath water. Don't kill Medicaid expansion, and you've got to fix the exchange, but you have to have the ability to subsidize people at lower income levels."

3/12/2017

Michael Needham, Heritage Action — This bill keeps the architecture of Obamacare in place and that's why it needs to be improved and it needs to be improved a lot if we're going to make it great."

3/12/2017

"Many Americans seeking health insurance on the individual market will notice no significant difference between the Affordable Care Act (i.e., Obamacare) and the American Health Care Act…That is bad politics and, more importantly, bad policy."

3/7/2017

"The House Republican proposal released last night not only accepts the flawed progressive premises of Obamacare but expands upon them."

3/7/2017

Avik Roy, The Foundation for Research and Equal Opportunity – "Strictly speaking, the AHCA is nothing close to Obamacare Lite. The bill would repeal the Affordable Care Act's Medicaid expansion and entirely defund its health insurance exchanges."

3/12/2017

Avik Roy — "Chairman Brady is right that the means testing on the high-earner end is progress compared with previous drafts. But there remain two problems with the way the tax credits are structured."

3/7/2017

Matt Bevin, Governor, Kentucky – "Obamacare is a disaster. It needs to be repealed. It needs to be replaced!"

3/11/2017

Bevin – "We're a state that has expanded Medicaid and despite all the wishful thinking to the contrary, it hasn't worked well," Bevin said. "It's coming at a price that is unaffordable, not only to Kentucky, but to the federal government, which has most heavily subsidized it to this point."

3/11/2017

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Joseph Antos & James Capretta, American Enterprise Institute – "While the emphasis on moving quickly is not surprising, there is also a significant risk that unnecessary haste could lead to major mistakes in the legislation that would generate strong political backlash."
3/10/2017

Joe Antos, American Enterprise Institute – "Paying for all this is going to be a big issue."
3/7/2017

Tim Phillips, Americans for Prosperity - "It is past time to act and to act decisively."

HOUSE

Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI) – "We made a promise to repeal and replace Obamacare with conservative solutions and reforms. That is exactly what this bill does, and that's why we're here."
3/7/2017
"I don't really think it is chaos. . . We spent a year working on the plan . . . If we put everything in the bill we possibly want, we'd have a filibuster that can't pass in the Senate . . . This was a tax on capital income that was bad for economic growth to finance Obamacare. We're undoing Obamacare so we're not going to keep that tax in place," 3/8/2017
"We're going through the growing pains of being an opposition party with Barack Obama to actually being a governing party with a republican president, Donald Trump."
"I've been telling our members, just get ready. This is always what happens with CBO," Ryan said. "We always know you're never going to win a coverage beauty contest when it's free-market versus government mandates. If the government says 'thou shall buy our health insurance,' the government estimates are going to say people will comply and it will happen. And when you replace that with we're going to have a free market and you buy what you want to buy, they're going to say not nearly as many people are going to do that."
"Think of legislation as one train track with a bunch of trains on the track. If you don't get these trains through the system, it slows everything else down," he said. "I do agree that this is momentum-killing. If we don't do this and reduce or get rid of the trillion dollar tax increases in Obamacare, that just puts tax reform a trillion dollars further out of our reach. So there's a lot that rides on this, not to mention just the schedule. We love Neil Gorsuch. We think he's a great judge. We want to stay on schedule and get him in there as well. There's a lot that rides on this with respect to the sequence of things."
3/10/2017
"When you're a governing party getting consensus among your wide, big tent party… everybody doesn't get what they want. . . Look, this is what the legislative process looks like. When you are going through a deliberative legislative process, not ramming and jamming things but going through all the committees… people are going to try and negotiate."
3/12/2017
"I can't answer that question. It's up to people . . People are going to do what they want to do with their lives because we believe in individual freedom in this country. . . The one thing I'm certain will happen is CBO will say, 'Well, gosh. Not as many people will get coverage . . .You know why? Because this isn't a government mandate ... there's no way you can compete with on paper a government mandate with coverage."
3/12/2017
"I am excited about this analysis . . . We are saying the government is not going to force people to buy something they don't want to buy. If we end the Obamacare mandate that says you must buy this plan, then guess what? People aren't going to buy it."
3/13/2017

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Rep. Kevin Brady (R-TX) – "Today House Republicans are answering President Trump's call to action with legislation to repeal this failing law and help ensure workers and families in Texas and across the country have access to health care that's tailored to their needs—not health care that's dictated by Washington.
seven years, Washington has been failing to deliver results. Families can't afford their premiums, patients can't visit the doctor they like, and fewer insurers are offering coverage options every day. With President Trump, House Republicans are taking a stand.
"Our legislation transfers power from Washington back to the American people. We dismantle Obamacare's damaging taxes and mandates so states can deliver quality, affordable options based on what their patient populations need, and workers and families can have the freedom and flexibility to make their own health care choices.
"I'm proud to be moving this important legislation forward with my colleagues and look forward to delivering on our promises to the American people."
3/6/2017
"We will continue to listen, we will continue to make improvements where we can, but there is no question that this is the bill that will come to the president's desk."
3/10/2017
"Today, the CBO confirmed that the American Health Care Act will help lower costs, increase choices, and expand access to health care for millions of individuals and families. Our fiscally responsible reforms will lower premiums over the long term and deliver much-need relief from Obamacare's crushing taxes and mandates. CBO also confirmed our legislation protects taxpayers, decreasing the ballooning deficit by more than $330 billion and curbing growing health care costs.
"It's not surprising that the CBO coverage estimates released today are different than Obamacare's coverage estimates. The American Health Care Act is a dramatic departure from Obamacare, which forced Americans to buy expensive, one-size-fits-all health insurance. Our legislation gives individuals and families the freedom to access health care options that are tailored to their needs—not Washington's.
"As Americans continue to look at the reforms we're proposing, it's important to remember the American Health Care Act is just the beginning of our three-step process to improve our health care system. We will continue to work with President Trump and his Administration to return control of health care back to the American people and restore the free market."
3/13/2017
"If you're tired of higher taxes, higher government spending, more mandates, and government directing your health care—interfering between you and your doctor and that relationship—it's time to act. If you want to see more state and personal control of health care, this is the bill to do it."
3/14/2017

Rep. Greg Walden (R-OR) – "At town halls and meetings I've held throughout my district, Oregonians have asked for the same things when it comes to their care: greater choice, lower cost, and flexibility to choose the plan that best suits their needs. Our plan provides Oregonians with just that. It maintains important protections for consumers -- including for those with pre-existing conditions and for young adults on their parents' plans -- and it doesn't pull the rug out from anyone currently on Medicaid . . . I'm proud that the plan we've put forth today reflects eight years' worth of conversations with families, patients, and doctors. Simply put, we have a Better Way to deliver solutions that put patients -- not bureaucrats -- first, and we are moving forward united in our efforts to rescue the American people from the mess Obamacare has created. Today is the first step in helping families across this country obtain truly affordable health care, and we're eager to get this rescue mission started."
3/6/2017
If you go back to what CBO predicted would be covered on the exchanges today [under the ACA] they're only off by only a two-to-one ratio."

"The American Health Care Act is the first step in our plan to bring down costs and restore the relationship between patients and their doctors. This report confirms that we are keeping our promise to begin tackling skyrocketing health care premiums and providing families with more choices by repairing insurance markets that were destroyed by Obamacare. Additionally, our legislation would reduce the deficit and, for the first time, put Medicaid on a sustainable path, strengthening the program and focusing it on those it was intended to help, our nation's most vulnerable.

"The Congressional Budget Office has not yet analyzed our entire proposal to repeal and replace Obamacare, and today's score reflects only a portion of the actions we will take to roll back red tape, free markets, and empower consumers. Unlike Obamacare, we will not mandate Americans buy insurance plans they don't want and can't afford. Instead, we are working to create a system that gives all Americans access to affordable care and the ability to make the decisions that are right for their families."
3/13/2017

Rep. Pat Tiberi (R-OH) – "The American Health Care Act is our plan to repeal Obamacare and replace it with a 21st century system that gives people better access to quality and affordable health care. It contains specific reforms to provide relief from Obamacare's taxes and mandates, and gives patients the tools they need to be in charge of their own care, like increased access to health savings accounts and tax credits to help individuals and families purchase the care they need. "Our legislation contains the ideas and priorities we outlined 8 months ago. We are moving forward with our deliberate and transparent approach to bring real health care solutions to the American people. Our next step is the markup on Wednesday in the Ways and Means Committee. I invite everyone to read our plan on ReadtheBill.GOP."
3/6/2017

Rep. Michael Burgess (R-TX) – I never thought this would be a slam dunk. This was always going to be an arduous uphill struggle.But I'm grateful to have the White House, to have the president talking favorably about the product they will be working on this morning. But make no mistake about it. This is a reconciliation bill. This is, by definition, an intensely partisan process.
It is important to take this as the first step. I do believe it is an important and good first step, but this is in no way was this ever going to be a light lift.
3/8/2017
"If you ask someone to give up something, there will be resentment . . . If that claims my congressional career, so be it. It will be worth it to me to have effected this change."
3/11/2017

Rep. Fred Upton (R-OH) – "This has not been easy, but as I've listened to folks on all sides of this debate one thing is clear: Obamacare has not delivered on countless promises. Clearly, the current system is not working for many. It's time to fix our healthcare system in a responsible way.
To ensure no one has the rug pulled out from under them, our legislation provides a stable transition period for those currently enrolled in Obamacare and for states like Michigan that expanded Medicaid.
We deny insurance companies the ability to discriminate against those with pre-existing conditions and allow young adults to stay on their parent's insurance until age 26. We also expand health savings accounts, and encourage small employers to band together to provide health insurance to their employees. All while eliminating the individual and employer mandate penalties and harmful Obamacare taxes such as the medical device tax.
I also believe the American people deserve an open and transparent debate on these issues, and look forward to beginning this week. I will continue to work with local leaders, patients, healthcare providers, our governors, and all others wanting to be constructive as we move forward in this process."
3/7/2017

Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) – "They're not against my side, they're studying it."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"I [withdrew my amendment] because I was asked to, and as a former chairman of that committee I thought it was the right thing to do, once your bill is put together, unless it's an absolutely no-brainer addition, most chairman want to keep the bill like it is. And the bill we passed yesterday is a good bill."
3/12/2017

Rep. Steve Scalise (R-LA) – "We've seen the dramatically skyrocketing costs. You're seeing double-digit increases every year in most part of the country in health premiums for families. Many families are seeing deductibles that rise about the $10,000 range, which means people don't have access to healthcare. People don't have the ability to choose their own doctor.
"This bill finally starts the process of not only repealing Obamacare, but also replacing it with reforms that put patients back in charge of their healthcare decisions, that lower costs for families. Let them actually choose the decisions between them and their doctor, which are so personal."
3/7/2016

Rep. Cathy McMorris Rodgers (R-WA) – "The House just introduced The American Health Care Act. This is our plan to repeal Obamacare and replace it with a 21st century health care system that works for everyone. We are ensuring a smooth transition, and we're doing this right – through the step-by-step, committee process. Through regular order – open hearings, open debates — we're giving people transparency and the opportunity for input. Our legislation is about restoring people's control over their health care. This bill ensures people with pre-existing conditions have access to care; allows young adults to stay on their parents' plan until they are 26; helps Americans access affordable, quality health care through monthly tax credits; modernizes Medicaid and strengthens it for our most vulnerable; empowers individuals and families to save and spend their health care dollars the way they want and need; and, dismantles the Obamacare taxes and mandates. By offering more choices, we can help create a 21st Century health care system that provides affordable care, access, and choice. You can read the text of the bill at readthebill.gop."
3/7/2016
[The score is "an indicator [that] we take very seriously. The CBO's report is not all bad . . . we take issue with some of their projections."
3/14/2017

Rep. Larry Bucshon (R-IN) – Well, this is going to be done through reconciliation here initially, and reconciliation has a specific process that only allows you to do things. . . .then we're going to see some action hopefully through the Department of Health and Human Services and Dr. Price. And then we're going to have to work further on legislative fixes to the Affordable Care Act, and we're going to get -- have to get some bipartisans for to do that.
3/7/2017

Rep. Jason Chaffetz (R-UT) – "I do like what I see," Chaffetz also said that "Americans have choices" when it comes to their health care and that "maybe rather than getting that new iPhone that they just love and they want to go spend hundreds of dollars on that, maybe they should invest in their own health care."
3/7/2017

Rep. Peter Roskam (R-IL) – "Following through on our commitment to responsibly repeal and replace Obamacare, my colleagues and I are pleased to introduce the American Health Care Act. We're presenting a plan to increase access to affordable, patient-focused health care for all.
"In stark contrast to Obamacare, the American Health Care Act empowers individuals and families by equipping them with the resources to make the best health care decisions for themselves. We're getting rid of Obamacare's draconian taxes and mandates. We're providing monthly tax credits for low- and middle-income individuals and families. We're expanding access to health savings accounts. We're prohibiting insurers from denying coverage or charging more money to patients with pre-existing conditions. We're retaining the ability for young adults to remain on their parents' plans until they turn 26.

"However well-intentioned, Obamacare failed the American people. Illinois families are paying more money for fewer and fewer benefits. Insurance premiums have increased by an average of over 21%. Last year, the Land of Lincoln co-op became the 16th in the country to collapse, leaving 49,000 Illinoisans without any healthcare coverage at all and taxpayers on for hook for over $160 million.
"We're committed to an open and transparent process as we debate this legislation. Unlike Obamacare, we don't need to pass it to find out what's in it. I encourage everyone to read the bill for themselves at readthebill.gop"
3/7/2017

Rep. Kristi Noem (R-SD) – "In the years since Obamacare was first passed, South Dakotans have called for its repeal and replacement. In the meantime, they've seen premiums skyrocket, deductibles soar, and choices become limited. In gutting the Independent Payment Advisory Board and delaying some of the most burdensome elements, we were able to offer a degree of relief, but Obamacare is fundamentally beyond repair. Tonight, we are taking the most significant steps to date in the repeal and replacement of Obamacare. There is still plenty of public debate that must happen and I look forward to hearing South Dakotans' feedback, but this is a critical step toward healthcare that is more affordable and accessible to all."
3/7/2017

Rep. Tom Rice (R-SC) – "If the insurance company paid less taxes, maybe they could charge less premiums," 3/8/2017
"We're trying to do a blanket repeal of all the taxes . . . By taxing investment, you get less investment."
3/8/2017

Rep. Jacki Walorski (R-IN) – "Obamacare is collapsing under its own weight, driving up health care costs, and limiting options for individuals and families. We made a promise to the American people to repeal this broken law and replace it with a stable transition to a better system that lowers costs, increases choices, and protects patients. That is exactly what the American Health Care Act will do.
"The American Health Care Act provides families and small businesses relief from Obamacare's burdensome taxes and mandates. It protects patients with pre-existing conditions and ensures Americans have access to quality, affordable health care. And it gives states flexibility to tailor solutions to the needs of their own citizens.
"With this bill – which I encourage Hoosiers to read online – Congress and the Trump administration are working together to rescue our health care system and put patients first."
3/7/2017

Rep. John Shimkus (R-IL) – "This is the relief my constituents have demanded. . . While the vast majority of my constituents will be glad to see this costly, broken law go away, some are concerned about losing their current coverage, I want these folks to know that vital patient protections will be preserved under the AHCA."
3/7/2017

Rep. Gus Bilirakis (R-FL) – "In recent weeks, I held three town hall meetings and a roundtable discussion about health care in my district. Hundreds of constituents attended, and altogether I spent more than ten hours listening to folks. The best ideas come from the people, and I feel it is my duty as a representative to hear my constituents' input.
"The American Health Care Act reflects what I've heard from patients, families, doctors, and many others over the past eight years. Our bill will lower costs, increase choices, and give patients greater control of their health care. It strengthens Medicaid, and helps middle-income Americans gain access to affordable coverage.
"It also protects those with pre-existing conditions, and allows young adults to stay on their parent's insurance until age 26.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"Most importantly, this legislation is moving through Congress in an open and transparent manner. "I invite the people of Florida's 12th District to read and share the American Health Care Act at 'ReadTheBill.GOP'. Thank you I yield back."
3/7/2017

Rep. Susan Brooks (R-IN) - "Obamacare is broken. The individual market is collapsing under its own weight, and more insurers are refusing to participate in state exchanges leaving people without options and facing difficult decisions about the kind of healthcare coverage they can afford for themselves and their families," Brooks said. "Certainly, some Americans benefited from the law, but far more Americans have been failed by it and are demanding relief. Wednesday's markup will begin the process of repealing this failed policy and rebuilding a healthcare system that is more accessible and affordable for Hoosiers. Our plan protects healthcare coverage for people who have a pre-existing conditions and allows young adults under the age of 26 to remain on their parents' insurance plans. This bill, which is available online tonight for the American people to read, is a good first step to restore stability in our healthcare marketplace and to once again put people back in charge of their healthcare decisions."
3/6/2017

Rep. Richard Hudson (R-NC) – "Obamacare was written in a back room and signed into law without a single Republican vote or say from the American people. Government shouldn't work that way and neither should health care. Today we took another important step in the right direction to rebuild our health care system in an open, thoughtful and transparent way – soliciting input from both sides of the aisle, from doctors and patients, from insurance companies and businesses, and most importantly, from the American people. The government-knows-best health care system we have now is too bureaucratic, too expensive, and too restrictive. I will continue to work to repeal Obamacare and advance long-term, patient-centered solutions that deliver better results for the American people."
3/7/2017

Rep. Phil Roe (R-TN) - "This bill isn't just a promise kept, it's good policy that will give every American who wants health coverage the ability to purchase it. We know Obamacare has failed, especially in East Tennessee where one-third of the counties in the First District will have no options for coverage under the Affordable Care Act come 2018. Unlike Obamacare, the American Health Care Act is being presented to the American people for their input and being debated in a transparent way. In fact, you can read the bill in full at readthebill.gop. "For the last seven years I've worked tirelessly to draft and put forward patient-centered health care reforms. I introduced a comprehensive package of reforms, and I'm pleased many of the provisions in my bill have been included in the American Health Care Act. I look forward to debating this legislation and enacting commonsense health care reform that will turn the page on Obamacare and give patients the coverage options they deserve."
3/7/2017

Rep. Charles Dent (R-PA) - "I am continuing to thoroughly review and evaluate the released version of the American Health Care Act, paying special attention to its impact on Pennsylvanians. I am pleased that the bill fully repeals the jobs-destroying medical device tax, addresses over-reaching government mandates, and includes some elements of replacement. I remain concerned, however, about the impact of the Medicaid changes on vulnerable populations, as well as the overall effect of the bill on access to affordable care. I look forward to input from the nation's governors, the report from the Congressional Budget Office, the result of the Committees' processes, and feedback from my constituents as this bill continues through the legislative process over the next couple of weeks."
3/7/2017
"This is a difficult vote … There's always been concern from our members. I watched the Obamacare debate back in 2010, and I saw that their more centrist members were put in a difficult predicament. I suspect the flip happens this time."

Rep. Chris Collins (R-NY) – "I'm confident it will pass. Everyone understands the posturing before a vote. But how could any Republican go home and say they voted against repeal and replace?"

Rep. David Schweikert (R-AZ) – "If you look at our bill, we're systematically trying to remove those taxes that've been woven into peoples' premiums."

Rep. Patrick McHenry (R-NC) – "The president said very clearly to the deputy whip team, this is the bill he wants on his desk and he wants to get this done quickly so we can move on to tax reform, I think we're going to see the marker he puts down for how he intends to use his power going forward."
3/7/2017

Rep. Steve Stivers (R-OH) – "Republicans have consistently won on the promise of real healthcare reform and the American Health Care Act keeps those promises to the American people," NRCC Chairman Steve Stivers said in a statement. "Democrats have suffered significant losses in recent election cycles, yet they still refuse to listen to the demands of their constituents. Obamacare is failing and Republicans are determined to replace it - Democrats can either join us or feel the repercussions again in 2018."

Rep. Mark Walker (R-NC) – "We are carefully reviewing this legislation looking in three main areas of shared conservative concern: protection of the unborn, elimination of Obamacare's Medicaid expansion and

"The Congressional Budget Office's score does little to alleviate our conservative concerns for this Obamacare replacement bill. First, the legislation's refundable tax credits cost more than half of Obamacare's. Second, the hundreds of billions of dollars in estimated Medicaid savings are built on the shaky assumption that a future Congress will actually maintain the bill's enrollment freeze in Obamacare's Medicaid expansion."

Rep. Tom MacArthur (R-NJ) – "The current date is better and I don't like the idea of making it shorter" [regarding Medicaid expansion].
3/10/2017

Rep. Mo Brooks (R-AL) – "I'm undecided. I am still trying to examine it and trying to figure out if there are more pros or more cons, and where it is on balance. Some key issues to me, how does it affect the solvency of the federal government. As you know, we're headed to a debilitating insolvency and bankruptcy (ph) as we soon blow through the $20 trillion debt mark."
3/7/2017

Rep. Dave Brat (R-VA) – "President Trump ran on a repeal of Obamacare and I hope people are looking out for his reputation ... and that they produce a bill which fulfills his promise and maintains his integrity."
3/7/2017
"Now [they] are saying we're going to do repeal and replace but the bill does nothing of the sort," he said. "[Speaker] Paul Ryan has always said the entire rationale for this bill is to bend the cost curve down, and so far I have seen no evidence that this bill will bring the cost curve down."

Rep. Jim Jordan (R-OH) - "I don't see any significant changes here" between Obamacare and the House GOP bill to replace it. "It's significantly the same thing to me so it sort of doesn't change my position, but we'll talk to our guys tomorrow night. ... My guess is this bill looks a lot like the last one, and we didn't like the last one.”

“I don't think it could pass today. I mean, we had our meeting last night with the House Freedom Caucus and the opposition in there was strong to this legislation.

Not one single [conservative-backed] amendment was allowed to be offered. That’s not how the process is supposed to work. . . This idea that they had the bill hidden away, introduced it five days ago and now you have to take it or leave it? That’s not how American democracy works . . . Sen. Rand Paul (R-KY) and Rep. Mark Meadows (R-NC) – Penned a joint op-ed at FoxNews.com calling on congressional leadership to pass a clean repeal of Obamacare right away and ensure a fair, open replacement process so all voices are heard.

Rep. Mark Meadows (R-NC) – “Do I expect all of the issues that many of the Freedom Caucus members would like to have will be in a final bill that passes? The answer is no, and so it’s about a good-faith negotiation and I think all of our members are willing to do that.”

“We’ve got to lower health care premiums… and this current plan doesn’t effectively lower health care premiums . . . If we don’t do that, then we just have Obamacare by another name.”

3/13/2017

Rep. Diane Black (R-TN) - "Obamacare was a law built on government control and federal mandates. The American Health Care Act is a bill built on choice and freedom in health care decisions. Our goal has always been to provide access to health insurance for everyone who wants it and to reduce health care costs for all Americans. Our bill does exactly that. Dismantling the individual mandate gives Americans the freedom to make choices for themselves, even if that choice is to not have health care coverage. We believe and are committed to the idea that the American people are best suited to make decisions about their own lives. "The CBO report shows that our bill lowers premiums by 10 percent by 2026, while increasing choice and creating a vibrant marketplace for consumers. The bill reduces the deficit by $337 billion and lowers taxes by $883 billion for Americans and small business owners. The American Health Care Act expands choice and freedom while reducing costs and saving taxpayer dollars. We look forward to acting on it in the House Budget Committee this week."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

SENATE

Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-KY) – "Last night, the committees of jurisdiction in the House released a proposal to repeal Obamacare and begin the process of replacing of it with common-sense reforms to preserve access and lower cost. The plan builds upon the 2015 repeal bill, which was vetoed by President Obama. I'm happy to hear the committees will begin consideration this week. I encourage every member to review it because I hope to call it up when we receive it from the House.
"It's clear to just about everyone that Obamacare is failing. Costs are soaring. Choices are diminishing. Insurance markets are teetering. It would be easy to just sit back and watch this partisan law collapse under its own weight. Pass the buck to the next guy. That seems to be the Democrats' strategy. But Republicans think the middle class deserves better.
"In election after election, Americans have called for relief. In election after election, Americans have called for an end to this partisan law. We promised we'd do both of those things. We are.
"The legislation the House introduced last night represents the next step along that path. It's the result of a long conversation with many voices, and it's supported by the one person who can actually sign a bill into law — the President of the United States. I want to recognize everyone for their contributions and hard work. Given last night's announcement, I especially want to commend our colleagues in the House.
"The policy conversation that led to what we saw last night continues now. The policy process moves forward today. We've come a long way. We've got a lot further to go. But we're making significant progress. Working arm-in-arm with the House and the new administration, we're going to keep our promise to the American people.
"Because Obamacare is a direct attack on the middle class. We all know it. We all get the letters and the phone calls. We hear the heart-break and the frustration nearly every day. Consider this letter from one of my constituents in Goshen, who wrote about the Obamacare plans available to his family:
"'I am extremely displeased with the limited choices available. While 16 plans are listed for me at the Healthcare.gov website, they all are inferior to my current 2016 plan,' he wrote. 'Neither our primary care physician nor my rheumatologist is in network of any offered 2017 plan.'
"'The cost,' he continued, 'is another problem. The 2017 plan that I will probably choose will have a 20% higher premium than my 2016 plan with a lower level of benefits…'
"Paying more for less. That's Obamacare for you right there. Look, in so many different ways, we've seen the evidence for years now that Obamacare simply isn't working. This isn't a law that can be fixed. This isn't a law that can be saved. It has to be repealed and replaced. We promised the American people we would. We're keeping our promise."
3/7/2017
"The Medicaid provision that Chairman Walden put in was worked out by, I'm told, by 10 governors — five who expanded and five who didn't. I think they've reached a reasonable compromise. I don't know that every governor is going to embrace it, but we think most of them will."
3/9/2017

Sen. John Cornyn (R-TX) – "Now we have an opportunity to do better for the people we represent, who are counting on us to deliver, to repeal Obamacare and replace it with options that work, and I believe the plan released last night is a major step in the right direction.'
'We need to move health care decisions out of Washington and send them back to the states and back to patients and families and their doctors.'
'As soon as we can do that and deliver on that major promise to the American people, the sooner we do that, a whole lot of American families across the country will feel relief."
3/7/2017

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"There's people that have raised a lot of different issues that can be addressed in the House markup. If not by then, by the time we get to the floor. As you know, there's a vote-a-rama. So, there's a lot of great ideas, some tweaks, and I think that's just a part of the process."
3/8/2017
"The House is going to continue to work on the bill to try and build support for it. But until they do, there's not much for the Senate to do. It's premature to talk about that."
3/14/2017

Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-UT) – "I don't know. I haven't really chatted with other people. It's a first draft. We have to all be concerned about getting it right . . . It's a first step in a process. I hope we can get things right."
3/7/2017
"Naturally, I'm concerned." [Asked about the 24 million increase in the number of Americans CBO says may be uninsured in 2026]
3/13/2016

Sen. Lamar Alexander (R-TN) – "One especially encouraging aspect of the House bill is that it would help 40,000 Knoxville-area residents who are expected to have no insurance plans available on the exchange next year by allowing them to use their Affordable Care Act subsidy outside of the exchange. The bill also allows subsidies to be used to purchase lower cost health plans than allowed under current law, which would provide relief to Tennesseans facing increased premiums on the Obamacare exchanges across the state. The House begins the committee process on the bill this week, but this bill clearly would provide Americans with a broader choice of plans, rein in the out-of-control Medicaid entitlement spending, and give states flexibility to provide Americans with access to low-cost insurance."
3/7/2017
"I'm doing all that I can to make the House bill as good as it can be. We've been working for the last six weeks with the House committees and a bicameral staff. That's the most effective way for me to improve the bill right now."
3/14/2017

Sen. John Thune (R-SD) – I think there's got to be an opportunity for the Senate to be heard on this … There are lots of ways you can fix and amend the bill . . . Then it would have to go back to the House obviously, but I wouldn't rule that out. I just think you've got to have an opportunity for members of the Senate to have their input into it."
3/9/2017
"There are things we can do to tailor the tax credit in a way that makes it more attractive to people and more helpful to people on the lower end, and with a phase-out that is a little less steep than what the House has,"
3/14/2017

Sen. Richard Burr (R-NC) – "The House plan is a good first step toward providing relief from the broken promises, costly mandates, and government bureaucracy created by Obamacare. I look forward to working with my colleagues to fulfill our promise to the American people to repeal and replace Obamacare with solutions that make health insurance more affordable and that give families more control over their own health care."
3/7/2017

Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) - "I've always been concerned that the public needs to absorb this. We're not going to be judged by when we did it but how we did it," Graham told reporters. He said going too quickly "is a risk we're going to take if we don't slow down here a little bit. . . I'm not worried about the recess. I'm worried about doing it right. I've seen one process that produced Obamacare, where you vote on it on Christmas Eve. I don't feel a need for speed."
3/7/2017

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Sen. Roy Blunt (R-MO) - "What I don't like is it may not be a plan that gets a majority of votes and lets us move on, because I think we can't stay where we are with the plan we've got now," the Missouri Republican told KMBZ radio in Kansas City. "I think the nucleus of the plan is clearly there, and the president says it's negotiable and so do House members, so I'll be interested to be part of that negotiation as we work toward a majority in the House and Senate that puts a bill on the president's desk."
3/7/2017
"The money-saving numbers are pretty strong. And a lot of the opposition seemed to come from people who thought there wasn't enough reform in terms of spending . . . In terms of coverage, we need to get a better sense of what Health and Human Services can do."
3/13/2017

Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AL) – "I don't think that the Planned Parenthood defund should be in the ACA bill that we're dealing with. I just don't think so,"
3/7/2017

Sen. Dan Sullivan (R-AL) – "Everybody has concerns about that," (regarding changes to Medicaid expansion).
3/7/2017

Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) – "This is not the Obamacare repeal bill we've been waiting for. It is a missed opportunity and a step in the wrong direction."
"We promised the American people we would drain the swamp and end business as usual in Washington. This bill does not do that. We don't know how many people would use this new tax credit, we don't know how much it will cost, and we don't know if this bill will make health care more affordable for Americans."
"This is exactly the type of back-room dealing and rushed process that we criticized Democrats for and it is not what we promised the American people."
"Let's fulfill our Obamacare repeal promise immediately and then take our time and do reform right. Let's pass the 2015 repeal bill that Republicans in both houses of Congress voted for and sent to the White House just 15 months ago. Once Obamacare has been properly sent to the dustbin of history then we can begin a deliberative, open, and honest process to reform our nation's health care system."
3/7/2017

Sen. James Lankford (R-OK) – "It's a tremendous change in tax policy, especially for small businesses that are just choking out. It's a first step."
3/7/2017
There are an awful lot of questions, if we don't get things right, we should not move" the bill.
3/13/2017

Sen. David Perdue (R-GA) – "The Senate's getting input right now, regardless of what you hear some senators say. . . I'm really kind of distressed about that: Self interest vs. national interest. ... This is a national interest crisis."
3/7/2017

Sen. Ted Cruz (R-TX) – "The current draft in the House is a draft about which I have significant concerns. As drafted, I do not believe this bill would pass the United States Senate."
"Yesterday President Trump tweeted that this bill was now open for negotiation, and I think that is exactly right. There are vigorous debates that are now ongoing within the House of Representatives, within the Senate, between the House and the Senate, and with the administration about what are contours of this legislation."
3/8/2017
"I have been encouraging leaders in both houses that we should not approach this with both hands tied behind our back," According to the 1974 law that set up reconciliation, he insisted, "it is the presiding officer — the vice president of the United States — who rules what's permissible under reconciliation and what is not."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3/9/2017

Sen. Marco Rubio (R-FL) – "[there is] no way the bill now is what [will be] passed in the House."
3/7/2017

Sens. Rob Portman (R-OH), Cory Gardner (R-CO), Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) and Shelley Moore Capito (R-WV) – "We will not support a plan that does not include stability for Medicaid expansion populations or flexibility for states."
3/6/17

Sen. Rob Portman (R-PA) – "I appreciated the opportunity to address my concerns about our Medicaid expansion population in Ohio. As I have said before, I support making structural improvements to the Medicaid program, but we must provide stability and certainty for individuals and families in Medicaid expansion programs and real flexibility for states," Portman said. "I will continue to work with the administration and my colleagues to address these concerns."
3/9/2017
"I'm concerned about the Medicaid population. That's the biggest part of the coverage for Ohio," 3/13/2017

Sen. Corey Gardner (R-CO) – "We've got work to do here."
3/14/2017

Sen. Shelley Moore Capito (R-WV) – "I've just heard that's bubbling up. That causes me great concern, and I will be talking with my fellow senators who are more deeply affected by this of course, in the expansion states . . . I have grave concerns about that."
3/9/2017

Sen. Rand Paul (R-KY) – "Republicans across the country are unified on repeal, not on replace,"
3/8/2017
"Right now I think there's a charm offensive going on. Everybody is being nice to everybody because they want us to vote for this, but we're not going to vote for it."
3/12/2017
I don't think they'll have any changes or any compromise until they lose a vote. This really wasn't a negotiating session."
3/14/2017

Sen. Susan Collins (R-ME) – "Yes, I do not think it will be well received in the Senate. But I do want to emphasize that it's still a work in progress. The House Committees are going to be working their will on the bill. It has to go before the full House before it comes to us. And it's been a work in progress, as Secretary Price has said. And the bill that was released this week is far better than the bill that we were briefed on the week before. So, who knows, maybe it'll eventually get better, and thus will be better received in the Senate."
3/8/2017

Sen. Tom Cotton (R-AR) – "We're going to live with health care reform we pass forever or until it's changed in the far-distant future. So I don't think we need to introduce legislation on Monday and have one change to amend it on Wednesday."
3/8/2017
"I'm afraid that if they vote for this bill, they're going to put the House majority at risk next year."
3/13/2017
[The CBO score] "provides useful information. . . the CBO director is not Moses. He's not walking down from the mountaintop with stone tablets. And we should evaluate that useful information with a critical eye."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3/14/2017
"I suspect that the House leadership will have to do so, because I suspect they don't have anything close to a majority of their members who are willing to vote for this bill now. I know many of them, and they come from all stripes," Cotton told radio host Hugh Hewitt. "They're not just hard line conservatives. Many of them are centrists, or many of them are just being practical-minded about this bill the way I am."
3/14/2017

Sen. Dean Heller (R-NV) – "I've heard a lot of people say that every American has a right to an automobile . . . Do I believe that all Americans should have access to health care? Absolutely I do. . . Not everything in the Affordable Care Act is bad. . . As we move forward and take a look at some of these changes and what's occurring, I think we ought to embrace what's good in the Affordable Care Act. . . They're talking about 2020, now they're talking about making the changes in 2018 . . . That's not enough time for Nevada to adjust. We need time to adjust. I want to move that thing up four or five years. . . My argument with the Republicans is if we're going to make the changes, don't repeal the Affordable Care Act so you can keep all the taxes. I think that's unfair and I don't think that's a responsible way to move forward . . . It's been eight years, eight years since I've heard a treasury secretary talk about economic growth. . . They never talked about economic growth. You know what? We didn't have economic growth for the last eight years."
3/12/13

Sen. Bill Cassidy (R-LA) - "Can't sugarcoat it. Doesn't look good . . . The CBO score was, shall we say, an eye-popper."
3/14/2017

Sen. John Hoeven (R-ND) – "There's some adjustments we could make that would make a significant difference in the CBO score. . . We can clearly do that within the framework we have."
3/13/2017
"We're working very hard to make sure we have a Medicaid product that the governors can get behind,"

CBO ESTIMATES 24M CONSUMERS WOULD LOSE COVERAGE UNDER GOP'S ACA REPLACEMENT BILL. This morning, there is heavy television, print and online coverage of figures released by the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office on Monday, indicating that if House GOP leaders' American Health Care Act becomes law, millions of consumers would lose coverage. The media characterized the results as a negative for the Republican party, given that they will likely lead to increased opposition from centrists and Democrats.

In its lead story, the CBS Evening News (3/13, lead story, 2:45, Mason, 11.17M) said "President Trump has promised to replace Obamacare with an insurance plan that would cover everybody with higher-quality care at lower cost, but a report today from the non-partisan Congressional Budget Office says millions who gained coverage under Obamacare will lose it next year under the Republican plan the President supports."

ABC World News Tonight (3/13, story 4, 3:15, 14.63M) reported the CBO found that "under the replacement plan, there would be 14 million more uninsured people next year than under Obamacare, and 24 million a decade from now."

NBC Nightly News (3/13, story 4, 2:25, Holt, 16.61M) reported the CBO is projecting that millions of people would lose healthcare coverage under the Republicans' plan, "and that the cost of individual premiums would go up substantially, at least in the short-term."

On its front page, the New York Times (3/13, A1, Kaplan, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that on Monday, the Congressional Budget Office said House Republicans' plan to replace the Affordable Care Act would result in some 24 million Americans losing coverage within 10 years. The article says the GOP had been "bracing" for what was most likely going to be a negative estimate of the impact of the American Health Care Act, which "was already facing widespread criticism from providers of health care, some conservatives, and a united Democratic Party." This means the CBO's figures will probably "only make it more difficult for Republicans to explain why their legislation would bring positive change to the country's health care system."

The Washington Post (3/13, A1, Viebeck, Goldstein, Snell, 11.43M) reports on its front page that the AHCA "would lower the number of Americans with health insurance by 24 million by 2026, while reducing the federal deficit by $337 billion over 10 years," according to the CBO. The Post says this estimate highlights the "dramatic loss in health insurance coverage" which would occur if the AHCA becomes law, "potentially contradicting President Trump's vow that the plan would provide 'insurance for everybody.'" The piece adds that this "could threaten support from moderate Republican lawmakers."

USA Today (3/13, Kelly, 5.28M) reports the CBO said about 14 million consumers would lose coverage in 2018, and that number would rise to 24 million by 2026. The group stated, "Some of those people would choose not to have insurance because they chose to be covered by insurance under current law only to avoid paying the penalties, and some people would forgo insurance in response to higher premiums." The CBO also said its analysis revealed a total of 52 million Americans would be uninsured in 2026 if the AHCA were enacted, compared to 28 million under the ACA.

On its website, CNN (3/13, Lee, Luhby, 29.79M) reports that this highly-anticipated "score immediately puts the writers and supporters of the GOP Obamacare bill on the defensive." In addition, it is "certain to complicate the party's already troubled efforts to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act."

CNBC (3/13, Mangan, 2.17M) reports on its website that a significant portion of the losses in 2018 "would result from the bill's proposed repeal of Obamacare's individual mandate." Yet, loss of coverage "between 2018 and 2026 'would stem in large part from changes in Medicaid enrollment," the CBO said.

The Los Angeles Times (3/13, Bierman, 4.52M) reports the Trump Administration "said it 'strenuously' disagreed with" the CBO's findings. HHS Secretary Tom Price said, "It's just not believable."

Politico (3/13, Pradhan, Haberkorn, 2.46M) reports Republicans quickly "derided the CBO projections as an incomplete analysis, because" they "haven't yet revealed details of the regulatory action they plan to take, or the bills they hope to get through the Senate under the regular rules, which would allow a Democratic filibuster."

A separate Politico (3/13, McCaskill, 2.46M) article quotes Price as saying, "We believe that our plan will cover more individuals at a lower cost and give them the choices that they want for the coverage that they want for themselves and for their families, not that the government forces them to buy."

McClatchy (3/13, Pugh, 74K) reports that Price also said, "No, I wouldn't be able to concede that at all," referring to the projected number of people who are expected to lose coverage under the AHCA. He added, "Because the fact is they're going to be able to buy the coverage they want. ... We think the CBO simply has it wrong." Meanwhile, Andrew Gurman, MD, president of the American Medical Association, "called the potential loss of coverage 'unacceptable.'" He stated, "While the Affordable Care Act was an imperfect law, it was a significant improvement on the status quo at the time, and the AMA believes we need continued progress to expand coverage for the uninsured. Unfortunately, the current proposal – as the CBO analysis shows – would result in the most vulnerable population losing their coverage."

The AP (3/13) reports that Democratic leaders in Congress say the CBO's figures should be a "knockout blow" for the AHCA. Indeed, House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) recommended that House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI) "pull the bill from consideration, saying, 'It's really the only decent thing to do.'"

The Washington Times (3/13, Howell, 272K) reports Reps. Richard Neal (D-MA) and Frank Pallone (D-NJ) said the CBO's figures "now confirm what we already knew: Despite promises that 'everyone would be covered' and 'no one would be worse off,' this Republican bill would rip away health insurance from 24 million Americans over the next decade and ask millions to pay more for less coverage."

Trump Administration's Criticism Of CBO Could Lead To Months Of Fighting Over Various Policies. The Washington Post (3/13, Paletta, 11.43M) reports that the CBO's findings "triggered a blistering backlash from the Trump administration, with senior White House officials working to undermine the independent budget office's credibility." The article points out that CBO officials are typically "political punching bags," yet "vitriolic attacks from top White House officials in recent days have the potential to erode the agency's standing at a time when its assessments of health-care policy, changes to the tax code and deficit projections will factor into whether Congress enacts key parts of the Trump administration's agenda."

CBO Findings Challenging Trump's Healthcare Promises. Politico (3/13, Jackson, 2.46M) reports President Trump has been promising that everyone will have access to healthcare, and that coverage "will be a 'lot less expensive' for everyone." The article says the CBO estimate that the AHCA could result in some 24 million people losing coverage "will test Trump's health care claims," although "the White House has made it clear they reject the analysis."

White House More Likely To Consider Conservative-Backed Changes To AHCA. Politico (3/13, Dawsey, Bade, Palmeri, 2.46M) reports the White House "is increasingly likely to support some conservative-backed changes to the House Obamacare alternative, two administration officials said Monday – a move" which came on the heels of the CBO's release of its findings regarding the AHCA. According to an unnamed senior Administration official, the White House is mulling "significant" changes "to the bill before it hits the House floor next week."

Sanders Warns "Thousands...Will Die" If AHCA Becomes Law. The Hill (3/13, Carney, 1.25M) reports that in response to the findings, Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-VT) said "'thousands of Americans will die' under the House GOP's plans to repeal and replace ObamaCare." He warned that if the proposal becomes law "and millions of people are thrown off health insurance...thousands of Americans will die."

Former Clinton Aide Calls CBO Findings "Too Damning." The Hill (3/13, Hensch, 1.25M) reports that Brian Fallon, the press secretary for Hillary Clinton's 2016 presidential campaign, said the White House will not be able to ignore the CBO's findings, adding that the results "are too damning for members who have to face reelection in '18 to ignore."

Gingrich Criticizes CBO, Says It Should Be Abolished. The Hill (3/13, Concha, 1.25M) reports that former House Speaker Newt Gingrich (R-GA) "slammed the Congressional Budget Office's (CBO) scoring of Republican health care legislation, calling it 'disgustingly wrong' and recommending that the office be abolished." He stated, "They should abolish the Congressional Budget Office. It is corrupt. It is dishonest. It was totally wrong on ObamaCare by huge, huge margins."

The New York Daily News (3/13, Elizalde, 4.45M) also covers the story.

The Secretary in the News:

HHS SECRETARY HAS "SIGNIFICANT CONCERNS" ABOUT HOUSE BILL THAT WOULD ALLOW EMPLOYERS TO REQUIRE EMPLOYEES TO UNDERGO GENETIC TESTING. STAT (3/13, Joseph) reports Health and Human Services Secretary Tom Price said he has "significant concerns" about "a House bill [HR 1313] that would allow companies to require employees to undergo genetic testing, but said the administration had not yet examined the issue." The article reports that the bill "would also allow employers to see their employees' genetic information and impose financial penalties on employees who wanted to opt out."

In a separate article, STAT (3/13, Begley) reports opposition is growing to a "bill that would explicitly remove genetic privacy protections from workplace wellness programs." The article mentions that the National Institutes of Health is starting a project this year that "would collect genetic and other information on 1 million or more Americans," and that genetic privacy is a major concern among the organizers of that project.

On its website, CNN (3/13, Christensen, 29.79M) reports that the American Academy of Pediatrics and other groups sent a letter opposing the measure to Rep. Virginia Foxx (R-NC), who introduced the bill. The Huffington Post (3/13, Jamieson, 237K) also covers the story.

TRUMP ADMINISTRATION SUPPORTS MORE FLEXIBILITY WITH STATE WAIVERS UNDER ACA. Reuters (3/13, Humer) reports the Trump Administration said on Monday that it would be more flexible granting waivers to states "to make changes to their health insurance programs by using a section of the 2010 Affordable Care Act that gives them the flexibility to do so." President Donald Trump and Secretary of Health and Human Services Tom Price have said that states should have more control over healthcare.

HHS SEC. PRICE ASKS GOVERNORS TO APPLY FOR STATE INNOVATION WAIVERS. Healthcare Finance News (3/13, Morse, 94K) reports HHS Secretary Tom Price is "asking governors to apply for state innovation waivers made possible under the ACA" to help strengthen health insurance markets. Price said in a Monday letter, "State Innovation Waivers that implement high-risk pool/state-operated reinsurance programs may be an opportunity for states to lower premiums for consumers, improve market stability, and increase consumer choice." Alaska, California, Hawaii and Vermont have applied for waivers, but only Alaska and Hawaii "State Innovation Waivers that implement high-risk pool/state-operated reinsurance programs may be an opportunity for states to lower premiums for consumers, improve market stability, and increase consumer choice."

Zika Virus News:

CDC OFFICIALS WARN MEN IN THREE FLORIDA COUNTIES TO NOT DONATE SPERM DUE TO ZIKA CONCERNS. The AP (3/13, Stobbe) reports CDC health officials are warning men living in Miami-Dade, Broward, and Palm Beach counties in Florida to avoid donating sperm due to the risk that it may spread Zika. According to the AP, "The advice applies to men who lived or traveled in those counties since June 15." The New York Times (3/13, Belluck, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports officials also warned women that sperm collected in the area "as far back as mid-June might be infected with the Zika virus." They added that "the new warning was driven by caution, not by any evidence of infected semen from sperm banks or of babies with Zika-linked brain damage who were conceived with donated sperm."

USA Today (3/13, Gomez, 5.28M), NBC News (3/13, Fox, 2.67M), Reuters (3/13, Steenhuysen) and CNN (3/13, Goldschmidt, 29.79M) also provide coverage.

NEW YORK OFFICIALS MORE CONFIDENT ABOUT FIGHTING ZIKA THIS YEAR. POLITICO New York (3/13, Baird, 53K) reports New York's "city and state health departments now say they are more confident about addressing Zika as mosquitoes return to the state in April." Officials explain that they "didn't really know" much about the disease last year, but they are "more certain of what to expect this year." The state "spent $2.1 million on Zika prevention through February 2017 and is still developing its budget to address prevention this summer," and New York City has "committed $21 million over three years" to fight the disease.

HHS in the News:

SENATE CONFIRMS VERMA AS CMS ADMINISTRATOR. The Hill (3/13, 1.25M) reports the Senate voted 55-43 Monday evening to confirm Seema Verma as head of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. According to Reuters (3/13, Cowan), Verma will be a key actor in the implementation of the GOP healthcare overhaul, called the American Health Care Act. The AP (3/13, Alonso-Zaldivar) says Verma does not support Secretary Price's approach to Medicare reform, a voucher plan that would give retirees a fixed federal contribution to purchase private coverage.

According to the New York Times (3/13, Pear, Subscription Publication, 13.9M), Verma has "extensive experience" in Medicaid programs, "unlike most people who have held" her position. Republican Sen. Orrin Hatch called her the "ideal candidate" for the position, and the Times says Sen. Joe Donnelly (D-IN) is one Democrat who approves of her Indiana Medicaid work.

The Wall Street Journal (3/13, Hackman, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) reports conservatives praised Verma's work in implementing Indiana's Medicaid expansion program under then-Gov. Mike Pence. Verma negotiated a deal with the Obama administration to charge monthly premiums to enrollees under the expansion. CNN (3/13, Killough, Bradner, Barrett, 29.79M) reports Pence has championed the Healthy Indiana Plan "as a conservative alternative to Obamacare's main vehicle for expanded coverage."

Congressional Quarterly (3/13, Young, Subscription Publication, 967) reports Verma is expected to facilitate states experimenting with various Medicaid reforms by approving waivers.

Also covering this story are Fierce Healthcare (3/13, 147K), Healthcare Finance News (3/13, Powderly, 94K), Modern Healthcare (3/13, Subscription Publication, 241K), U.S. News & World Report (3/13, Leonard, 1.02M), and the Washington Examiner (3/13, 400K)

CRITICS SUGGEST RIGHT-TO-TRY LAWS UNDERMINE FDA APPROVAL PROCESS. The Los Angeles Times (3/14, Healy, 4.52M) reports that right-to-try laws have been adopted in 33 states, but critics argue the laws do little to help patients while undermining the FDA's task of evaluating the safety and effectiveness of new drugs. The article reports that right-to-try laws are an alternative to the FDA's "compassionate use" or "expanded access" program, which has been in place for over 20 years and has approved roughly 99% of received applications. Dr. Peter Lurie, associate FDA commissioner, told a Senate committee last year that emergency requests under the program "are usually granted immediately over the phone, and non-emergencies are processed in a median of four days," and that the application process was streamlined last June. However, some proponents of right-to-try laws have criticized that FDA program arguing that the application process is too lengthy or cumbersome.

EX-FDA BIOTECHNOLOGY DIRECTOR: RIGHT-TO-TRY LEGISLATION NEEDS FINE-TUNING. In an op-ed for the Wall Street Journal (3/13, Subscription Publication, 6.37M), Stanford physician and biology researcher Henry Miller, the founding director of the FDA Office of Biotechnology, writes that current right-to-try legislation needs more thought and fine-tuning as the policy has dangers. Miller recommends only drugs that have passed one Phase II trial that shows the drug performs with reasonable effectiveness be allowed and that the pharmaceutical company inform patients of the uncertainty of a positive response and of the potential for known side effects. According to Miller, determining the cost of drugs, insurance companies' payment responsibility, and where the liability rests if something goes wrong pose problems.

FDA CONSIDERS ESTABLISHING OFFICE OF PATIENT AFFAIRS. Congressional Quarterly (3/13, Siddons, Subscription Publication, 967) reports the Food and Drug Administration announced Monday that it "may establish an Office of Patient Affairs." The agency wants to incorporate "patient data into its benefit and risk assessments when making approval decisions," possibly speeding up the approval process. "The FDA is seeking comments on the new office," which would be "a main FDA liaison for the patient community" and maintain "the data systems that would manage the data collected from patients."

TRUMP'S FDA PICK GOTTLIEB SEEN AS FRIEND TO PHARMA. Reuters (3/13, Clarke) reports that President Trump "has chosen Dr. Scott Gottlieb, a conservative health policy expert with deep ties to the pharmaceutical industry, to lead the U.S. Food and Drug Administration." Gottlieb "is viewed favorably by drug companies and pharmaceutical investors," and "sits on the boards of several small drug and biotech companies and is an adviser to GlaxoSmithKline." Brian Skorney, an investment analyst at Robert W. Baird, wrote in a research note, "Thank God it's Gottlieb. We view this as a favorable development for the sector."

STAT (3/13, Garde) reported in a brief that "the pick drew bipartisan praise and was widely celebrated by the drug industry, but Gottlieb's close ties to pharma could be a drag on Senate confirmation, as was the case for his predecessor."

Reporting on his corporate ties, MarketWatch (3/13, Court, 767K) says that Gottlieb "has taken more than $400,000 from drugmakers just in the last few years, served on many corporate boards and forged countless other corporate ties while spending the last decade at a venture capital firm." However, MarketWatch says that corporate ties didn't stop Califf's confirmation and "they're unlikely to hobble Gottlieb," who is "the least radical of several names raised for the nomination and has the support of many in industry." The article adds that "a Mizuho Securities USA survey found 72% of 53 drug companies polled favored Gottlieb for the position."

Fierce Biotech (3/13, Taylor, 2K) reports that "Gottlieb has a history of calling for faster approvals, greater regulatory transparency and a realignment of the balance of power between FDA and doctors, but as an industry insider is seen as a safer pair of hands than some of the other mooted candidates." The article goes on to say that "Gottlieb is a believer in the potential for FDA actions to drive down the cost of drugs," which "means the fast, flexible approach to evidence taken by FDA's cancer division could spread throughout the agency, leading to the regulator waving through more applications and relying more on doctors to act as gatekeepers." Fierce Biotech adds that "Gottlieb could overhaul the aspects of generic drug regulation that prop up the prices of some products long after their patents have expired."

The Hill (3/13, Chacko, 1.25M) reports that Gottlieb "is drawing praise from some Democrats and Republicans, though his drug industry ties and policy positions will likely raise questions during the confirmation process." Commenting about the nomination, former FDA commissioner Robert Califf said, "I am breathing a sigh of relief." Former Medicare and Medicaid chief Andy Slavitt said Gottlieb is "a very good choice."

Fierce Pharma (3/13, Sagonowsky, 3K) reports that Gottlieb has said theories connecting vaccines and autism have been "thoroughly debunked" and are "myths." The claims stand in contrast to previous statements made by President Trump questioning the safety of vaccines.

Scientific American (3/13, 1.88M) also provides more on Gottlieb's background.

FDA DOES NOT FORCE COMPANIES TO RELEASE RETAILER LISTS DURING RECALL. The Washington Post (3/13, Dewey, 11.43M) reports SoyNut Butter has recalled some of its products due to an E. coli contamination, but does not need to declare where the affected products were sold, because "in the case of releasing retailer lists during major outbreaks, the FDA has historically sided with business, ruling that such lists constitute 'confidential commercial information' and thus should not be available for public consumption."

SENATOR PROPOSES BILL TO FORCE FDA TO ENFORCE DAIRY LABELING REGULATIONS. The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (3/13, Barrett, 513K) reports the Sen. Tammy Baldwin is advocating on behalf of her Wisconsin dairy farmer constituents by proposing the Dairy Price Act, which would force the FDA to enforce existing regulations against products falsely labeled as milk. In a news release announcing the proposal, Baldwin said, "The FDA has not enforced these labeling regulations [requiring products labeled milk, cheese, or yogurt to meet specific ingredient standards], and the mislabeling of products has increased rapidly. This hurts dairy farmers … and it has also led to the proliferation of mislabeled alternative products." The bill is opposed by industries and groups promoting plant-based alternatives to dairy products, such as soy, almond, coconut, and rice milks.

NEW REPORT SUGGESTS BIOTECH DEVELOPMENTS COULD OVERWHELM REGULATORY SYSTEM. STAT (3/13, Keshavan) reports that a new report commissioned by the FDA and two other Federal agencies suggests that new biotech products could eventually "overwhelm the regulatory system" and tax the existing expertise and forms of governance. The report from the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine "comes at a time when far-reaching deregulation looms, along with a government hiring freeze," STAT says, adding that some forthcoming technologies, including CRISPR genome editing and "engineered microbes, and even plants and insects," will require "a scrupulous regulatory process." The EPA and the Department of Agriculture also commissioned the report.

RESEARCHERS SEEKING TO EXPLORE WHETHER TEENS ARE USING DRUGS LESS BECAUSE THEY ARE SPENDING MORE TIME WITH PHONES, COMPUTERS. The New York Times (3/13, Richtel, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that "researchers are starting to" question whether teenagers are "using drugs less in part because they are constantly stimulated and entertained by their computers and phones." According to the Times, "Nora Volkow, director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, says she plans to begin research on the topic in the next few months, and will convene a group of scholars" next month "to discuss it." The Times adds, "Dr. Volkow described interactive media as 'an alternative reinforcer' to drugs, adding that 'teens can get literally high when playing these games.'"

NIAID DIRECTOR FAUCI DISCUSSES HIV PREVENTION. NPR's The Diane Rehm Show (3/13) interviewed National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases director Dr. Anthony Fauci on the state of HIV prevention. Fauci detailed current efforts, but noted that the numbers "have not been as good as we would like." He also explained how pre-exposure prophylaxis functions, adding that in some studies using the treatment, "the numbers of infections there are essentially zero." Fauci warns that PrEP wont "eradicate" HIV, but he hopes it will "dramatically diminish the rate of new infections."

UTAH SET TO REDUCE LEGAL BLOOD-ALCOHOL CONTENT TO 0.05%. The Christian Science Monitor (3/13, Hoover, 387K) reports Utah may reduce "the legal blood-alcohol content for driving from 0.08 to 0.05," if the governor signs a bill passed by the state legislature last week. State Rep. Norman Thurston says the law "is about behavior and we hope that other states take a close look and move in a similar direction." National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism George Koob notes that "There's been an increase in deaths related to drunk driving in the last couple of years," adding that if the law is effective, "other states will take notice."

CHARLES RIVER LABORATORIES AGREES TO $1.8 MILLION SETTLEMENT FOR NIH OVERBILLING. The AP (3/13) reports Massachusetts' Charles River Laboratories International "has agreed to pay $1.8 million to settle claims" that it violated "the False Claims Act on contracts with the National Institutes of Health." The company reported the problem to the government when it was discovered, and "says it has cooperated to ensure proper repayment and resolution."

Health Reform:

TRUMP ACCUSES MEDIA OF MAKING ACA "LOOK SO GOOD." The Washington Post (3/13, Phillip, 11.43M) reports that President Trump is urging Americans "to throw out the Affordable Care Act," and replace it with the American Health Care Act, a GOP measure which would repeal and replace the ACA. But "according to Trump, the press and the public have come down with something akin to seller's remorse." Trump stated, "The press is making Obamacare look so good suddenly. I'm watching the news. It looks so good." He added, "It's a little bit like President Obama. When he left, people liked him. When he was here, people didn't like him so much."

USA Today (3/13, Jackson, 5.28M) reports that as part of his pitch to the public, Trump said the AHCA "will rescue people from an 'imploding' Obamacare system, and he protested news coverage of the high-stakes debate that will affect millions of people and their health insurance." He is quoted as saying, "The fact is that Obamacare is a disaster."

The Washington Times (3/13, Sherfinski, 272K) reports Trump predicted "Republicans will come together and 'save the day' amid an 'imploding' health care system that's about to get worse." Meanwhile, White House counselor Kellyanne Conway pointed out on Monday that "the president supports the House GOP heath care plan, but he is open to negotiations."

A separate Washington Times (3/13, Boyer, 272K) article reports Trump made the comments during a White House meeting with ACA critics. One attendee said, "We paid $8,000 for five months and were never able to use it. ... It's been hard. It's almost put our family in financial ruin."

The AP (3/13, Lucey) reports that Trump attempted to "highlight complaints about the Obama health care law Monday, including a gripe of his own, that the law is 'a disaster' but that the media makes it look 'wonderful.'"

On its website, CNN (3/13, Liptak, 29.79M) reports that Trump said it could take many years before healthcare prices fall. He added, "It's going to take a little while to get there. ... But once it does it's going to be a thing of beauty. I wish it didn't take a year or two years. But that's what's going to happen."

Politico (3/13, McCaskill, 2.46M) reports that Trump said GOP lawmakers "are putting themselves in a very bad position" by repealing the ACA. He added, "I tell this to Tom Price all the time – by repealing Obamacare. ... Because people aren't gonna see the truly devastating effects of Obamacare. They're not gonna see the devastation. In '17 and '18 and '19, it'll be gone by then. Whether we do it or not, it'll be imploded off the map."

REPUBLICANS MOVING QUICKLY TO REPEAL AND REPLACE ACA. A front-page Washington Post (3/13, A1, Johnson, 11.43M) analysis contrasts Democrats' "big tent approach" to passing the Affordable Care Act, which included "convening health care groups that did not normally talk to each other while cutting deals and strong-arming key industry players to build broad support for the plan" with Republican efforts to repeal the law, which have "unfolded so fast that lobbyists and industry groups barely had time to digest the bill before lawmakers began marking it up." According to the Post, the differences speak to "a drastically changed political atmosphere and the reality of passing a health care plan chiefly aimed at dismantling the current law, versus building one from scratch."

The Hill (3/13, Beavers, 1.25M) reports that on Monday, Sen. Chris Murphy (D-CT) "slammed Republicans and their proposed health plan, saying the GOP wants to 'rush through a bad bill that the American public won't ever see or understand before it's passed into law.'" He is quoted as saying that GOP lawmakers "have a plan that they are going to rush through the next few weeks so we need to spend our time right now, explaining to the American people what a disaster it is to stop it."

Meanwhile, the Washington Post (3/13, Hohmann, 11.43M) reports that by seeking to repeal the ACA, Republicans are attempting something which has never been accomplished in the US before. The article says "Congress has never reversed a major program of social benefits once it has taken effect and reached millions of Americans."

The Washington Times (3/13, Sherfinski, 272K) also covers the story.

WHITE HOUSE ANALYSIS FOUND 26 MILLION PEOPLE WOULD LOSE COVERAGE UNDER AHCA. Politico (3/13, Demko, 2.46M) reports an analysis of the AHCA conducted by the White House revealed "even steeper coverage losses than the projections by the Congressional Budget Office, according to a document viewed by POLITICO on Monday." Data indicate about 26 million people would lose coverage under the AHCA, a figure which is higher than the CBO's. Specifically, 17 million Medicaid recipients would lose coverage, as well as "six million in the individual market and three million in employer-based plans."

The Washington Examiner (3/14, Lott, 400K) also covers the story.

HOUSE COMMITTEE COULD DERAIL AHCA ON THURSDAY. McClatchy (3/13, Daugherty, 74K) reports the AHCA "will face its biggest test so far on Wednesday," when the House Budget Committee, which is comprised of several "conservatives, could derail the legislation backed by Speaker Paul Ryan before it gets to the House floor." The article says this "uncertainty comes as the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office released its estimate on the bill," saying that about 24 million consumers could lose coverage if it becomes law.

CBO DATA PROVIDING DEMOCRATS WITH NEW AMMUNITION AGAINST GOP. On its website, CNN (3/13, Lee, 29.79M) reports, "Democrats are finally back on the offensive on health care, brandishing" new, "damaging" data from the CBO. The article says their new weapon is the fact that on Monday, the CBO released projections which indicate about 24 million people could lose healthcare coverage if the GOP's ACA replacement plan, AHCA, is signed into law. The piece adds that what is especially valuable to Democrats "is the CBO's conclusion that the Republican bill would hurt demographic groups that President Donald Trump tended to perform better with, including older Americans."

MEDIA ADOPT "TRUMPCARE" AS MONIKER FOR AHCA. The Washington Examiner (3/14, Scarry, 400K) reports that Democrats' attempt "to cast the new Republican healthcare bill as 'Trumpcare' is working, as the name has quickly been picked up by the national media." The piece explains that congressional Democrats "began branding the legislation as 'Trumpcare' last week, in an apparent attempt to tie the bill's undetermined fate to President Trump's national low approval ratings."

CONSERVATIVE GROUPS OPPOSED TO AHCA DIRECTING CRITICISM AT RYAN, NOT TRUMP. The Washington Examiner (3/14, 400K) reports influential conservative groups which are loathe to alienate "President Trump are blaming their opposition to his healthcare initiative on House Speaker Paul Ryan, R-Wis." The article points out that rather than criticize Trump, who endorsed the AHCA, "conservative groups are dissing the AHCA as 'Ryancare' and training all of their fire at the speaker, in a bid to curry favor with the president and protect their relationships with him in future negotiations."

IRS DATA SHOW CONSTITUENTS OF MANY GOP LAWMAKERS WHO OPPOSE ACA ARE BENEFITING FROM THE LAW'S SUBSIDIES. TIME (3/13, Wilson, 6.98M) reports on new IRS data which show many constituents of GOP lawmakers who oppose the Affordable Care Act "benefit from tax credits the law provides to offset the cost of healthcare." The analysis indicates "55 percent of those households" which receive ACA subsidies "are represented by Republicans in the House of Representatives."

SEN. COTTON CRITICAL OF RYAN'S THREE-PHASE APPROACH TO ACA REPEAL. The Hill (3/13, Sullivan, 1.25M) reports that on Monday, Sen. Tom Cotton (R-AR) "pushed back on Speaker Paul Ryan's (R-Wis.) plan to repeal and replace ObamaCare in three phases, calling it 'politicians' talk.'" Asked about the three-phase process of repealing the ACA, Cotton stated, "Let me just say this...about this so-called three-phase process. That's just not going to happen. That's just politicians' talk."

The Washington Examiner (3/13, King, 400K) also covers the story.

REP. ISSA WILL NOT VOTE FOR AHCA IN ITS CURRENT FORM. The Hill (3/13, Sullivan, 1.25M) reports that on Monday, Rep. Darrell Issa (R-CA) said "he is 'not prepared' to vote for the House GOP ObamaCare replacement bill 'as it is right now.'" He told Fox News, "I'm not prepared to vote for it as it is right now, and I think that's not because of a specific 'this is unacceptable' but because I think we can do better."

SEN. HELLER SAYS GOP'S ACA REPLACEMENT PLAN MUST ALLOW MEDICAID EXPANSION STATES MORE TIME. The Hill (3/13, Shelbourne, 1.25M) reports that on Saturday, Sen. Dean Heller (R-NV) spoke about the GOP's proposal to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act, "arguing that states need more time to adjust to changes in the Medicaid expansion." He said, "If you're going to make changes to the Medicaid expansion, you have to give Nevada time to respond." The piece points out that Nevada is one of the states which expanded Medicaid under the ACA.

REPUBLICAN ACA REPLACEMENT MAY CUT UP TO $1 BILLION IN CDC FUNDING. The Atlanta Journal-Constitution (3/13, Schneider, 1.41M) reports the Republican ACA replacement would cut nearly $1 billion in funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Though "a large part of that money is funneled to the states...the cuts could also mean cuts at the CDC" itself in Georgia.

ANALYSIS: CBO OVERESTIMATED HOW MANY WOULD GAIN COVERAGE THROUGH ACA EXCHANGES BUT WAS RIGHT ABOUT REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF UNINSURED. CNN Money (3/13, 3.59M) reports that "Republicans are right that the CBO misjudged how many people would be insured through the Obamacare exchanges. But the agency was much closer to the mark on Obamacare's overall impact on coverage." The article reports that "several agencies and organizations" have "found unprecedented drops in the uninsured rate among non-elderly Americans" following the enactment of the Affordable Care Act.

HUMANA'S EXIT FROM ACA EXCHANGE IN TENNESSEE COULD LEAVE THOUSANDS OF RESIDENTS WITHOUT INSURANCE. On its website, CNN (3/13, Gingras, 29.79M) reports Humana's announced exit from the ACA marketplaces in 11 states, including Tennessee, could leave thousands of state residents without insurance. The article reports that Humana is the only option available on the exchange in 73 of the state's 95 counties, according to the Tennessee Department of Commerce and Insurance.

SOME REPUBLICANS PUSH BACK AGAINST AARP AFTER CRITICISM OF HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL. The Washington Post (3/13, Weigel, 11.43M) reports some Republican leaders are criticizing the AARP after the group criticized the House Republicans' healthcare bill. The article reports the Trump Administration and Congressional Republicans "have chosen this year to simply define AARP as yet another flawed interest group."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

AARP SAYS HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL WOULD HARM SENIORS WHO ARE STRUGGLING FINANCIALLY. On its website, CNBC (3/13, Belvedere, 2.17M) reports the AARP Legislative Counsel and Policy Director David Certner said on CNBC's "Squawk on the Street" that the House Republicans' healthcare bill would hurt seniors who are struggling financially. Certner said on the program, "The older you get and the lower your income, the bigger the premium increase you're going to see." Certner added, "What we're seeing here between age ratings and loss of tax credit is what we call a huge 'age tax.'"

TWO OHIO GROUPS WARN US HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL WOULD FORCE STATE TO MAKE CUTS TO MEDICAID. The Columbus (OH) Dispatch (3/13, Candisky, 529K) reports two separate organizations, the Center for Community Solutions and Policy Matters Ohio, both released reports warning that the House Republicans' healthcare bill would force Ohio to make cuts to the state's Medicaid program. According to an analysis conducted by the Center for Community Solutions, the bill would cost Ohio between $19 billion and $26 billion in federal Medicaid funding over a period of six years, which "would lead to substantial reductions in eligibility, services, or payments to health-care providers." According to a report released by Policy Matters Ohio, the bill would force the state to abolish its expanded Medicaid program because of reduced funding.

The Dayton (OH) Daily News (3/13, Tucker, 181K) reports Policy Matters Ohio said in a statement, "This is bad news for Ohio, where the population is aging rapidly. Health care is the most costly among the elderly, so as the population ages, costs rise. But the federal share will not: in fact, the plan penalizes states with rising costs by imposing a penalty of reduced funding. This could lead to reduced Medicaid coverage for all Ohioans, but especially for growing and costly segments of the population, like seniors." Also covering the story are the AP (3/13) and the Cleveland Plain Dealer (3/13, Koff, 976K).

REP. KENNEDY "BATTLING" POTENTIAL REPEAL OF ACA. The AP (3/13, Jalonick) reports Rep. Joe Kennedy III (D-MA) is "battling Republicans" who want to repeal the Affordable Care Act. The article reports that Kennedy, the grandson of former Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, "emerged last week as a major Democratic voice against the Republican health care bill, delivering several speeches in a committee's all-night session that have been viewed millions of times on the internet."

AMERICANS WHO LIVE IN SMALL TOWNS OR RURAL AREAS WERE LIKELY TO GAIN AND LOSE FROM ACA. Congressional Quarterly (3/13, Mershon, Subscription Publication, 967) reports Americans who live in small towns or rural areas "were more likely than their big city counterparts to be uninsured before the" Affordable Care Act was implemented, and were "more likely to be lower income and suffer from expensive chronic conditions." However, "rural and small-town Americans also had the most to lose when Obamacare's performance fell short," for example, when insurers pulled their individual plans off the market in many rural areas.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL LACKS PROVISIONS THAT WOULD ELIMINATE BARRIERS TO INSURERS SELLING PLANS ACROSS STATE LINES. The Washington Examiner (3/13, Morrongiello, 400K) reports the House Republicans' healthcare bill lacks provisions that would eliminate restrictions on insurers selling health plans across state lines. The article points out that "President Trump had repeatedly promised" that he would allow insurers to sell health plans across state lines as part of his plan to reform healthcare.

HERITAGE ACTION FOR AMERICA SAYS REPUBLICANS WHO OPPOSE HEALTHCARE BILL "WILL NEVER REGRET IT." The Washington Post (3/13, Weigel, 11.43M) reports Heritage Action for America, "one of the leading conservative opponents of Republicans' American Health Care Act," announced that Republicans who oppose the bill "will never regret it." Heritage Action chief executive Michael Needham said on a call with reporters, "Ryancare leaves the fundamental architecture of Obamacare in place," and added, "Any conservative member who stands strong will never regret it."

HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL WOULD HELP MANY MIDDLE-CLASS TEXANS WHILE OFFERING LESS AID TO POORER AND OLDER TEXANS. The Dallas Morning News (3/13, Leslie, 1.12M) reports the House Republicans' healthcare bill would help many middle-class Texans who received "no federal help in paying for Obamacare," while many poorer and older Texans, "especially in rural areas," would "see federal aid shrink." The article explains that the bill would distribute tax credits for health insurance "more evenly with a refundable, age-based flat tax credit that shrinks for high earners," but critics suggest the bill would not offer enough aid for low-income people to purchase health insurance.

MCCONNELL: HEALTH REFORM REQUIRES "CREATIVE THINKING." The Washington Examiner (3/13, Crabtree, 400K) reports Sen. Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said on the Senate floor Monday "now is the time for creative thinking" to reduce costs under Obamacare, an "apparent open invitation to lawmakers to bring ideas to the table at a sensitive time for the House version of the Obamacare replacement bill." House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI) has called the bill a “binary” choice, either voting for it or for no reform. McConnell has “stressed that senators will have the chance to amend the House measure when it comes to the Senate for floor consideration.”

MINNESOTA HOUSE APPROVES PROGRAM TO STABILIZE INSURANCE MARKET. The AP (3/13, Potter) reports Minnesota’s Republican-controlled House on Monday approved a reinsurance program “meant to tamp down health insurance costs and ensure plans are offered after years of instability and skyrocketing premiums.” The lawmakers voted to use $384 million from the state’s dedicated healthcare account every two years to “to help health plans’ high costs for covering patients – a kind of insurance for the insurance companies themselves.” However, Gov. Mark Dayton and fellow Democrats “have coalesced around Dayton’s proposal to create a public health care option, allowing all Minnesota residents to buy into the low-income program called MinnesotaCare.”

MINNESOTA WOULD LOSE $80 MILLION IN PUBLIC FUNDING UNDER GOP HEALTH PLAN. The Minneapolis-St. Paul (MN) Business Journal (3/13, Subscription Publication, 76K) reports the GOP healthcare bill could cause Minnesota to lose $80 million in public funding if passed. Minnesota Health Commissioner Dr. Ed Ehlinger said the cuts “would be a huge hit for us at the state level.”

BOSTON MAYOR OPPOSES GOP HEALTH BILL. Boston Mayor Martin Walsh and Boston Medical Center President and CEO Kate Walsh write in an opinion piece in the Boston Globe (3/13, Walsh, Walsh, 1.08M) that the GOP healthcare bill would “strip coverage from millions of Americans and put insurance costs out of reach for millions more.” It would “also hurt Boston’s economy and cost us jobs,” because “health care creates more jobs than any other industry in Boston, by a wide margin.” The authors “encourage our congressional and state leaders to continue defending our state’s nearly universal coverage.”

TRUMP JUSTICE DEPARTMENT OPPOSES ANTHEM-CIGNA MERGER APPEAL. Modern Healthcare (3/13, Subscription Publication, 241K) reports the Trump Administration Justice Department and several states on Monday “urged a federals appeals court not to overturn a decision blocking Anthem and Cigna’s proposed $54 billion merger,” citing “overwhelming evidence” showing the blocked merger would not guarantee the proposed efficiencies that Anthem touted. In a brief to the US Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, the Justice Department said, “The evidence showed Anthem had no real plan to achieve these savings and every proffered strategy either foundered in the face of business realities or was disconnected from the merger itself (or both).”

CBO ANALYSIS: REPUBLICAN HEALTH PLAN WOULD SAVE GOVERNMENT $337 BILLION BY CUTTING MEDICAID, INSURANCE SUBSIDIES. The Washington Post (3/13, Ehrenfreund, 11.43M) “Wonkblog” reports an analysis released Monday by the Congressional Budget Office found the Republicans’ plan to replace the Affordable Care Act “would cut spending by $1.2 trillion over the coming decade and save the government a total of $337 billion.” The plan would reduce spending on Medicaid by $880 billion, and it would place a “limit on how much states can spend on care for each Medicaid beneficiary, indexing it to inflation and to the prices of health care services.” The measure would also reduce spending by “replacing Obamacare’s insurance subsidies with a new, less generous (and less expensive) system of tax credits.” It would also repeal the insurance mandate and “cut taxes on the health insurance industry by $145 billion over a decade.”

GOP HEALTH PLAN COULD COST CONNECTICUT UP TO $539 MILLION IN 2020. The Connecticut Mirror (3/13) reports an analysis released Monday by Connecticut Gov. Dannel Malloy’s administration said the House Republican health bill “cost the state $89 million to $539 million in 2020, the year many of the major provisions would take effect.” The analysis also “estimated that 34,000 people who buy health plans through the state’s health insurance exchange would not renew their coverage for 2018 if the proposal becomes law.” According to the analysis, prepared by the Office of Policy and Management, the proposed law “would result in a tremendous cost shift to the states once fully implemented, which could cost upwards of $1 billion per year when fully implemented after 2020.”

The Associated Press (3/13) reports Malloy said in a statement about the GOP proposal, “Health care coverage for some of our most vulnerable populations will be threatened, including seniors, persons with disabilities, children and low-income adults.” The Hartford (CT) Courant (3/13, 445K) also covers this story.

SEN. MIKE LEE SKEPTICAL HOUSE HEALTH BILL COMPLIES WITH SENATE RULES. Roll Call (3/13, Lesniewski, 63K) reports Utah Sen. Mike Lee said in an opinion piece for the Heritage Foundation’s Daily Signal that the “House health care bill might not be compliant as a reconciliation bill, meaning it is a budget measure that only requires a majority vote, under Senate rules, saying that provisions will need to be stripped to comply with the Byrd Rule.” Calling it a “bad bill,” Lee wrote that the process of going through the Senate parliamentarian’s office “in this case could be used to knock out key provisions of the House bill, including prohibitions on taxpayer funding of abortion and price controls on insurance premiums.” Lee instead called on Republicans to “pass the 2015 repeal bill that Republicans in both houses of Congress voted for just 15 months ago.”

ATUL GAWANDE INTERVIEWED ABOUT GOP HEALTHCARE PLAN. NPR (3/13, Hersher, Boddy, 1.92M) interviewed Atul Gawande, a cancer surgeon at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston and a staff writer at The New Yorker magazine, about the GOP healthcare bill. Gawande "[expressed] concern that it would cause poor and sick people to lose health coverage," saying that Trump's promise of better coverage at a lower cost than the ACA is "in conflict with this other goal that Republicans have, which is actually to dismantle the ACA and its funding, and it's that pull that lies in the middle of this." A way to improve on the ACA is to provide some "tweaks" to Healthcare.gov to "get more young and healthy [people] in to go along with the sicker, older population and that would help flatten the premiums and keep that system" growing. Gawande also asks about the bill, "What's it aiming to solve? If the aim is to solve the problems [Republicans] criticize, they've not put forward solutions that actually do that."

CALIFORNIA SENATE DEMOCRATS BLAST GOP HEALTH PLAN. The Los Angeles Times (3/13, Mason, 4.52M) reports California Senate Democrats on Monday submitted a "speedily crafted, non-binding resolution assailing the House GOP's plan to replace the Affordable Care Act." The measure "called on Congress not to repeal the law unless its replacement would provide Americans at least the same level of coverage." Democratic state Sen. Scott Wiener said President Trump and the Republican Congress were peddling "snake oil" and said a "fraud is being perpetrated on the American people right now by this administration." Republicans said the ACA has hurt residents and complained they are wary of "regular anti-Trump actions from ruling Democrats."

TRUMP'S CRITIQUES OF ACA ARE OVERSTATED. The New York Times (3/13, Qiu, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports President Trump has repeatedly called the Affordable Care Act "a disaster," and while its true that the law has not been "universally beneficial, many of the criticisms from Mr. Trump and his team are cherry-picked or misleading." Trump's claim that the ACA has caused premiums to rise by double or even triple digits "requires context," but regardless his claim is "much higher than the 7 percent increase in 2016 and 3 percent increase in 2015," and doesn't take into account that 84 percent of enrollees qualify for tax credits. Furthermore, Trump's belief the law has had little impact on the uninsured is false. According to the Times, "about 20 million have gained insurance under the act," and the uninsured rate has declined to 10.9 percent at the end of last year.

MONTANA GOVERNOR, SENATORS EXPRESS CRITICISM OF REPUBLICAN HEALTHCARE PLAN. The AP (3/13, Volz) reports Montana Republican US Sen. Steve Daines joined Democratic Gov. Steve Bullock and Sen. Jon Tester (D) in criticizing the Republican healthcare plan Monday after the CBO analysis "showed the legislation would lead to millions losing their coverage and insurance premiums continuing to rise over the next several years." Daines said about the report, "We need to do better. I want to see costs and premiums go down to make health care more affordable for Montana families." Bullock called the health proposal a "troubling step backwards." The AP notes Montana's uninsured rate has declined from 22 percent to 7 percent since the Affordable Care Act became law.

WASHINGTON GOV. INSLEE SAYS GOP HEALTH PLAN "CONFIRMS OUR WORST FEARS." The AP (3/13, Corte) reports Washington Gov. Jay Inslee (D) said the CBO analysis of the Republican plan to replace the ACA "confirms our worst fears" that it would "actually leave our nation worse off than before the ACA was implemented." State officials say the GOP legislation would potentially cause the more than 600,000 lower-income people in the state who gained coverage through Medicaid expansion to lose coverage, "depending on what changes are made to the law at the federal level." Bob Crittenden, Gov. Jay Inslee's senior policy adviser for healthcare, said, "if the state were to return to paying for health programs that were replaced by the federal law, the state's costs would increase by an additional $330 million every two years."

NEW MEXICO INSURANCE REGULATORS TO STUDY IMPACTS OF ACA REPEAL. The AP (3/13) reports New Mexico Insurance Superintendent John Franchini announced Monday his office is analyzing consequences of House Republican's plan to overhaul the ACA "after the Congressional Budget Office found that 14 million Americans would lose coverage next year." Residents have "flocked to enroll in Medicaid since Republican Gov. Susana Martinez agreed to expand the program in 2014."

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR SAYS CBO ANALYSIS UNDERSCORES CONCERNS WITH GOP HEALTH BILL. The AP (3/13) reports Arkansas Gov. Asa Hutchinson (R) said the CBO analysis of the GOP healthcare plan shows the need for Congress to examine the proposal and concerns he has raised about it. Hutchinson has said the law "will shift costs to the states and not provide Arkansas the flexibility it needs. Hutchinson said he's hopeful for changes to address those concerns as the bill moves through the U.S. House."

MASSACHUSETTS GOV. BAKER WANTS TO KEEP UNINSURED RATE LOW. The AP (3/13, Leblanc) reports Massachusetts Gov. Charlie Baker (R) said "it's very important to us that we continue" providing "virtually universal access to coverage" after the release of a CBO analysis that found 14 million Americans would lose coverage next year under legislation put forward by House Republicans. Baker, a former healthcare executive, "says the state receives about $10.5

billion in federal Medicaid reimbursement each year, a little more than half of the state's total $19 billion in Medicaid spending." Baker sent a letter in January to House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy "urging his fellow Republicans to keep key parts of the federal law, including letting Massachusetts keep its mandate that all residents have health insurance."

VIRGINIA GOP REP. WITTMAN SAYS HE OPPOSES GOP HEALTHCARE PLAN. The Washington Post (3/13, Portnoy, 11.43M) reports that Virginia Rep. Rob Wittman (R) on Monday "broke with House GOP leadership and announced his opposition to Speaker Paul D. Ryan's plan to revise the Affordable Care Act." Wittman "made the statement hours after the release of a Congressional Budget Office estimate that Ryan's bill would reduce the number of Americans with health insurance by 24 million." Wittman, in a statement, said, "After reviewing this legislation and receiving the Congressional Budget Office score today, it is clear that this bill is not consistent with the repeal and replace principles for which I stand."

The Richmond (VA) Times-Dispatch (3/13, Wilson, 324K) also covers this story.

HOUSE BUDGET COMMITTEE POSTPONES MARKUP OF GOP HEALTHCARE BILL TO THURSDAY. The Hill (3/13, Master, 1.25M) reports the House Budget Committee announced Monday evening it had rescheduled its markup of the GOP healthcare bill from Tuesday to Thursday due to snowfall expected in DC. Meanwhile, Chairwoman Diane Black (R-TN) released a statement Monday saying the CBO analysis of the plan "reduces the deficit by $337 billion and lowers taxes by $883 billion for Americans and small business owners."

VIRGINIA HOSPITAL GROUP TAKES ISSUE WITH PARTS OF GOP HEALTH PLAN. The Richmond (VA) Times-Dispatch (3/13, Demeria, 324K) reports the Virginia Hospital & Healthcare Association has expressed concern about the GOP healthcare plan in letters it sent to Virginia's Congressional representatives. VHHA's president and CEO, Sean T. Connaughton in the letters "applauded the fact that the proposed replacement does not change Medicaid to a block-granting system," but was also cautious about the "proposed per capita cap, which would lock Virginia in at what it paid per Medicaid enrollee in 2016. Virginia is ranked 47th in the nation for per capita Medicaid spending." The VHHA is also concerned about "the proposal for refundable tax credits for health insurance, which the replacement plan bases on age rather than on income, as is the case under the ACA."

MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS QUIET ON CBO ANALYSIS OF GOP HEALTHCARE BILL. The Detroit Free Press (3/13, Spangler, 1.01M) reports an analysis of the Republican healthcare plan by the CBO found it "severely scales back Medicaid payments," suggesting that many Michigan residents "would be expected to ultimately lose or fail to qualify for coverage." Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder has "lobbied Republican leaders on Capitol Hill and the Trump Administration for flexibility in continuing the Medicaid program," but has so far "remained mum on his opinion of his proposal since its unveiling last week." While Republican Members of Michigan's congressional delegation "were largely silent on the CBO score Monday evening," Democrats heavily criticized the plan.

PEREZ: CBO SCORE SHOWS TRUMP IS FAILING TO PROVIDE "INSURANCE FOR EVERYONE." The Hill (3/13, Kamisar, 1.25M) reports DNC Chairman Tom Perez said President Trump failed to deliver on his promise of "insurance for everyone" after a CBO analysis estimated over 20 million people would lose insurance under the House Republicans' proposed healthcare plan. Perez said in a statement that the plan "slashes Medicaid, drives up the cost of care for older Americans, and defunds life-saving services provided by Planned Parenthood. The only winners here are Trump, and the corporations and rich people who get to pocket new tax breaks."

OKLAHOMA REP. FORTENBERRY DEFENDS ACA REPEAL AT HOSTILE TOWN HALL. The Omaha (NE) World-Herald (3/14, 544K) reports US Rep. Jeff Fortenberry (R) faced an "angry and disruptive crowd" when he met with constituents during a 90-minute town hall meeting at Lincoln Southwest High School. The "standing room-only crowd of about 1,200" repeatedly called on Fortenberry to reject the Republican plan to replace the Affordable Care Act. Fortenberry regularly asked the crowd to "please be quiet" as he defended his stance in favor of repealing and replacing the health plan. Fortenberry told reporters after the town hall meeting was over, "Obviously a lot of people are not in favor of (the Republican proposal), but it was important to have the discussion."

HERITAGE ACTION CEO WARNS GOP PLAN COULD LEAD TO SINGLE-PAYER SYSTEM. USA Today (3/13, Shesgreen, 5.28M) reports that Heritage Action CEO Mike Needham "blasted the GOP plan" during a call with reporters on Monday. Needham envisioned a "nightmare scenario" in which Democrats gain power after the next presidential election and "enact a single-payer health-care system." Needham said of the GOP bill, "It leaves the fundamental architecture of Obamacare in place." He added that his "biggest fear" is "that Republicans pass a bill preserving such elements of Obamacare, and then absorb the wrath of the electorate as health insurance costs continue to rise and competition continues to shrink." Needham said, "The same death spirals that are already starting to happen under Obamacare happen under a Republican replacement plan. ... And that in 2020 or 2024, the American people look at health care system that's collapsing and vote a Democrat in who says the only answer is single-payer health care."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COMMENTARY CONSIDERS ACA. Numerous outlets offer opinions on health reform.

David Leonhardt, in his column in the New York Times (3/14, Leonhardt, Subscription Publication, 13.9M), writes that the GOP has placed itself in a position where, should its healthcare plan pass, it "will take political ownership of the flawed American health care system – after making it much more flawed." Leonhardt attributes the situation to Republicans "believing their own hype" and, instead of addressing the ACA's problems, the GOP is "trying to fix a fictional one: saving America from a partisan, socialistic big-government takeover of health care." However, "Obamacare is the bipartisan version of health reform," using conservative means to achieve a liberal end, and is close to conservatives' plan from a few decades ago. As the GOP currently "no longer supports any plan that covers the uninsured," which is unpopular, it "had to invent the notion of a socialistic Obamacare." However, Leonhardt cautions that while "Lying can be an effective political tactic," believing those lies "is usually not so smart."

In the Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) "Plum Line" blog, contributor Paul Waldman writes that "2018 is probably going to be a bloodbath for Republicans whether they pass repeal or not." Waldman argues that if Republicans fail to repeal the law, then there could be "depressed turnout among Republicans," but if Republicans do repeal the law, then they would likely face a backlash from people who supported the ACA and those who dislike the Republicans' replacement.

In the Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) "Right Turn" blog, contributor Jennifer Rubin writes that several Republican leaders, including Secretary of Health and Human Services Tom Price and House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI), have made various promises regarding healthcare reform that would not be kept under the House Republicans' healthcare bill. Rubin argues that Price's assertion that "nobody will be worse off financially" under the healthcare bill is "so preposterous that it makes President Obama's 'You can keep your doctor' declaration seem trivial." Rubin also argues that Ryan is damaging his credibility with his "unfounded assertions and obliviousness to the country's mood."

The Oklahoman (3/13, 380K) editorializes that the House Republicans' healthcare bill "would repeal many regulations and taxes that have created perverse incentives in US health care," and that eliminating "those regulations opens the door for a better system." The editorial argues that repealing the law would allow employers to offer their employees lower-cost plans, which would in turn reduce the costs of employment and in turn increase employment.

The Northwest Florida Daily News (3/13, 79K) editorializes the House Republicans' healthcare bill would eliminate lots of the ACA's taxes while retaining "the federal government's fundamental role in health care." The editorial argues that the bill "does nothing to reverse the downward spiral of health insurance markets."

The Springfield (MA) Republican (3/13, 366K) editorializes that House Republicans are rushing to attempt to repeal the Affordable Care Act without worrying about the "details." The editorial argues that the House Republicans' mindset can be summarized as: "We kept on promising to repeal and replace Obamacare. So let's act now. And we can worry about those pesky details further on down the road."

J. Pepper Bryars writes in his column in Alabama Live (3/13, 804K) that "any attempt by Republicans in Congress to ensure that all Americans have affordable health care coverage will simply extend and further complicate the mess left by Obamacare." Bryars argues that the House Republicans' healthcare bill violates conservative principles by striving to be perfect through government planning, rather than "planning for competition, and knowing it's still not going to be perfect."

In an opinion piece, The Week (3/13, 2.41M) national correspondent Ryan Cooper writes that President Donald Trump's greatest advantage during his presidential campaign "was how he ditched traditional Republican notions on social programs." Cooper argues that as President, Trump is "ditching his biggest political advantage" by returning to more traditional Republican views "all so that rich people like himself and the people in his Cabinet can enjoy a gigantic tax cut."

Michael Cruz, the former executive director of healthcare provider CDC Resources, writes in an opinion piece in the Lafayette (IN) Journal and Courier (3/13, 129K) that the House Republicans' healthcare bill would "cap Medicaid expenditures to states ending an entitlement program that has effectively served low income children, people with disabilities and poor individuals with serious health care needs for over 50 years." Cruz argues that Indiana lacks "the additional resources to pick up the slack when federal funding begins to decline – roughly two-thirds of Medicaid funding in Indiana come from the federal government."

Richard Nelson, MS, the CEO of The Bone & Joint Center in North Dakota, writes in an opinion piece in The Hill (3/13, 1.25M) "Congress Blog" that Congress should pass a bill introduced by Rep. Sam Johnson (R-TX) that would repeal "the ban on physician-owned specialty hospitals, a ban that was unjustified in 2010 and remains unjustified." Nelson argues that nine "of the top 10 performing hospitals in the Hospital Readmission Reduction Program (HRRP)...are physician-owned specialty hospitals," which demonstrates that such hospitals can offer high-quality care.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dr. Hal Scherz, the founder of Docs 4 Patient Care, and Alfredo Ortiz, the CEO of the Job Creator Network, write in an opinion piece in the Washington Examiner (3/13, 400K) that the House Republicans' healthcare bill would "reduce healthcare costs in several ways" by offering "refundable tax credits and expanded health savings accounts that encourage patients to become better shoppers for healthcare services." Scherz and Ortiz argue that the bill would also cut costs by encouraging competition "among insurance companies" by allowing them to create cheaper, customized plans.

In an opinion piece in the Washington Examiner (3/13, 400K), commentary writer Philip Wegman writes the House Budget Committee may not approve the House Republicans' healthcare bill. Wegman argues that it would only take four Republican members of the committee to delay the bill from advancing. Wegman says "the committee is stacked with unruly conservatives," including three members of the House Freedom Caucus.

Ian Reifowitz, a history professor at SUNY-Empire State College, writes in an opinion piece in the Huffington Post (3/13, 237K) that progressives who "want to resist Donald Trump" should fight against "Trumpcare." Reifowitz argues that "stopping Trump from gutting of the Affordable Care Act is vital," but would also be politically "monumental" because it would "grievously [weaken] his presidency."

Megan McArdle writes in her column in Bloomberg View (3/13, 125K) that Republicans should "wait" to pass healthcare reform, because what the Republicans are proposing now would only make the healthcare system worse. McArdle argues that "the partial-reform structure" Republicans "think they'll be able to get through the Senate is likely to make the problems in the individual market worse, not better."

Bloomberg View (3/13, 125K) editorializes that "the Republicans' plan to change the American health-care system would not be an improvement over Obamacare," because it would repeal the individual mandate without an adequate replacement. The editorial argues that the ACA's individual mandate was designed to address the problem of people getting healthcare without being able to pay for it, but that the Republican bill fails to address the issue.

Richard Eskow, a senior fellow with the Campaign for America's Future, writes in an opinion piece in the Huffington Post (3/13, 237K) that the "American Health Care Act is a rich person's bonanza," which would provide "no benefits at all to those who earn $200,000 or less a year." Eskow argues that "this cynical wealth grab falls disproportionately on the nation's black, brown and poor households."

Juan Williams, a political analyst for Fox News Channel, writes in an opinion piece in The Hill (3/13, 1.25M) that President Trump's "Plan B," if Republicans fail to pass a healthcare reform bill, is to allow the ACA to fail and then blame Democrats when it happens. Williams argues that Trump needs a Plan C, because "if the Affordable Care Act ever fails, it will be because of Republicans."

In an opinion piece, Forbes (3/13, 15.17M) contributor Neil Versel writes that President Trump "will have to moderate some of his proposals on healthcare reform and regulation of the medical industry, according to two prominent healthcare leaders." Versel argues that criticism of the House Republicans' healthcare bill from the American Medical Association and the Mayo Clinic could influence Republicans' efforts to reform healthcare.

Alice M. Rivlin, the founding director of the Congressional Budget Office and the former director of the Office of Management and Budget, writes in an opinion piece in the Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) that the CBO "is a valuable resource for Congress that both parties need." Rivlin argues that "undermining the credibility of the CBO when policymakers need it most harms not only Congress's ability to do its job, but also the long-term effectiveness of political parties in addressing the challenges that face our country's future."

Steven G. Calabresi, a law professor at Northwestern University, writes in an opinion piece in The Hill (3/13, 1.25M) that the House Republicans' healthcare bill has "at least one grievous flaw," because "it does not allow interstate competition among health insurers, which President Donald Trump repeatedly promised to create during his long campaign for the presidency." Calabresi argues that "the absence of interstate competition in health insurance has led to oligopoly and monopoly markets in health insurance, which has led to much higher prices for health insurance and to much lower quality health insurance plans than would exist if there was national competition."

Kelly Riddell writes in her column in the Washington Times (3/13, 272K) that the Congressional Budget Office is "unassailable and nonpartisan" or "a master manipulator of data," depending on what the agency says and "one's politics." Riddell argues that the White House Office of Management and Budget director Mick Mulvaney is criticizing the CBO in anticipation that the agency's analysis will be unfavorable to the House Republicans' healthcare bill, while opponents of the bill are currently praising the CBO.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Francis Wilkinson, an editorial writer, writes in an opinion piece in Bloomberg View (3/13, 125K) that the CBO's analysis of the Republican healthcare bill "did not disappoint." Wilkinson argues that "Republicans have never tried to grapple with the realities of health care" and that the CBO's analysis reveals that Secretary of Health and Human Services Tom Price "was not telling anything remotely like the truth" when he said earlier that this week that "nobody will be worse off financially" under the bill.

USA Today (3/13, Today, 5.28M) carries an op-ed by House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI), in which he defends the American Health Care Act. He says the analysis released Monday by the Congressional Budget Office confirms the plan "will lower premiums (starting in 2020) and improve access to quality, affordable care. CBO also finds that this legislation will provide massive tax relief, dramatically reduce the deficit, and make the most fundamental entitlement reform in more than a generation."

USA Today (3/13, 5.28M) argues in an editorial that in the wake of the CBO scoring, House Republicans "ought to start over on their plan to repeal and replace Obamacare," or, better still, "look for ways to retain and repair the current law." USA Today also takes issue with Republican attacks on the CBO, arguing that they will "only strengthen the argument that President Trump and his backers on Capitol Hill live in a world of alternative facts and relative truths."

A Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) editorial calls the CBO "the most trustworthy scorekeeper in the legislative business," and argues that despite the "last-minute, irresponsible Republican campaign to discredit the CBO's professionals, their view should carry far more weight than all the magical thinking the GOP has passed off as policy analysis in the health-care debate."

In an editorial, the New York Times (3/13, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) says that whether or not HHS Secretary Price accepts it, "the numbers are the numbers." According to the Times, the CBO report says, "Trumpcare would throw millions of Americans off their health coverage. And no amount of spin or scorn for the CBO can alter that reality."

A Wall Street Journal (3/13, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) editorial downplays the significance of the CBO's report on the Republican healthcare bill, arguing that while the findings were not good for Republicans, the CBO has a history of underestimating the power of market forces and should not drive policy.

In the Los Angeles Times (3/13, Healey, 4.52M), deputy editorial page editor Jon Healey writes that the CBO report will not "make the bill more palatable to Democrats or critics in the healthcare industry because it predicts an even wider loss of insurance coverage than they'd feared." Furthermore, the Republican argument that "reducing the number of people on Medicaid isn't necessarily a bad thing because it can be hard to find a doctor willing to see Medicaid patients" is, according to Healey, "ridiculous on its face."

In his Los Angeles Times (3/13, Hiltzik, 4.52M) column, Michael Hiltzik writes that the CBO assessment of the House GOP health bill shows the legislation's goal is "saving money for the wealthy, whose taxes pay for most of the federal budget, by soaking the middle class and the poor." The GOP also evidently knows the findings are bad, Hiltzik says, because "they've spent the last week denigrating the professionalism of the CBO."

In the New York Times (3/13, Rattner, Subscription Publication, 13.9M), contributing opinion writer Steven Rattner debunks several "flat out untruths" spoken by White House officials as they attempted to defend the GOP healthcare plan on Sunday talk shows. For example, HHS Sec. Sec Tom Price's statement on "Meet the Press" that "the number of individuals who actually got coverage through the exchange who didn't have coverage before…is relatively small" is inaccurate, Rattner says, because "of the 11 million people who are buying health insurance coverage through the exchanges, all but 1.7 million are receiving subsidies through Obamacare."

In her Washington Post (3/13, Rubin, 11.43M) "Right Turn" blog, Jennifer Rubin writes that Sen. Tom Cotton (R-AR) has correctly criticized the GOP healthcare bill for not increasing competition or providing more "choices" because it is unable to fix the regulations that make insurance plans so expensive through reconciliation. Cotton's criticisms are "sound while Ryan's are born of frustration, and, it seems, panic at failing in his task."

Bloomberg View (3/13, 125K) columnist Megan McArdle writes that the CBO analysis of the Republican healthcare bill is "going to provide the canonical numbers in discussing this bill, no matter how hard Republicans complain about their assumptions." She writes the "average voter is going to remember whatever numbers were in the headlines, or scrolling by on the nightly news."

Bill Press writes in The Hill (3/13, 1.25M) that President Trump's support of the Affordable Health Care Act signifies he is breaking three promises of his campaign: universal coverage, less expensive premiums, and quick implementation of healthcare reform. Several healthcare providers, including the American Medical Association and the American Health Care Association, oppose the GOP healthcare plan because, "as healthcare providers, they know the harm this plan will cause to millions of Americans, especially the poor and most vulnerable." Trump's support for Paul Ryan's bill is because "he is no leader" and "just wants to sign a healthcare bill, any bill, so he can brag about it and lie about."

John Grabel, Wisconsin state director of For Our Future Action Fund, writes in the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (3/13, 513K) that arguments in support of the GOP healthcare plan are an example of the Administration's reliance on "alternative facts." Grabel asserts that the "near-daily lies, falsehoods, unfounded allegations and forays into alternative 'facts' mean that from now on, the American people can't believe the president."

In her Arizona Republic (3/13, 1.1M) column, Laurie Roberts writes the 2018 election has gotten tougher for Arizona Republicans, including Sen. Jeff Flake, now that a report by the Congressional Budget Office estimates that 14 million people will "either lose or forego health insurance by 2018." Gov. Doug Ducey also faces the dubious option of raising taxes or proposing "kicking tens of thousands of Arizonans, many of them with serious mental illnesses, to the health-care curb."

Dylan Matthews writes in Vox (3/13, Matthews, 1.15M) that the AHCA would "reverse one of the greatest actions against inequality ever taken by the federal government, and then increase inequality yet further." He calls the legislation an "act of class warfare against low-income Americans, waged for the benefit of the handful of rich taxpayers affected by Obamacare's surtaxes."

The Arizona Republic (3/13, Montini, 1.1M) columnist EJ Montini writes that the CBO's "honest assessment" of the Republican replacement plan for the ACA is "worse" than anticipated, because the plan "would pull the plug" for "as many as 24 million Americans whose health care coverage already is on life support."

In the Reno (NV) Gazette-Journal (3/13, 219K), three Reno-Sparks area pediatricians, along with the Nevada chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics, say they "recently wrote the Nevada congressional delegation to express serious concerns over Congress' plans to repeal the Affordable Care Act." The law, while not perfect, has reduced the number and percentage of uninsured children in Nevada "dramatically in just 5 years, from 107,000 children (16% of the state's kids) in 2011 to 50,000 children (8% of the state's kids) in 2015."

In an editorial, the Sacramento (CA) Bee (3/13, 574K) says that it is no surprise that "legislation as complex as the Obama administration's Affordable Care Act can't be overhauled overnight, as Republicans in Congress are trying to do." Given the unflattering analysis of their healthcare plan by the CBO today, Republicans should "step back, rethink their approach, and put in the hours and analysis necessary to get a workable consensus."

The New York Daily News (3/13, Editorials, 4.45M) editorializes that the CBO analysis of their healthcare bill shows Republicans have not learned from President Obama's "If you like your doctor, you can keep your doctor" gaffe. After vowing his proposals "would cover every last American, and for less money, and with lower deductibles." Trump has to now "pretend he's thrilled with seeing as many as 24 million go without the peace of mind insurance brings."

The Huffington Post (3/13, Weigant, Contributor, 237K) contributor Chris Weigant writes Paul Ryan's "initial scheme was to get the bill through both houses of Congress and on the president's desk so fast that public opinion wouldn't have time to react." This was "never very realistic," and it is likely "that a fair portion of the 24 million people who will be affected are going to speak up to their congressional representatives, quite loudly and unequivocally. Which was precisely what Ryan was trying to avoid."

A Crain's New York Business (3/14, 230K) editorial says that repealing the ACA would be "fool's gold" for New York employers, because local politicians are "not going to let millions of New Yorkers lose Medicaid coverage." It is likely politicians would then turn to "employers to cover the shortfall in the form of higher city and state taxes and new mandates and fees, all of which would make New York a less desirable place to do business."

Timothy Jost, emeritus professor of law at Washington and Lee University and Rockingham County Democratic committee chair, writes on CNN's (3/14, Jost, 29.79M) website that according to the CBO analysis of the Republican healthcare plan, its overall effect "is to make health insurance coverage less accessible for older and poorer Americans while making it more affordable for younger and higher-income Americans."

Roll Call (3/14, Shapiro, 63K) columnist Walter Shapiro writes that "it is easy to invent a scenario in which the Republicans pay a political price for repeal and replace in 2018." Shapiro advises Ryan to consider that "people who are starving want food rather than a system that supposedly provides them with "access" to food." GOP lawmakers "should offer sighs of relief if they can avoid voting on a bill that is both Obamacare Lite and a policy disaster."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

A Chicago Tribune (3/13, 2.54M) editorial says the CBO analysis made the Republican task of overhauling the ACA "more complicated, but also possibly more clear: Americans need health coverage that is flexible, that they can afford and that includes the doctors and hospitals they want." Instead of pushing ahead on a flawed bill, Republican leaders should "respond and retool."

Josh Archambault, a senior fellow with the Foundation for Government Accountability, writes in the Washington Examiner (3/13, 400K) that ways to improve the Affordable Health Care Act is stopping or freezing all new Medicaid enrollment, blocking states from allowing to expand Medicaid through the ACA, and including work requirements on non-disabled, working-age adults on Medicaid.

INVESTIGATION REVEALS CHALLENGES IN EFFORT TO DEFUND PLANNED PARENTHOOD IN TEXAS. The AP (3/14, Weber) reports that as they promote an Affordable Care Act replacement plan which defunds Planned Parenthood, GOP lawmakers "are out to reassure women who rely on the major health care organization that other clinics will step up to provide their low-cost breast exams, contraception and cancer screenings." The article says Texas is already conducting this experiment. Last year, the state "gave $1.6 million to an anti-abortion organization called the Heidi Group to help strengthen small clinics that specialize in women's health like Planned Parenthood but don't offer abortions." But an AP investigation revealed that to date, "the nonprofit has done little of the outreach it promised, such as helping clinics promote their services on Facebook, or airing public service announcements."

HARVARD STUDY SUGGESTS HOSPITAL-BASED INSURANCE MAY LEAD TO HIGHER CUSTOMER SATISFACTION. The New York Times (3/13, Frakt, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports an analysis of Medicare Advantage plans by a Harvard medical student and a Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health researcher determined that selecting health insurance plans offered directly through hospitals can lead to higher customer satisfaction. The study, published in the journal Health Affairs, found that provider-based insurance could produce higher rates of satisfaction among policyholders because "problems may be resolved faster; they may be less likely to develop in the first place." The study suggests "such tight integration between plans and providers is at least a signal of higher quality, even if it doesn't cause it."

OP-ED URGES TEXAS TO AMEND HEALTHCARE POLICY TO COVER MORE WOMEN. In a Dallas Morning News (3/13, 1.12M) op-ed, Wayne Brewer, PT, Ph.D., assistant physical therapy professor at the Texas Woman's University Institute of Health Sciences in Houston, emphasizes the need for healthcare service availability for low-income women. Brewer refers to a study conducted by the Dallas Women's Foundation, which found that "30 percent of all households are female-headed, yet 53 percent of all households living in poverty are female-headed." Brewer opines that, "no matter what side of the political fence we sit on, surely all Texans can agree that with more than 2 million uninsured women and girls in our great state, action needs to be taken. That action may include drastic changes in policy or simply a greater emphasis on health education."

TENNESSEE FILES FEDERAL LAWSUIT CONCERNING REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT POLICIES. The Tennessean (3/13, Ebert, 407K) reports Tennessee initiated a lawsuit against the federal government concerning refugee resettlement initiatives, alleging the government violated the Tenth Amendment of the US Constitution and the Refugee Act of 1980. The defendants include the US State Department, Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, the US Health and Human Services Department, and the Office of Refugee Resettlement. The lawsuit has been "slammed" by organizations like the American Civil Liberties Union of Tennessee and the Tennessee Immigrant and Refugee Rights Coalition. The Thomas More Law Center has taken charge of the case, pointing out that "Tennessee opted out of the federal refugee resettlement program," but that "refugees have continued to be sent to Tennessee."

The AP (3/13) reports the lawsuit was filed Monday by the Tennessee General Assembly which "argues that the refugee program is forcing the state to spend money on additional services, such as health care and education." The state requested the resettlement program be halted until the federal government reimburses the state for the program's cost.

The Hill (3/13, Hensch, 1.25M) reports the lawsuit alleges "operation of the federal refugee resettlement program commandeers Tennessee's funds through Medicaid with the threatened loss of nearly $7 billion, amounting to 20 percent of its overall state budget – money that is needed fund services that are critical to the health and welfare of countless Tennesseans." Tennessee state Sen. John Stevens (R) and state Rep. Terri Lynn Weaver (R) joined in filing the suit.

WIDOW SUES VULTO CREAMERY OVER HUSBAND'S DEATH FROM LISTERIA-TAINTED CHEESE. The Hartford (CT) Courant (3/14, Lurye, 445K) reports the widow of a man who died due to consuming cheese tainted with Listeria is suing the manufacturer, Vulto Creamery. Veronica Friedman is alleging the wrongful death of her husband Richard, who the Connecticut Department of Health confirmed is the second man to die as a result of the contamination, as well as emotional and financial damage.

CONSUMER GOODS COMPANIES CUT SUGAR, SALT CONTENT. Bloomberg News (3/13, Chambers, 2.41M) highlights a new Consumer Goods Forum survey which found global consumer goods companies "reduced ingredients such as sugar and salt in about 20 percent of their products in 2016 as shoppers shift toward healthier brands." In addition to shifting consumer desires, government restrictions such as the US Food and Drug Administration's announcement last year that "companies would be required to label products with more detailed information about their sugar content" have impacted sugar and salt levels in food products. The report surveyed 102 companies.

PROVIDERS CONCERNED ABOUT LOSING MEDICARE CONTRACTS, PATIENTS DUE TO NEW REQUIREMENT FOR HOSPITALS TO NOTIFY MEDICARE PATIENTS OF OBSERVATION STATUS. In continuing coverage, Modern Healthcare (3/13, Dickson, Subscription Publication, 241K) reports that healthcare providers are concerned that they could lose Medicare contracts and patients because of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' "lack of guidance on a new requirement for hospitals to notify Medicare patients why they are receiving observation care could cause hospitals to lose billing privileges and patients." The article explains that "the CMS requires hospitals to give patients a reason for their observation status, but the CMS has declined repeated requests from hospitals to suggest language that providers should use."

TWO MAYORS OPPOSE HOUSE REPUBLICANS' HEALTHCARE BILL. Congressional Quarterly (3/13, Williams, Subscription Publication, 967) reports New Orleans Mayor Mitch Landrieu (D) and Boston Mayor Martin J. Walsh (D) are both opposed to the House Republicans' healthcare bill because it would replace the ACA's Medicaid expansion "with either a block grant or an allotment based on population." Landrieu and Walsh argue that the Republicans' plan would lead to decreased funding for states' Medicaid programs and could also hurt local economies that are dependent on jobs in the healthcare industry.

TRUMP ADMINISTRATION HAS FILLED ONLY ONE OF 46 KEY SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY POSITIONS, WPOST ANALYSIS FINDS. In a nearly 2,000-word piece, the Washington Post (3/13, Mooney, 11.43M) reports that President Donald Trump "has filled just one of 46 key science and technology positions that help the government counter risks ranging from chemical and biological attacks to rising seas, a Washington Post analysis has found." Those "vacancies in the 46 Senate-confirmed posts range from the president's science adviser, to the administrators of NASA and National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, to the chairman of the White House Council on Environmental Quality." What's more, "the Trump administration is expected to propose deep cuts to science-focused agencies, such as the EPA, Energy Department, and NOAA, according to numerous press reports, including several by The Post."

STUDY: HIGH-SPENDING MEDICARE DOCTORS COULD SPEND LESS WITHOUT HARMING PATIENTS. The Wall Street Journal (3/13, Evans, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) reports a study published by JAMA Internal Medicine shows Medicare patients of high-spending doctors were as likely to die within a month of leaving the hospital or return to the hospital as patients whose doctors spent less on tests, scans, and consultations. The authors of the study that examined about 485,000 hospital visits by Medicare patients between 2011 and 2014 suggest high-spending doctors could spend less without harming patients, but academic hospitalist and researcher Tara Lagu of Baystate Medical Center's Center for Quality of Care Research said the issue is complex, and doctors cannot necessarily expect to achieve the same outcomes when they spend less.

AS JURY PREPARES TO DELIBERATE NECC TRIAL, JUDGE EXPRESSES DOUBTS ABOUT CHARGES. The Boston Globe (3/13, Valencia, 1.08M) reports that "after more than nine weeks of testimony, a federal jury is slated to begin deliberating Wednesday in the trial of Barry J. Cadden, the former New England Compounding Center head pharmacist and co-owner who is accused of causing the 2012 fungal meningitis outbreak that killed more than 60 people and sickened roughly 700 more." Attorneys for Cadden "argued at Monday's hearing that no 'reasonable jury' could convict Cadden of second-degree murder based on the evidence that was introduced in the trial." The Tennessean (3/13, Roche, 407K) reports District Judge Richard G. Stearns "expressed strong doubts about some of the more serious charges against" Barry Cadden and the New England Compounding Center on Monday. Stearns "said he would let the jury decide on the 25 counts of second-degree murder...but noted that some court rulings have concluded that recklessness alone is 'not sufficient' to establish a case of second-degree murder."

OPINION: IMPORTING CANADIAN DRUGS WOULD EXPOSE AMERICANS TO POORLY REGULATED PRODUCTS, HURT INNOVATION. In an op-ed in The Hill (3/13, Ramesh, Shah, Contributors, 1.25M) "Pundits Blog," Market Access Solutions president Sandip Shah and associate director Vidya Ramesh criticize Senator Bernie Sanders' "bill that would enable Americans to import medicines from" Canada. They explain that drug "importation would expose Americans to drugs that have not been as stringently regulated as the current status quo, and curb future medical innovation." In addition, imports would cut "just one to two percent of total U.S. prescription drug spending," according to the Surgeon General's estimates. They conclude, we must "consider the broader ramifications of a short-term decision to artificially lower drug prices. Importation risks forfeiting future cures and compromises the safety of the drug supply."

ACCESS TO VACCINES INDEX RANKS DRUG MAKERS ON RESEARCH, PRICING, SUPPLY. The New York Times (3/13, McNeil, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports vaccine makers were ranked on research, pricing and supply by "the first Access to Vaccines Index" released last week. According to the index, GlaxoSmithKline "led Sanofi, Johnson & Johnson and Merck, while Pfizer lagged behind."

NEW YORK CITY ANNOUNCES $38M INITIATIVE TO COMBAT OPIOID EPIDEMIC. The Wall Street Journal (3/13, Kanno-Youngs, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) reports New York City officials announced the "HealingNYC" initiative, their newest effort to fight the opioid epidemic. The project will receive $38 million annually, which will fund distribution of 100,000 naloxone kits to treatment programs, shelters, and the NYPD. The initiative will also support education programs in schools and hospitals to raise awareness and encourage doctors to prescribe less of the addictive painkillers.

ASTRAZENECA'S EMERGING INNOVATIONS UNIT SEEKS TO REPURPOSE REJECTED DRUGS. The Wall Street Journal (3/13, Roland, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) profiles AstraZeneca's Emerging Innovations Unit, which seeks to repurpose rejected drugs to treat other diseases. The unit is a strategic change by the company to offset declining revenues from patent expiration on their more popular drugs, and has already has some success. The Journal notes that while AstraZeneca has been more involved in its rejected drugs than other big companies, others, including Novartis, are making similar changes.

MEDTRONIC RECEIVES FDA APPROVAL FOR IMPROVED HEART MONITOR. The Minneapolis Star Tribune (3/13, 1.27M) reports Medtronic announced Monday that it has received FDA approval for its "Reveal Linq cardiac monitor with new computer programming called TruRhythm Detection," which makes it "more accurate than prior versions" of the device. Another "key advantage" of the device is its three-year battery.

FDA APPROVES DRUG FOR TYPE OF ADVANCED BREAST CANCER. The AP (3/13) reports the Food and Drug Administration has approved Novartis' Kisqali (ribociclib) "as an initial treatment for postmenopausal women with a type of advanced breast cancer." The drug works by "blocking two proteins that can stimulate growth and division of cancer cells."

Reuters (3/13, Jain) reports the drug is to be used in combination with letrozole. Late-stage data "showed that kisqali, along with letrozole, met the main goal of progression-free survival (PFS) at an interim analysis compared to patients treated with letrozole alone."

WYDEN TO INTRODUCE BILL REQUIRING GREATER TRANSPARENCY IN NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN PBMS, DRUG COMPANIES. Congressional Quarterly (3/13, Williams, Subscription Publication, 967) reports Sen. Ron Wyden (D-OR) "intends to introduce legislation this week to require greater transparency in negotiations between pharmacy benefit managers and drug manufacturers." The bill "would mandate the disclosure of the proportion of the rebates and discounts on prescription drugs that PBMs pass on to certain insurance plans" and "require the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to post the information publicly on its website."

MOST MILITARY PHYSICIANS RECEIVED LITTLE TRAINING IN TRANSGENDER CARE, SMALL STUDY INDICATES. The PBS NewsHour (3/13, Segal, 255K) "The Rundown" blog reports researchers who surveyed 180 physicians "at the 2016 annual meeting of the Uniformed Services Academy of Family Physicians...found the vast majority of the group – 94.9 percent – had received 'three hours or less of training on transgender care.'" About three-fourths "had received no training at all." That "trend does not differ substantially from many providers outside the military, according to Dr. Natasha Schvey...who co-authored the study published Mar. 13 in JAMA Internal Medicine."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

MedPage Today (3/13, Monaco, 97K) reports that while "the small study did not find a significant link between increased training for transgender care and the ability to provide nonjudgmental care, greater medical training was associated with an increased propensity to prescribe cross-hormone therapy to a patient with gender dysphoria." The "findings echo those of a previous survey conducted by Mayo Clinic and the Endocrine Society of practicing endocrinologists, whom transgender individuals often see regarding hormone therapy; that study found that nearly 80% of endocrinologists surveyed had treated a transgender person, but 80.6%, reported never having received training on proper care and treatment for transgender individuals."

YOUNG PEOPLE WHO USE SYNTHETIC CANNABINOIDS MAY BE MORE LIKELY TO USE OTHER DRUGS OR ALCOHOL, BEHAVE VIOLENTLY, STUDY SUGGESTS. CNN (3/13, Scutti, 29.79M) reports that research suggests "young people who use" synthetic cannabinoids may be "more likely to use other drugs or alcohol, to behave violently and to have high-risk sex." For the study, "Heather Clayton, lead researcher of the new study and a health scientist in the CDC's Division of Adolescent and School Health, turned to the 2015 Youth Risk Behavior Survey." Clayton said, "We learned from the 2015 Youth Risk Behavior Survey that nearly one in 10 high school students had used synthetic marijuana at some point in their lifetime."

MORE THAN 400,000 US DEATHS FROM CARDIOVASCULAR CAUSES IN 2015 WERE ASSOCIATED WITH UNHEALTHY DIETS, STUDY SUGGESTS. In continuing coverage, the New York Times (3/13, Yin, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that research suggests "in 2015, more than 400,000 deaths from cardiovascular causes were linked to unhealthy diets." Investigators found that "the biggest factors were a deficit of nuts and seeds, vegetables, whole grains and fruits, and an excess of salt." Meanwhile, "diets low in omega-3 fatty acids, found in seafood, and high in trans-fat, processed meat or sugary beverages also played a role." The findings were presented at the American Heart Association's Epidemiology/Lifestyle 2017 meeting.

FISH OIL SUPPLEMENTS MAY BE BENEFICIAL FOR PEOPLE WHO HAVE SUFFERED A HEART ATTACK OR HEART FAILURE, HEART GROUP SAYS. CBS News (3/13, 4.4M) reports on its website that while "millions of people take fish oil supplements for heart health...a new report from the American Heart Associations shows not everyone may benefit from it." The report indicated "that omega-3 fish oil supplements can help people who have suffered a heart attack or heart failure in the past." However, "there wasn't enough evidence to support their use in people without a history of heart trouble."

Reuters (3/13, Emery) reports, "The scientific advisory published in...Circulation updates a 2002 guidance with data from 15 newer studies."

INTERVIEW WITH EMINENT PALLIATIVE PHYSICIAN HIGHLIGHTS ATTITUDES TOWARD DEATH IN HEALTHCARE. STAT (3/13, Tedeschi) reports on an interview with physician and MacArthur Foundation "genius" grant recipient Dr. Diane Meier, known "for her pioneering work in palliative medicine." Meier speaks about the importance of health professionals' involvement in helping patients and families "live as well and as fully as possible while they are alive," and describes the importance of "societal advantages to it being permissible to talk about the fact of death and its inevitability." Meier explains that "it's not our job as health professionals to be convincing people that it's OK to die, and that death is natural and death is good."

STUDY SUGGESTS AMERICANS EXPERIENCE MORE CARE COORDINATION GAPS THAN PATIENTS IN OTHER COUNTRIES. Reuters (3/13, Rapaport) reports a study published in the Annals of Family Medicine suggests US patients "are more likely to experience gaps in coordination among healthcare providers than their counterparts in other high-income nations." The article notes that nearly one in 10 US patients experiences multiple gaps in care coordination – a rate nearly double that of cases across the 11 countries surveyed. The study, conducted by researchers from the University of Sydney, surveyed approximately 14,000 adults and found the five percent of patients who experienced at least three gaps in service "were more than three times as likely to be hospitalized and more than twice as likely to visit the emergency department."

NEVADA LEGISLATURE REVIEWS BILL GRANTING PHYSICIAN-ASSISTED SUICIDE FOR TERMINALLY ILL PATIENTS. The Las Vegas Review-Journal (3/13, Chereb, 676K) reports the Nevada State Senate reviewed a bill sponsored by Sen. David Parks (D-Las Vegas) that would allow terminally ill patients over the age of 18 who are likely to die in six months to voluntarily end their lives with physician-prescribed medication. The bill would require at least two physicians to confirm the prognosis, and the patient would only be eligible if he or she is a Nevada resident, and "mentally competent to make the life-ending decision." The bill was referred to the Senate Committee on Health and Human Services.

SYNTHETIC IMPLANT USES CONTACT LENS MATERIAL TO ACT AS A CUSHION FOR JOINTS AFFECTED BY ARTHRITIS. NBC Nightly News (3/13, story 7, 2:00, Holt, 16.61M) reported on a "new treatment for a common form of arthritis that can hit women especially hard." NBC News correspondent Kristen Dalgren discussed a "first-of-its-kind implant," a form of "synthetic cartilage made with the same material as a contact lens that acts as a cushion for the joint." Currently, the implant is "only used in the big toe in the US, but European doctors are already using it in knees and thumbs." According to Dahlgren, "Data released today shows pain reduction in 91 percent of patients," and "more than 100 percent improvement in their ability to play sports and activities." The NBC News (3/13, Dahlgren, 2.67M) website also covers the story.

CANADIANS WITH CYSTIC FIBROSIS SURVIVE APPROXIMATELY 10 YEARS LONGER THAN AMERICANS WITH THE CONDITION, STUDY INDICATES. The AP (3/13, Neergaard) reports that research published in the Annals of Internal Medicine indicates "Canadians with cystic fibrosis survive" approximately a decade "longer than Americans with the...disease."

CNN (3/13, Scutti, 29.79M) reports that investigators "examined national cystic fibrosis registry data between 1990 and 2013 for 5,941 patients in Canada and 45,456 patients in the" US. Although "survival increased in both countries over time, Canada began to see greater improvements than the US beginning in 1995." The researchers found that "for the most recent years, 2009 through 2013, the median age of survival has been 50.9 years in Canada, compared with just 40.6 years in the US."

STAT (3/13, Boodman) reports that "the Canadians, all of whom get government-provided health coverage, had the same risk of dying as those Americans who had private insurance." However, "when compared with Americans on continuous Medicare and Medicaid...Canadians' risk of death was 44 percent lower." Meanwhile, "the disparity was even greater when it came to Americans" who had no insurance.

Reuters (3/13, Rapaport) reports that "a high-fat diet," linked to "better survival for cystic fibrosis patients, has been recommended in Canada since the 1970s but wasn't implemented in the US until the 1980s." Additionally, "differences in selecting patients for lung transplantation – which was also associated with better survival odds – may explain the longer lifespans in Canada as well, the researchers" pointed out.

NEPALESE AUTHORITIES CONFIRM H5N8 BIRD FLU KILLED 3,650 CHICKENS IN KOSHI REGION. Reuters (3/13, Trompiz, de La Hamaide) says Nepalese authorities released a report on Monday confirming an outbreak of H5N8 bird flu on a farm in the Koshi region. The World Organization for Animal Health (OIE) determined the virus killed 3,650 of 6,200 exposed hens, while the remaining birds were culled. Nepal announced last month that a highly pathogenic H5N1 strain reached backyard chickens and ducks.

MEDIA ANALYSES: WHITE HOUSE WALKING BACK TRUMP'S WIRETAPPING ALLEGATIONS. The House Intelligence Committee's deadline for the Justice Department to turn over any evidence supporting President Trump's claim that the Obama Administration engaged in surveillance of Trump Tower during the presidential campaign passed Monday – with the DOJ getting approval for an additional week to gather the information. Though the three broadcast networks all carried the story, giving it seven and one-half minutes combined, none ran it near the top of their broadcasts. Coverage of the deadline itself is brief and straightforward, though reporting on comments by Sean Spicer and Kellyanne Conway about the President's charge is more detailed and very critical toward the Administration.

ABC World News Tonight (3/13, story 5, 3:15, Muir, 14.63M) reported that "the Justice Department is asking for more time to determine what if any evidence exists of wiretapping. Nine days after President Trump accused President Obama of wiretapping him, there is still not one credible shred of evidence to back up that claim. ... In today's White House briefing, press secretary Sean Spicer trying to walk back the wiretapping accusation altogether." Spicer: "The President used the word 'wiretap' in quotes to mean broadly surveillance and other activities. He literally had it in quotes. He said they were in quotes. It was referring to surveillance overall." Vega: "True. Two tweets from the President put quotes around 'wiretap,' but in others, nope, no quotes. And the President was clear: 'How low has President Obama gone to tap my phones during the very sacred election process?' In another tweet, the President cites 'the fact that President Obama was tapping my phones.'"

The CBS Evening News (3/13, story 5, 2:15, Mason, 11.17M) reported, "The White House has yet to provide any evidence to back the President's claim that President Obama tapped his phone during the campaign." CBS' Major Garrett: "President Trump again ignored questions about what evidence he has" to back up the claim. Spicer "said the President has not directed the Justice Department to turn over evidence requested by the House Intelligence Committee." NBC

Nightly News (3/13, story 5, 2:00, Holt, 16.61M) reported, “With the Justice Department under congressional pressure to provide some evidence by today to support those claims, the White House has now presented a different explanation for what the President really meant when he fired off those allegations.” NBC’s Peter Alexander: “Can you say affirmatively that whenever the President sends something, we can trust it to be real?” Spicer: “If he’s not joking, of course. Every time that he speaks authoritatively, he’s speaking as the President of the United States.”

Much of the print and online coverage of the passing of the deadline is brief and straightforward. The AP (3/13) reports that the DOJ “asked lawmakers for more time to provide evidence,” and the committee “said it would give the Justice Department until March 20 to comply with the evidence request.” Reuters (3/13, Mason, Ainsley) reports the DOJ said in a statement that it “requested ‘additional time to review the request in compliance with the governing legal authorities and to determine what if any responsive documents may exist.’” The Washington Post (3/13, Zapotosky, 11.43M) says the “one-paragraph statement” was all that came from DOJ on the matter on Monday. USA Today (3/13, Johnson, Jackson, 5.28M) reports that while FBI Director Comey “pressed Justice officials to offer a rebuke of the claims,” the DOJ “has yet to address the matter.”

CNN (3/13, Raju, Schleifer, 29.79M) reports on its website that a spokesman for House Intelligence Chairman Devin Nunes said in a statement, “We have asked the Department to provide us this information before the committee’s open hearing scheduled for March 20. If the committee does not receive a response by then, the committee will ask for this information during the March 20 hearing and may resort to a compulsory process if our questions continue to go unanswered.” Catherine Herridge reported on Fox News Special Report (3/13, 1.53M) that the Monday deadline was intended to be one week before that first hearing.

Sen. Lindsey Graham said on Fox News’ O’Reilly Factor (3/13, 767K), “I think I owe to the people of the United States...to let you know whether or not there was a warrant issued against the Trump campaign or Trump Tower by a lawful authority. So, I have written the FBI and the Department of Justice and I want them to provide...the Judiciary Committee any evidence of a warrant. If there is no warrant, then we will have solved this problem, there was no wiretapping.” Graham added that “we all need to know whether a warrant was issued against the Trump campaign. I promise you, I will get to it.”

Appearing on CNN’s Situation Room (3/13, 554K), Rep. Jim Himes (D-CT) said there are two possibilities behind the Justice Department’s delay in providing the evidence. The first is that Trump made the accusations up, and now “the FBI and the Justice Department are figuring out how to tell us that in a way that doesn’t create quite a rift with the White House.” The second is that a wiretap did occur, but Himes said that would raise issues on its own. He explained that “if there was some form of surveillance, it would have to be done pursuant to a federal judge’s order. And it could be that they’re concerned about that.”

Rep. Ted Lieu (D-CA) said on CNN’s Wolf (3/13, 224K), “There’s only two reasonable explanations. Either US intelligence officials and an independent FISA court judge believe there were foreign agents at Trump Tower or Donald Trump is making stuff up again. ... My belief is Donald Trump likely lied about this wiretap. He falsely accused President Obama of being a bad and sick person. Donald Trump needs to apologize if he cannot come up with evidence.”

Rep. Kathleen Rice (D-NY) said on CNN’s Situation Room (3/13, 554K), “This is one of the biggest problems with President Trump. He says whatever comes out of his mouth. He doesn’t think about it. He doesn’t measure his words. He doesn’t care whether what he is saying is true or not. When you accuse a President of breaking the law in this way that would create a constitutional crisis the likes of which we have never seen in our country’s history.”

Rep. Francis Rooney (R-FL) was asked on CNN’s Wolf (3/13, 224K) if Trump should apologize if there is no evidence to back up his wiretapping claim. Rooney said, “Mr. Trump has his own unique style. This is not the first time things like this would have been said. ... I would like to get to the bottom of were there warrants or not, first, then look at the circumstances surrounding that.”

Rep. Jim McGovern (D-MA) tweeted, “Every day Trump fails to show proof of Obama wiretapping, it becomes clearer it was just latest attempt to distract from #TrumpRussia ties.” Rep. Maxine Waters (D-CA) similarly tweeted, “Trump wants more time to get his lies in order on Obama wiretapping allegations.”

The conservative Washington Times (3/13, Sherfinski, 272K) headlines its report “White House Dances Around Trump Wiretap Claim As Justice Department Seeks More Time For Evidence.” Politico (3/13, Wright, 2.46M), Axios (3/13, Vavra), and the NPR (3/13, Chappell, 1.92M) website also have brief reports.

Media Analyses Critical Of Spicer And Conway Comments. Coverage of comments from Spicer and Conway is more detailed, and very critical toward the Administration. CNN’s Situation Room (3/13, 554K) showed Spicer stating, “The President used the word 'wiretap' to mean broadly surveillance and other activities," but CNN's Jeff Zeleny said, "But that's not true. It was not widely reported surveillance took place in the campaign. And the President stated the wiretapping allegation as fact. ... This could be one of those many conspiracy theories that have been floated out around this White House that never quite seem to have an end to them."

Politico (3/13, Conway, 2.46M) says Spicer "tried to argue that Trump had accused the Obama administration of general 'surveillance' activities, and not a literal wiretap, even though Trump himself had use the term 'wire tapping' in one of several tweets making the claim without evidence." And when Spicer referenced surveillance activities during the campaign, it was "unclear what reports Spicer was referring to. News outlets have reported that intelligence officials have been investigating whether there were inappropriate ties between the Trump campaign and the Russian government...but no credible mainstream American outlets have reported that the Obama administration conducted surveillance on Trump Tower or the Trump campaign, whether in the form of a court-ordered wiretap or something else." Glenn Thrush of the New York Times tweeted, "Spicer keeps claiming, falsely, that Trump's wide-ranging and unsupported statements about targeted 'wiretapping' of him came from MSM." Politico (3/13, McCaskill, 2.46M) says in a second story that Spicer "struggled Monday to say what's real" and "sidestepped a series of pointed questions about whether things the president has said are 'real' or 'phony.'"

The New York Times (3/13, Davis, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that Spicer and Conway "suggested on Monday that President Trump's unsubstantiated claim...was not meant to be taken literally." Conway "said in an interview on Sunday that Mr. Obama could have employed any number of devices other than a traditional telephone wiretap, even including a microwave oven," but "clarified on Monday that she was not accusing the former president of snooping via a kitchen appliance." Conway said on CNN's New Day (3/13, 226K), "I'm not Inspector Gadget. I don't believe people are using the microwave to spy on the Trump campaign. However, I'm not in the job of having evidence. That's what investigations are for." Conway said on Fox News' Fox & Friends (3/13, 831K), "The President has made very clear that he is incredibly concerned about these leaks from the intelligence and security communities. ... As goes Trump Tower though, we all see where these investigations lead." #KellyanneMicrowave was trending on Twitter on Monday evening.

The Washington Times (3/13, Sherfinski, 272K) reports that Conway said she was "speaking generally when she told a New Jersey newspaper there are many ways to surveil people, after she had been asked if she knew whether or not Trump Tower had been wiretapped." The New York Post (3/13, Moore, 3.82M) headlines its report "Conway Walks Back Trump Tower Surveillance Remarks," while a Wall Street Journal (3/13, Mann, Subscription Publication, 6.37M) piece is similarly headlined "White House Back-Pedals On Claim Obama Wiretapped Trump's Phones."

As for the President, Politico (3/13, Nelson, 2.46M) reports that he "complained Monday morning that members of the media have treated officials from his administration rudely and advised the media that 'you will do much better' if his officials are treated nicely." He tweeted, "It is amazing how rude much of the media is to my very hard working representatives. Be nice, you will do much better!" Though the tweet "did not reference any specific interactions between his administration and the media," it followed interviews with Conway on four networks.

Jake Tapper said on CNN's The Lead (3/13, 320K), "Since the tweets nine days ago, this charge by the President has been called false by the Director of the FBI, false by the former Director of National Intelligence, and not one credible, informed source that we can find in Washington has said that the President's accusation is true. ... We as a nation have had to live in this farce for the last nine days. Defenders of the President have twisted themselves to try to suggest the possibility that the tweets were not preposterous make it seem somewhere in the neighborhood of possible." Tapper added, "The White House is spending its energy and your tax dollars trying to change demonstrably false assertions into perfectly understandable beliefs tangentially related to the original lie."

Michael Gerson writes in his Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) column, "Children sitting in Professor Trump's history class would learn that Obama was America's first Muslim president; that his co-religionists celebrated in the streets following the 9/11 attacks; that their vaccination schedule is the dangerous scam of greedy doctors; that Ted Cruz's father might have been involved in the death of John F. Kennedy; that Hillary Clinton might have been involved in the death of Vince Foster; that unnamed liberals might have been involved in the death of Justice Antonin Scalia. More recently, Trump has claimed – based, so far, on nothing – that Obama ordered the bugging of Trump Tower." Gerson says Trump "does not support things because they are true; they are true because he supports them. And he expects everyone who works for him to publicly and vocally embrace his version of reality."

Catherine Rampell writes in her Washington Post (3/13, 11.43M) column, "From top to bottom, this administration has been infested with conspiracy theorists. Most appear to be true believers. ... Others, such as Kellyanne Conway, appear to just be paranoiacs for pay."

"Fake News Sites" Claim FBI Has Warrant For Obama's Arrest. PolitiFact (3/13, Graves, 287K) reports that "multiple fake news sites" have published stories "claiming that the FBI has a warrant out for Obama's arrest stemming from allegations he wiretapped Trump's phones." These stories are false.

New Watchdog Group Focused On Trump Administration. The Washington Times (3/13, Harper, 272K) reports that a new group called American Oversight "is up and running, and has an eye trained on President Trump. The watchdog organization...offers this mission statement: 'There's a perfect storm for corruption and scandal brewing in the Trump administration. And Congress has completely abdicated its responsibility to provide oversight – or even vet high-ranking nominees.'"

CNN Documentary Explores Putin's Role In Election Interference. CNN's Situation Room (3/13, 554K) reported on an upcoming CNN documentary titled "The Most Powerful Man In The World," on Russian President Vladimir Putin's role in the 2016 presidential election. CNN showed a clip of Masha Gessen, author of "The Man Without A Face: The Unlikely Rise of Vladimir Putin," saying, "I think Putin views Trump as an apprentice." The complete video of the documentary is available online.

The AP (3/13, Lederman) looks at the "key members of Trump's circle" who are "under scrutiny for Russia ties," briefly examining the cases of Attorney General Sessions, former national security adviser Michael Flynn, and Trump campaign operatives Paul Manafort, Carter Page, and Roger Stone.

TRUMP EXPECTED TO ANNOUNCE REOPENING OF FUEL ECONOMY RULE REVIEW AT MICHIGAN EVENT. The Washington Post (3/13, Overly, Eilperin, 11.43M) reports that President Trump will travel to Ypsilanti, Michigan on Wednesday to announce the reopening of "a review of the fuel economy standards that automakers must meet" in the coming years, in "a sign that the White House could ease environmental regulations the industry finds onerous." The Obama Administration approved the rules in question in 2012 "and determined in January that the standards were sound." Last month, auto sector trade groups asked the EPA to reopen the review of the rules. Reuters (3/13, Shepardson) reports that the CEOs of Fiat Chrysler, Ford, and GM are expected to attend the Wednesday event, along with "officials from Japanese and German automakers."

The Detroit News (3/13, Burke, 473K) says Trump "will talk up his priorities of bolstering the manufacturing industry and taming the outsourcing of American jobs." MLive (MI) (3/13, Haynes, 878K) reports that Trump is set to speak at "the future home of an autonomous and connected vehicle testing facility being created by the American Center for Mobility." The Detroit Free Press (3/13, Snavely, Spangler, 1.01M) runs a similar report.

SCIENTISTS CRITICIZE PRUITT'S QUESTIONING OF HUMAN ROLE IN CLIMATE CHANGE. The Washington Post (3/13, Mooney, 11.43M) reports that the American Meteorological Society, "a key scientific organization whose members have considerable expertise in studying the climate and weather," is criticizing EPA Administrator Pruitt's statement last week "questioning the most important scientific conclusion about climate change – namely, that it is driven by human beings." In a letter to Pruitt, the group's executive director wrote, "The world's 7 billion people are causing climate to change and our emissions of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases are the primary cause. This is a conclusion based on the comprehensive assessment of scientific evidence." The Post says a group of 30 leading US scientists "who share an expertise in climate change also wrote to Pruitt, with a similar message."

Atmospheric Carbon Dioxide Continues To Climb At Record Pace. The Washington Post (3/13, Harvey, 11.43M) reports National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) data show that "for the second year in a row, atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations have climbed at a record pace," with carbon dioxide levels climbing "by three parts per million in both 2015 and 2016 and now rest at about 405 parts per million."

Florida Scientists Write To Trump Regarding NOAA Budget. The Miami Herald (3/13, Staletovich, 856K) reports, "A growing chorus of scientists is raising the alarm over reports of Trump administration budgets cuts that would affect climate change research and hurricane forecasting." Thirty-two Florida scientists wrote to the President on Monday expressing concerns about proposed cuts to the NOAA budget.

WHITE HOUSE DEFENDS DISMISSALS OF US ATTORNEYS AS STANDARD PRACTICE. The Trump Administration defended the dismissal of 46 US attorneys on Monday as standard practice. The Washington Times (3/13, Boyer, 272K) reports that press secretary Sean Spicer said, "This is a standard operating procedure for a new administration around this time. This is a standard action that takes place in most administrations." Kellyanne Conway, appearing on Fox News' Fox & Friends (3/13, 831K), said, "This is just not a news story. It is a lot of noise and not much news, because it is very uniform and very common for presidents to ask for the resignations of political appointees like ambassadors and like US attorneys."

USA Today (3/13, 5.28M) contributor Glenn Harlan Reynolds writes, "There's been a lot of faux outrage about this decision of Trump's, but it's all bogus. ... United States attorneys serve at the pleasure of the president. The prosecution of crimes, including the decision of which crimes to prosecute and which crimes not to prosecute, is at the discretion of the executive branch." Reynolds says the refusal of Preet Bharara to resign as US attorney for the Southern District of New York "was childish, an effort to score anti-Trump points with Democrats."

However, the New York Times (3/13, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) praises Bharara in an editorial, writing that New Yorkers, "who have had a front-row seat to his work over the last seven years, know him for his efforts to drain one of the swampiest states in the country of its rampant public corruption." The Times calls Bharara "an equal-opportunity prosecutor" who took on those close to leading Democrats in the state.

Possible Bharara Successor Has Represented Ailes. The New York Times (3/13, Dwyer, Rashbaum, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that whomever President Trump "nominates to replace Mr. Bharara will inherit an investigation of Fox News. A federal grand jury sitting in Manhattan is expected to soon hear testimony from at least two witnesses to testify in coming days about business practices at Fox News" under Roger Ailes. One candidate mentioned as a possible Bharara successor is Marc Mukasey, who has represented Ailes in the past.

Two US Attorneys Granted Reprieves In Order To Complete 20 Years Of Service. Politico (3/13, Gerstein, 2.46M) reports that US Attorney for Connecticut Deirdre Daly and US Attorney for the Northern District of New York Richard Hartunian "have won short-term reprieves," in both cases so that they may complete 20 years of Justice Department service later this year.

SPICER: TRUMP WOULD LIKE REPORTERS' HELP IN CHOOSING CHARITY FOR HIS SALARY. USA Today (3/13, Estepa, 5.28M) reports, "White House press secretary Sean Spicer said Monday that President Trump plans to donate his salary at the end of the year – and that Trump would like reporters to help him decide where to send that check to." Spicer told reporters, "He kindly asked that you all help determine where that goes." The comment "drew laughters from reporters." Spicer continued, "In all seriousness, I think his view is that he made a pledge to the American people. He wants to donate it to charity, and he'd love your help to determine where it should go." Politico (3/13, Conway, 2.46M) says in a brief item that reporters "have been aggressive in covering the administration and topics like the conflicts of interest presented by Trump's business empire." The Washington Times (3/13, Boyer, 272K) also has a brief report.

The narrator says in part, "Four Supreme Court justices believe you have the right to defend yourselves with a gun. Four do not. Senate Judiciary Committee Examining Gorsuch's Year At DOJ. USA Today (3/9, Wolf, 5.28M) reports that though Gorsuch has spent much of his career in Colorado, the year he spent "as a high-ranking Justice Department official may be emerging as a point of contention in his bid for Senate confirmation." The Senate Judiciary Committee last week "received more than 144,000 pages of documents from Gorsuch's 13-month tenure at the Justice Department in 2005-06. At the time, the agency was wrestling with issues such as how to treat terror suspects and justify warrantless wiretaps."

LABOR DEPARTMENT NO LONGER PUBLICIZING FINES AGAINST COMPANIES. The New York Times (3/13, Meier, Ivory, Subscription Publication, 13.9M) reports that though the Labor Department says it is "moving forward against companies accused of violating workplace safety rules," DOL "has stopped publicizing fines against companies. As of Monday, seven weeks after the inauguration of President Trump, the department had yet to post a single news release about an enforcement fine." The Times calls the shift "a sharp break with the past." The Obama Administration "saw the announcements – essentially publicly shaming companies – as a major tool in its workplace safety enforcement."

IN OCTOBER, RYAN TOLD HOUSE REPUBLICANS HE WOULD NEVER DEFEND TRUMP. Breitbart (3/13, Boyle, 2.02M) cites an Oct. 10, 2016 conference call with House Republicans in which Ryan said "he was abandoning then-GOP presidential nominee Donald Trump forever and would never defend him again." In audio of the call, which occurred soon after the Access Hollywood tape of Trump was leaked, Ryan says, "I am not going to defend Donald Trump—not now, not in the future." Brietbart adds that Ryan has now "pushed" Trump "to believe his healthcare legislation...would repeal and replace Obamacare when it does not repeal Obamacare." Breitbart cites conversations "with no fewer than 15 other White House aides, including many on the press team," and says "it is clear that the President and the senior Trump administration team are not happy with this bill's lack of conservative support" after they "were assured by Ryan that conservatives would, in fact, be on board with it in the beginning."
